Proposal To Hire Fire Study Firm To Board Monday

A proposal to hire a professional consulting firm to study existing fire protection services and future needs in Hoffman Estates will be presented to the village board Monday.

The consultants will be asked to examine the feasibility of operating the Hoffman Estates Fire Protection District as a village department.

Village Trustee Dyrle Rathman, who heads a joint committee of village and fire district trustees, said if the village board approves the proposal, he will call for a committee meeting to determine if the fire district wishes to participate financially in the study.

A bid of $6,500 for a four phase examination of the situation has been received from National Loss Control Service Corp. of Long Grove.

RATHMAN SAID he has not questioned the trustees of the fire district yet, because he thought it would be appropriate to get approval from the village board first.

"If the village board is negative toward the proposal, then we will not pursue it any further," Rathman said.

Rathman said he personally is in favor of hiring the consultant to conduct the study. But he added it has not been determined if the village can afford it.

"The question of money might be a determining factor," Rathman said, adding that Village Mgr. George Longmeyer is currently reviewing all village funds to determine if the village can afford the expenditure.

The joint committee, which was formed last winter, has not met for several months. Trustees for both the village and the fire district met several times to discuss various aspects of operation.

VILLAGE TRUSTEES decided to investigate hiring a professional consultant to examine the situation.

The consultants' proposal calls for a four-month study to examine existing services and community development, evaluate alternative fire protection systems and list steps for implementing the new systems.

The fourth phase of the study, which is not included in the initial cost estimate, would be in cooperation with water system consultants concerning fire protection.

Village officials have been reviewing the consultant's proposal for several weeks.

CHEERS WENT UP for both Republican Richard Nixon and Democrat George McGovern at Schaumburg High School yesterday when students held a rally in preparation for a straw vote President Nixon won at Schaumburg with 68 per cent of the vote.

SHS Students Vote For The President

Richard Nixon Was The One

by WANDALYN RICE

Nixon was the one for students at Schaumburg High School yesterday, but by a smaller margin than projected by Republican leaders in Schaumburg Township.

Students voted in a straw poll during their lunch hours at the school. Out of 741 votes cast, 468, or 63 per cent, were for President Richard Nixon.

Sen. George McGovern received 133 votes for 25 per cent of the total.

"We have been trying to tell the Democratic kids that if they turned that kind of percentage in to McGovern headquarters from Schaumburg Township they'd be heroes," Carl Flaks, chairman of the school's social science department, said.

"I talked to someone who's very tied in to Republican circles and he said on the basis of their canvassing they expect Nixon to get 90 per cent of the vote in Schaumburg," he added.

THE STRAW VOTE followed a spirited morning rally at the school which featured speeches for both presidential candidates and marching and chanting by supporters.

Students arrived at the rally armed with printed posters and home-made signs praising both candidates. Teams of cheerleaders lined up on both sides and band members played "Happy Days are Here Again" and "Battle Hymn of the Republic."

Keith Yarak, speaking for McGovern, said, "Mr. Nixon does not want peace in Vietnam. He wants a piece of Vietnam." To cheers of supporters, Yarak attacked the President's record on inflation and unemployment.

Following a noisy demonstration, Clare Broderick and James Kline spoke for the President, attacking McGovern for "constantly changing his mind," and defending Nixon's record.

"HE HAS gotten all but a small percentage of our men out of Vietnam," Kline said. "He has provided leadership."

By that time, however, few in the hall were listening to the speeches as supporters for both sides chanted and cheered, "We want George," the McGovern supporters cried, to be quickly answered by chants of "We want Nixon."

Groups of teachers held up signs, "Teachers for McGovern — The only choice for Educators," but they didn't seem to have much luck changing the Republican's minds.

As he convened the rally student body President Frank Halatek said, "I think you know my opinion about politics — it's really a lot of bunk."

However, few of his classmates seemed to agree.

Preparations For Election On Schedule

Preparations for Tuesday's election are going smoothly, according to Mrs. Kathleen Wojcik, Schaumburg Township clerk.

As a reminder to voters, she repeated the polling place changes in four township precincts. For precinct 20, the polling place will be John Muir School, 1973 N. Kensington Rd., Hoffman Estates. Precincts 29 and 30 polling places will be Jane Addams Junior High, 700 Spring-insguth Rd., Schaumburg. Precinct 19, the polling place will be Longmeadow Activities Center, 7173 Longmeadow Ln., Hanover Park.

VOTING MACHINES will be delivered Friday to the various polling places, Mrs. Wojcik said. County Clerk Edward J. Barrett has designated the judges who will collect the election supplies, also to be delivered on Friday, she said.

As she outlined the procedure, Tuesday morning at 5 a.m. the election judges will go to the polling places and unlock the voting machines.

"You can't touch the machines before Tuesday," Mrs. Wojcik said. "They're locked, and the judge who gets the election kits also gets the keys to the machines."

The only possible hitch, she said, would involve the adequacy of supplies in the large precincts, 20 and 34. The judges will receive a check list with the election kits, which will enable them to make sure supplies are sufficient.

In Precincts 20 and 34, there may not be enough affidavit forms, which some voters must sign, swearing they are registered. "Voters might be listed on the polling sheets, but not in the election binders yet," Mrs. Wojcik said. If they are not in the binders, they might be challenged and asked to sign affidavits.

MRS. WOJCIK said there are about 2,000 voters registered in Precinct 20 and about 1,500 registered in Precinct 34.

The Republicans have plenty of regular and retention judges, Mrs. Wojcik said.

John Kelley, candidate for state representative from the Third District, said the Democrats may need more judges. "There often are cancellations at the last minute," he said.

As Kelley explained, a normal Schaumburg Township precinct has five regular judges, 3 Republicans and 2 Democrats. In addition, there is one Republican retention judge, and one Democratic retention judge.

Retention judges are responsible for supervising the paper ballots which ask voters to vote yes or no on retaining various judicial offices, Kelley said.

Regular judges are responsible for the voting machine ballots, he said.

In larger precincts, additional judges are needed, Kelley said. Precinct 20 have 21 judges, 15 regular judges and 6 retention judges, he said.

OF THE 15 regulars, 9 will be Republican, and 6 will be Democratic judges.

The problem with getting enough judges stems from the rule that at least one judge from each party must live in the precinct, Kelley said. It's not too difficult to get judges who can go anywhere in the township, he added.

Democrats interested in being an election judge may contact John Morrissey, the Democratic committeeman, at 882-8445.

Higgins Rd. Repaving Job Will Take About A Week

Repaving operations along a section of Higgins Road east of Roselle Road will take about a week to complete, according to a spokesman for the Illinois Highway Department.

About 500 feet of pavement in the east-bound lanes is being removed and replaced because core tests showed the pavement to be deficient.

The tests showed the pavement was not the required 10-inch thickness, said the spokesman. The repaving project will not cost taxpayers anything, because the correction of deficiencies was covered by the contract awarded by the state to the Rock Road Construction Co., the prime contractor in the project.

The spokesman explained that the slip form paving technique used on the project occasionally produces some deficient pavement.

The technique allows road crews to lay new pavement much faster than normal because the system is fully automated, he added.

Other repairs along the recently widened Higgins Road have been due to faulty joints in the roadway, the spokesman explained.

This Morning In Brief

The Nation

President Nixon's reelection committee agreed in court to release some of the names of contributors to the secret $10 million campaign fund which allegedly helped finance the Watergate bugging episode. The Republicans agreed just as trial was about to begin in a suit filed by Common Cause, the "citizens' lobby."

A Criminal Court Judge in Miami convicted ex-CIA agent Bernard L. Barker of fraudulently notarizing a $25,000 check donated to President Nixon's reelection campaign.

President Nixon said his administration is making the cities livable again by pouring in more money and giving city hall a greater voice in how it should be spent.

The World

North Vietnam and the Viet Cong rejected conditions for peace laid down by South Vietnamese president Nguyen Van Thieu. They charged Thieu wanted the war to go on and called the United States to dismiss him. Hanoi also accused the Nixon administration of a "deceitful attitude" in failing to sign a peace agreement.

Roman Catholic leaders in Belfast called for tighter security around Catholic neighborhoods by British soldiers in bitter reaction to the bombing in Belfast that killed two small girls playing around a Halloween bonfire. They were killed when a bomb exploded in a car outside a bar.

Western diplomatic sources in Paris said the United States is pressuring Hanoi to pull its 14 army divisions out of South Vietnam.

The State

There is no evidence of malfunctioning brakes on the Illinois Central Gulf commuter train which was rammed, killing 44 persons, the chairman of the National Transportation Safety Board said, John H. Reed also said investigators were looking for James A. Watts, 51, engineer of the lead train in Monday's crash. Watts' train had overshot the 27th Street station and was backing up when the crash occurred.

Republicans on a special legislative subcommittee have proposed a statewide board of elections as part of a 10-point reform program to eliminate vote fraud.

Bernard Carey, Republican candidate for Cook County state's attorney, has filed suit in circuit court to force State's Atty. Edward V. Hanrahan to reveal how he spent more than $300,000 in contingency funds since taking office.

The War

A giant U.S. Army helicopter crashed in the Mekong Delta, killing 27 persons, including at least nine Americans, the U.S. Command said. Military sources said most of the remaining victims were believed to be Americans. Meanwhile, President Nguyen Van Thieu made a series of public appearances calling the proposed Vietnam cease-fire "a peace solution that offers South Vietnam on a plate to the Communists."

The Market

The stock market scored a large gain in active trading. There was no news to spur the market on, but one broker said there were "just a lot of good signs." The Dow Jones Average gained 13.02 to 968.54. The overall list on the New York Stock Exchange showed advances leading declines, 1,048 to 431. Volume was 21,360,000 up from 15,450,000. # Taxing Rates In Area Far From Easy To Figure

by NANCY COWGER

All residents of the Village of Schaumburg do not pay property taxes at the same rate. Neither do those of Hoffman Estates or unincorporated areas.

The tax map of Schaumburg Township looks like a giant jigsaw puzzle, with the color of each piece signifying the total tax rate paid by residents within its bounds. The same color pieces might be scattered in many sections of the puzzle, but there are 34 different colors, for 34 different total tax rates.

Naturally, land owners in unincorporated Schaumburg Township pay a different tax rate than those in villages. But it is not necessarily the village lines that make the difference. The Village of Schaumburg does not levy a property tax, but its residents pay a tax anyway, in some cases to 12 other governmental units, and in other locations to 13 units. And the puzzle pieces in the Village of Schaumburg are seven different colors.

THE DIFFERENCES stem from special district boundaries — those which separate districts for junior colleges, parks, fire service, high schools, or elementary schools. Or they may result from a combination of these varying boundaries, none of which coincide with village lines, or the limits of any other districts. They lace through the township along their own paths, creating divisions in the tax structure.

In Hoffman Estates, four different total tax rates are applied to property owners, varying from a maximum of 8.778-cents per $100 of assessed property value to a minimum of 8.236-cents.

Seven different rates are levied in the Village of Schaumburg, ranging from 7.650-cents to 7.216-cents. And the village does not even levy a property tax of its own.

Those who live in unincorporated Schaumburg Township encompass 11 different taxing groups. The maximum for them is 8.064-cents, while the minimum is 7.208-cents.

THEN THERE are residents of other municipalities, communities whose city or village limits extend into Schaumburg Township although their main jurisdictional area is in another township and may even be in another county. These are the villages of Roselle, Streamwood, Elk Grove and Hanover Park, and the City of Rolling Meadows.

Even within these small Schaumburg Township pieces of villages or cities, there is no uniform rate applied. Roselle residents who also live in the township pay their taxes at one of three different rates. Hanover Park and Elk Grove villages each have two groups paying taxes at unique rates. Only the City of Rolling Meadows and Village of Streamwood contribute just one group each to the tax rate puzzle.

For these nine incorporated taxpaying divisions, the rates vary from 8.548-cents to 8.092-cents.

Municipalities really have little control over total tax rates levied on homeowners.

THAT SCHAUMBURG Village does not levy a property tax has no bearing on the fact that they pay land taxes.

By way of a sample, everybody in the Village of Schaumburg pays property taxes to the Cook County Hospital Governing Commission, Cook County Forest Preserve District, Suburban Tuberculosis Sanitarium, Schaumburg Township, Township Road and Bridge Fund, Township General Assistance Fund, Metropolitan Sanitary District of Greater Chicago and Northwest Mosquito Abatement District.

Six of the seven groupings also pay taxes to High School Dist. 211 and Schaumburg Township School Dist. 54, while the seventh pays to Unit Dist. 46 (Elgin) instead. Four pay to Harper Junior College, while three pay for Elgin Community College.

THREE OF THE seven Schaumburg Village groups pay to the Hoffman Estates Park District, three to the Schaumburg Park District, and one pays no park district tax at all. Six are still paying off bonds issued by Hoffman Estates Fire Protection District between 1959 and 1967, when the village started a municipal fire department, and one is not paying for fire protection, although it receives it, as do all, from the village.

In Hoffman Estates the situation is similar, although the village levies a property tax. Residents may pay to Dist. 211, or to High School Dist. 224; to either Hoffman Estates or Schaumburg park districts; to either Hoffman Estates or Palatine rural fire protection districts.

One resident pays Hoffman Estates village taxes, Schaumburg park taxes, Palatine fire and high school taxes.

Is it any wonder a Hoffman Estates resident recently told the village board he had lived in the community two years, all the time believing he resided in the Village of Palatine?

High Court Refuses To Hear Appeal

The Illinois Supreme Court refused to hear the appeal by the League of Women Voters from three Northwest suburban townships yesterday, contending there wasn't enough time remaining for a decision before Tuesday's election.

A last-ditch effort to get a referendum abolishing township government on Tuesday's ballot will be made tomorrow morning in the Illinois Appellate Court.

Attorneys for the LWV and Maine, Niles and Palatine townships were notified by the Supreme Court order early yesterday. The court's statement read:

"It is hereby ordered that, as there is not adequate time to permit a thorough examination by this court of the many and complex issues presented in this cause prior to Nov. 7, 1972, the motion be and is hereby denied."

The appeal to the state high court came last week after a circuit court judge dismissed the case on a township motion. The winning argument in that hearing claimed that the state deadline for publication of an election notice had already passed, and holding the election would consequently be illegal.

COURT ACTION started in late September, after Palatine Township auditors refused to allow the referendum because no government body was legally designated to take over township functions if it was defeated at the polls.

LWV Atty. Richard J. Troy will enter an emergency relief appeal before three Appellate Court judges tomorrow.

That hearing will supposedly get to the heart of the matter, Troy said, and he is hoping for some immediate action.

"If they don't do it Friday, everybody is kidding everybody else," Troy claimed.

Voter petitions requesting the referendum were submitted to officials in the three townships in August. The LWV lawsuit claims that those officials are denying the rights of the voters by keeping the referendum off the ballot.

Abolishing township governments is a statewide LWV cause. Members of the organization say that township rule is costly and inefficient, since other government bodies are duplicating some of their services.

PETITION DRIVES challenging the area townships were the first in Illinois since 1970 constitutional revisions allowed voters in each township to decide if they wanted to keep their township government.

At a recent Township Officials of Illinois convention, Executive Director Troy A. Kost told the group that township government is "government of the people, functioning close to home, whereas big government is not only remote and aloof, but always has been increasingly top-heavy, bureaucratic and expensive. It is costing the people much more money than it is worth."

Committee Seeks To Form Youth Service Agency Here

A steering committee was formed Tuesday at a meeting of Northwest suburban youth workers to develop specific proposals for forming a central service agency tentatively titled the Youth Service Forum.

Several functions for a central agency were discussed at the meeting. These included:

- Improving communications among agencies in the Northwest suburbs on new and existing programs.
- Establishing an effective referral system among agencies.
- Developing inter-agency programs to provide unmet service needs.
- Sponsoring speakers, seminars, panel discussions, etc. for all community youth agencies.

—Disseminating new information on youth services to the community agencies.

—Developing an evaluation system for existing services.

Tentative plans call for the Youth Service Forum to be composed of members from various youth agencies in the area. A chairman and a secretary would be appointed for the forum.

The next meeting of the youth workers was scheduled for 12:30 p.m. Nov. 14, at Alexian Brothers Medical Center.

First Graders Build Mobiles

'Learning By Doing' Is Best For A 'Scientist'

by JERRY THOMAS

"Science? I don't know. Am I doing science? This is just a mobile I made," said Craig Taylor.

Craig and his classmates, a first grader in Diane Simone's class at Dooley Elementary School, Schaumburg, talked about a recent class project, mobile construction and balancing.

Although the youngsters were not aware of it, the balancing unit they just completed is a part of fourth and fifth grade science curriculum.

Craig explained that balancing the mobile he made was tricky. "But if you just look at the pieces and figure out which ones are heavier you can tell they need less of the balancing stick," said Craig.

"You just have to do it and pretty soon you find how it works best," said the youngster.

THIS ATTITUDE aptly describes Miss Simone's first grade science instruction approach.

"Doing oriented," is the teacher's description of her students. She believes that self discovery and doing an experiment instead of being told how it works better teaches a student.

Miss Simone said science was a favorite subject for her and said she decided to see how her students would react to a science unit.

Since her first graders cannot read or write well yet, her approach, doing instead of reading or talking, works best.

Jennifer Hedrick's farm animal mobile had horses and small animals sharing a balance beam. "It's not just like in a house, where small animals need less room than big ones. The smaller pieces on my mobile need more balance stick," she said.

PEGGY DEBIAS and Jennifer Sheehan had a little trouble tying knots, so a classmate helped them.

"I just have to get morganized (sic) and then I will be alright," said Donna Griffin, combining two words as she started making a new mobile. Her first had disappeared she said when she was home for several days. "I know how now so I can do it real fast," said Donna.

Miss Simone said the science unit includes art work and challenges other skills. "Right now we don't talk much about balancing, but the actual experience is exciting and is giving the kids the joy of self discovery," she said.

Now that the class has mastered mobile making and balancing, it will move on to a balance unit using scales and units of measure, said the teacher.

Then comes an animal unit. Miss Simone plans to introduce small animal specimens to the children. "Instead of my telling them or reading about the fur on a little animal or outer crust shell of a crayfish, they will see and feel these things," she said.

"It's exciting for them and for me too. First graders are fun to teach," she added.

"CHILDREN THIS age are very adept at discovery, and should be encouraged to exercise this curiosity," said Miss Simone.

"Usually we wait until students can verbalize or write better before we go into advanced science projects. My class is doing as well as older students would be. We just do it instead of talking about it," she added.

Rep. Regner Supports Property Tax Freeze

Support for Gov. Richard Ogilvie's call for a special legislative session on tax relief has been announced by State Rep. David Regner R-Mount Prospect.

Regner said he will "strongly back" the proposal to freeze local property taxes at present levels and allow rebates of 10 per cent or more by local governments. The program is possible through federal revenue sharing, which will return an estimated $300 million each year to Illinois governments, he said.

Regner is running for state senator from the 3rd District.

Rev. Quentin Goodrich And Community Service

The Maturing Of An Organization

by FRED GACA

The Rev. Quentin Goodrich came to Elk Grove Village's Community Service when the agency was leaving its infancy. He is leaving now as the agency is coming into maturity.

The four years Goodrich has been a member of the Community Service Board of Directors have included "an awful lot of crises, things that have to happen to a blossoming organization."

Rev. Goodrich was appointed to the board of directors of Community Service in October, 1968. From June, 1969, to May, 1970, he was secretary of the board. He was then elected chairman of the board.

LAST MONTH Rev. Goodrich submitted his resignation as chairman and member of the board because he is leaving his job as director of planning for the Chicago Lutheran Welfare Service Agency to become executive director of the Lutheran Welfare Agency in Tacoma, Wash. Marilyn Quinn, a five-year member of the board, was elected to finish Goodrich's unexpired term as chairman. She will serve until April.

Community Service provides mental health care and counseling service to residents. The village started the agency in 1966 under a three-year pilot program, funded by the village, YMCA and Hull House in Chicago.

Rev. Goodrich became a member of the Community Service Board near the end of the pilot program.

When the pilot program ended in mid-1969, the board wanted to make Community Service an independent organization, said Rev. Goodrich.

The board wanted control over the hiring of personnel and turned to the village as the chief source of funds.

ONE OF THE first acts by the board, after the village assumed principal funding of Community Service, was the hiring of a new executive director, Tom Smith.

"Tom Smith was an unfortunate choice," said Rev. Goodrich. "He immediately got himself into hot water and was seldom out of hot water."

"Basically, Tom was an idea man, but a poor implementer. He couldn't decide what was really practical," said Rev. Goodrich.

"Tom was also insensitive as executive director. Part of an executive director's role is to act as a buffer between the establishment which supplies Community Service's funding and the clients, many of whom are youths who are anti-establishment," according to Rev. Goodrich.

The problems with Smith finally led to a confrontation between Community Service and the village trustees.

"I got a phone call one night at 11 o'clock from the trustees," said Rev. Goodrich. "They wanted me to come down to the village municipal building and talk about Community Service."

According to Rev. Goodrich, Village Mgr. Charles Willis had stopped by at the Community Service office at the Park N Shop Center and found the place a shambles. He reported the situation to the village board.

"The trustees were livid," said Rev. Goodrich. In the proceedings that followed, ed, the trustees finally agreed to continue funding Community Service's operations, but said the office would have to be cleaned up and subject to regular inspection.

Later, Smith resigned as executive director, and Jordan Rosen, the present executive director, was hired.

In the 1½ years that Rosen has been executive director, "We have grown to about a dozen staff members," said Rev. Goodrich. "Things have solidified. The community has made a commitment to keep it (Community Service) going. The board has had to develop policies and take positions."

"IT WAS A REAL test we had to go through as an organization. We had to deal with reality, the community would not fund a wild-eyed idea."

With Community Service's development period behind the organization, the agency is now moving into new areas of responsibility.

A recent grant from the state department of mental health will enable Community Service to expand its operations and supply mental health care to all of Elk Grove and Schaumburg townships.

"There is a basic change in organization from a municipal to a two township planning area," said Rev. Goodrich.

The two major problems Community Service now faces, according to Rev. Goodrich, are representation on the board of directors and securing sources of funding.

ALL BOARD MEMBERS are now appointed by Elk Grove Village trustees. But with the expansion of service, representation from other areas must be obtained.

Members of Schaumburg Township mental health board are now on the counseling committee of Community Service. This committee serves as an advisory group to the board of directors.

Funding for Community Service, until the state authorized a $52,000 grant, was primarily through the village. A small portion of the funds was obtained from the United Fund through Lutheran Services.

The board is now working on a plan to obtain and use funding from the state, Schaumburg Township mental health board are now on the counseling committee of Community Service. This committee serves as an advisory group to the board of directors.

Funding for Community Service, until the state authorized the $52,000 grant, was primarily through the village. A small portion of the funds was obtained from the United Fund through Lutheran Services.

The board is now working on a plan to obtain and use funding from the state, Schaumburg, and other charities in addition to the funding received from Elk Grove Village.

"The mental health problems are not overwhelming at this point. It is a manageable problem. We are not hard pressed to meet the need," said Rev. Goodrich.

As more people become aware of and are eligible for Community Service help, the number of clients should "mushroom rather rapidly," said Rev. Goodrich.

"If we can do a good job on mental health I would feel very satisfied."

Collecting Coins

by Mort Reed

Readers in the Louisiana area, especially those around New Orleans, will be happy to know someone has finally come up with a copy of the original Confederate half-dollar reverse described in an earlier column. Collectors of colonial and Civil War memorabilia have tried for years to obtain reasonable reproductions of this reverse but it has been a long time in coming.

After the Louisiana troops of the Confederacy captured the United States Mint at New Orleans, the cabinet proceeded to plan various issues and denominations to comprise an entirely new system of currency. Each piece was to bear the reverse device shown on the left with an appropriate obverse to be designed at a later date.

Only four specimens were struck with this device, using the regular seated Liberty design as it appeared on the United States half-dollar. These pieces today are valued at from $40,000 to $50,000 each. But as was pointed out in a previous writing, the four originals were duly distributed to VIPs in the Confederacy and it is highly improbable they will ever be available to collectors at any price.

THE REVERSE of this particular coin, as illustrated, is a reproduction of the Great Seal of the Confederacy designed in England by a Mr. Harvey and engraved in silver by a noted artisan of the day, Joseph S. Wyon, a member of the Royal Academy.

The mounted horseman is George Washington, "the Noblest Cavalier of the South," taken from the famous statue of Washington mounted on his charger as it stands today on Capitol Square in Richmond. The surrounding wreath is composed of the six principal agricultural products of the Confederacy: cotton, tobacco, sugar cane, wheat, corn and rice.

The motto "Deo Vindice" is "God Protecting." The date "February 22, 1862," was the day Jefferson Davis was inaugurated as the first president of the Confederate States of America.

Upon its completion, the Great Seal was placed in the personal trust of a Navy Lieutenant Chapman for safe delivery to the Capitol of the C.S.A. at Richmond. Although there are no records showing the seal was ever used, it is reverently displayed in the Confederate museum in that city.

WHILE NO coin or medal was ever officially struck using both of the symbols, the Great Seal made it possible to coin the half-dollar reverse without having to show the Seated Liberty design. Which, of course, would not be permissible under present regulations in the United States Code.

However, for display purposes, the collector could use an 1861 half-dollar with the obverse up, paired with the Confederate reproduction to demonstrate the whole coin.

Specimens are available in antiqued bronze, goldplate similar to that in color of regular United States gold coin, and sterling silver. To receive more detailed information on the Confederate half-dollar coin, readers may write Centre House of Lexington, Inc., Lexington, Ky. 40501.

The Doctor Says

Questions Surgery For 89-Year-Old

by LAWRENCE LAMB, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb — My father has an aortic aneurysm and has had it for about eight years. However, now it is getting bigger and our family doctor suggests an operation with a graft. He is 89 years old and I don't know whether the family should encourage the operation or not. I, being the son with power of attorney to handle all legal matters, seem to be left with the decision. Would you please comment on this for me? He is in pretty good health other than hypertension and also he is taking digitalis tablets four times a week.

Dear Reader — An aneurysm of the aorta is caused by a weakness in the wall of the aorta which allows it to balloon out like a weak spot does on an inner tube only usually in these cases the area involved is much larger than that you might see on the inner tube. The real danger of course is that the dilated part of the weakened wall or the aneurysm may blow out or rupture. When it starts getting larger, if it is going to be operated on, that is the time it should be done.

Many of these that involve replacing a section of the aorta in the abdomen can be done with a limited amount of risk. If the section to be replaced is in the chest, the operation is more difficult and carries a higher risk. The synthetic material that is used for a graft works very well and in fact in time a new lining grows inside of it just like the lining in the ordinary aorta.

It is not possible for me to tell you whether it is wise to operate or not because I don't know that much about the rest of the medical condition of your father. There is a point, however, when one has very little to gain by waiting. If the likelihood is that a rupture of the aneurysm is going to occur relatively soon and nothing is done, once it ruptures there is only one possible outcome. So, even when there is a reasonably high risk involved because of the age and health problems, it is still sometimes indicated.

THIS MUST be balanced against the probability of operative success. Sometimes in people your father's age the aorta has undergone so much change that it can't be operated upon successfully. The aorta may be so hard from calcification and associated change that it is very brittle. Such an aorta is sometimes called a "glass aorta" and it shatters on attempted incision and it is impossible to suture successfully.

I would suggest that you go along with your family doctor's suggestion, at least to the point of having your father referred to a large medical center where operations of this nature are done rather frequently. To be certain to get the best team effort, I would suggest that he be referred to a medical cardiologist, not directly to a surgeon.

The medical cardiologist will need to evaluate some of the problems I have mentioned in judging whether your father is a candidate for surgery, but I must urge you to proceed as rapidly as possible to obtain a decision because of your comment about the aneurysm getting larger.

Pucinski Says He Feels Like A 'Lost American'

by BARRY SIGALE

There is a common tactic of many politicians who seem destined to go down to defeat in November, when the polls show them at the very bottom and their opponents refuse to make mistakes.

They continually beg for the chance to lock horns, to come face-to-face with their adversary, to show him for what he really is: two-faced, backed by undesirable, scheming, influence-peddling conglomerates and really not the man his campaign literature and public pronouncements make him out to be.

They constantly carp at their supposedly untouchable foe, twisting questions about the issues until they have begun to hammer away at the man they're battling. Again and again they try to dent his armor, praying their opponent will crack, will respond to the attacks and make a move that will prove fatal.

It is just such a move that Roman Pucinski has been praying for.

DEMOCRATIC Congressman Pucinski of Chicago's 11th Dist. has taken the underdog's approach in his effort to unseat incumbent Republican Sen. Charles Percy.

He has repeatedly chided Percy to debate him, has asked that he be able to interrogate Percy about who is financing his campaign and for what reasons and has challenged Percy to explain and clarify his positions on major issues which, Pucinski said, Percy lies about.

Time and again Pucinski assails his opponent, hoping to ruffle him. He calls Percy ineffective, a phony and just plain no good.

Political analysts rate Percy's reelection bid a virtual "lock" and predict the senator may even outshine President Nixon in Illinois on election day. But Pucinski refuses to believe or accept any of it.

ALL THIS IS the common theme on a typical day on the campaign with him.

"In 1948 I was the straw-poll editor of the Chicago Sun-Times," Pucinski said. "They were giving 500 to one odds that Truman, Stevenson and Douglas wouldn't win. But it was just 13 days before the election when something happened, there was a complete turn around in the polls, the returns changed. Truman, Stevenson and Douglas all won. We're going to repeat 1948 again."

Pucinski had the opportunity to talk about his campaign for nearly three hours on a morning trip that took him from his house on Chicago's northwest side to Rockford radio station WROK to a taping downtown at WLS. Leaving at 7 a.m. in a station wagon piloted by an Illinois State Trooper, Pucinski used most of those hours lashing out at his opponent.

"I am running against a guy with the biggest war chest (campaign funds) in the country. He is supported by the wheat brokers who made a killing on the U.S.-U.S.S.R. wheat deal, and ITT, which benefited from his favors in the past. I can go right on down the list. He's getting contributions from everyone he protected in the Senate. Chuck Percy is financed by the eastern establishment. I'm not running against Charles Percy. I'm running against the eastern establishment and all their millions."

PUCINSKI PAUSED long enough to read in the morning paper that Cook County State's Atty. Edward Hanrahan had been acquitted on charges of conspiracy stemming from the police raid on a Black Panthers apartment in Chicago.

"I sure am pleased about Hanrahan," he said. "It's my own feeling it will certainly be a big boost to our candidacy. It should help the rest of the ticket. It should solidify the ticket. Hanrahan would have won anyway but this virtually assures his election. This shores up his prospects. It helps all of us."

Pucinski, who says he has no personal animosity towards Percy "when we meet, we meet as gentlemen," then turned his attention back to the man he is running against, focusing his eyes forward on the concrete of the Northwest Tollway.

"Here's a man who is against every interest of the working man. Here's a man whose only legislative contribution in six years is the nation's number one scandal, the Percy amendment to the housing act of 1968, which was supposed to provide housing for the poor. No less than 10 grand juries are now investigating graft and corruption in the administration of that amendment."

"THIS IS THE only bill he's ever gotten through since he's been in the Senate. And it was named after him. He got millions of dollars of free publicity from it. He even transferred to the banking committee to get the amendment through. But to give you an example of what a colossal flop this has been, HUD has had to foreclose on 4,800 homes in Detroit alone. Seventeen hundred homes have had to be demolished in the last four years."

"Illinois is fourth from the top in what we give in taxes to the federal government. Yet we're fourth from the bottom in what we get back. Chucks (as he sometimes refers to Percy) hasn't got a friend in Washington and as a result of being his own man, as he says it, he has shortchanged the people of this state. He has cost taxpayers millions upon millions of dollars."

Pucinski, the former reporter, complained that Percy's faults are being covered up by the news media and that the senator's image is all that got him to Washington in the first place.

"Chuck Percy is a political faker of the highest order. He builds up his record by taking credit for having a key role on a bill that he merely speaks on.

TRAILING BADLY in the polls, U.S. Rep. Roman Pucinski, D-11th, has stepped up his verbal attacks against incumbent Republican Sen. Charles Percy as Nov. 7 approaches. "Chuck Percy is a political faker. He's spent six years building up his image ... and the media continues to picture him as the All-American boy."

This is the age of imagery. He's spent six years building up his image. And the media continues to picture him as the All-American Boy.

"JUST LOOK at WBBM now. They've had a quote from Sen. Percy every day for the last six months. I'm going to ask the Columbia Journalism Review (a professional publication) to review the coverage by the media and the press of the Percy-Pucinski race. No man has ever been more carefully shielded than Percy. He has been issuing self-serving statements and doesn't get challenged on them. There's no question the press worships every pronouncement of Sen. Percy."

"An example of this is Percy's outrageous split on revenue sharing. If his vote prevailed, it (the proposed bill) wouldn't have gone to conference. Then he voted for it. He gets both sides thinking he voted with them. Yet the press has continued to glorify him as an effective senator."

"The thing that outrages me is that every newspaperman in Washington who has worked with Percy will tell you privately that Percy is a faker, an opportunist and yet all the newspapers endorse him. Even Paddock Publications will endorse the number one faker of Washington."

Pucinski rambled about other Percy drawbacks, about Percy's election to the Senate against Paul Douglas, his conflict with President Nixon and some more raps for the press.

"CHUCK PERCY would use every device at his command to win. In his book, Douglas tells about how Percy cut him up because of his age. But these things are covered up. Why? Because he's a millionaire. Because he intimidates reporters. My coverage? You wouldn't know there was a Senatorial campaign in Illinois."

"One of the most important things is Percy's colossal failure in his battles with the President. You've got to be a team player to get things done. Not by being ambitious. But if Chuck Percy wasn't grandstanding in the Senate we would have a Consumer Protection Agency. Nixon said he would support the House bill."

"Percy says he is a man of courage, innovation and efficiency. But Chuck Percy couldn't fight his way out of a paper bag. My image is that I call the shots. Chuck Percy says he's his own man. Well, I'm the people's man. Can Percy be of any help to Illinois? The answer is no. If the people of Illinois want to give up a Senate seat to an image I can't do anything about it."

"A Republican senator said to me, 'You've got to beat this guy.' I think Bell and Howell (where Percy was an executive) pushed him into politics to get rid of him. But I've got news for you. I'm going to save a lot of people a lot of headaches in 1976. I'm going to beat Chuck Percy."

Pucinski considers himself a conservative but is not afraid to call himself a liberal, by his definition.

"IT'S NO SECRET that I'm a Jeffersonian conservative," he said. "But I'm a liberal, too. A liberal is one who has an open mind, who can approach an issue or problem and sufficiently discuss and carefully look at all options and make a valid judgment.

"By my being a conservative I have lost some of the black vote, the support of the IVI and liberals. But that's my own position. At Northern Illinois University I said I was against legalizing marijuana, knowing it wouldn't go over."

"But people know where I stand. Let me tell you about faking liberals. Percy epitomizes this. And I'm sick and tired of screaming black leaders who cry they are denied their civil rights when they deny other people their civil rights."

"These people are bigoted and prejudiced. They're more bigoted and prejudiced than anybody. With them they say it's a struggle for recognition. With others they say it's political expediency. I've had my fill of phony liberals. Win, lose or draw I want to be free to express my own judgment. The Democratic Party is a very big umbrella taking in all divergent factors. Men can disagree. I notice that the things Percy disagrees with have media-wide value."

AFTER STOPPING at a Rockford gas station for directions to WROK, the car wended its way down several side streets before finding the station. Pucinski was placed in a waiting room, where he read the Rockford Morning Star.

Noticing a story about a Democratic get-together in Springfield attended by comedian Tommy Smothers the night before, Pucinski said, "Tommy Smothers was needed there about as much as I need a pimple on my nose." The statement served as a good transition as the congressman got into a heavy discussion about Vietnam.

"What can McGovern give to the Communists that President Nixon hasn't already given them," he said, referring to the continued messages that peace in Vietnam was imminent and that George McGovern would suffer from a supposed weak stance toward the enemy.

"Nixon is the commies' best friend. Pravda endorsed President Nixon. Gromyko slept in the President's bed. Name me a president who has yielded to Communism as much as Nixon. Nothing has changed in Vietnam strategically or militarily from four years ago. Now I see why the administration waited. They waited until a more propitious time. Now we have lost our options. Now Thieu and Hanoi are making the decisions."

"Our problem stems from the fact that we're trying to find a political settlement in Vietnam. But there is none. I feel sorry for the average citizen who says, 'What does all this mean, what's going on?' I have said repeatedly we should stop the bombing, pull our troops out and get back our POWs."

"WE SHOULD say, 'God damn it, from now on it's between you two guys (North and South Vietnam).' The U.S. mission in Vietnam is relatively simple. Give them time to have the strength to defend themselves."

"We have no interest in a political settlement, that's up to them. We have no mandate to be in Vietnam until the last shot is fired. We have no mandate to restore their political system. We have no mandate to shore up their economies."

On the show, a caller told Pucinski that President Thieu would be in danger if he doesn't agree to a settlement. "Don't be too surprised if Thieu is found dead in another week. Just like Diem," Pucinski said.

Pucinski's afternoon schedule went smoothly. He was joined by two more reporters at WLS, and following his interview watched a replay of Percy's interview which was taped the day before. He grinned at almost everything Percy said.

THEN HE whisked himself to a luncheon meeting of the Northwest Suburban Manufacturers Association at the River Forest Country Club in Elmhurst. He updated his speech by telling the audience of the new developments in Vietnam and asking them to join him in a moment of prayer.

"Let us have a moment of silent prayer. Let's pray that the conflict will come to an end. Let's say, thank God."

Pucinski then explained why he was giving up his Congressional seat to run for senator and the stature and power that accompanies it. "I have in the palm of my hand a chance to do what most people have to wait their whole lives to do."

Aside, Pucinski said he is running for senate now because he wouldn't get the chance to run in 1976 with Sen. Adlai Stevenson probably running for the Democrats, and that in 1978 he would be old to run (he would be 55 years old).

"Why am I giving it up? The answer is not an easy one. I made the decision because I recognize there is a crisis in leadership. The senator of Illinois can take advantage of the enormous potential of this country, not to bury America but to be a part of its fantastic future."

"When a senator sneezes, all of Washington catches pneumonia. The senate is where the biggest decisions are made. This country is the youngest nation in the world among the major powers."

"WE AS A nation have made more progress in every sphere of human relations. I don't want this country's epitaph to say success destroyed America."

Pucinski said later, "the average citizen has given up. He has become beguiled, brainwashed and thoroughly disgusted. He has worked harder than ever and is enjoying it less. He never sees better than a third of his salary. He starts making money May 10, when his tax obligation has ended. The average citizen feels he hasn't got a chance."

And that's how Pucinski related his chances of defeating Percy. "I feel like a guy who's calling for help in a forest. And nobody's listening. I feel like the lost American. Is anybody listening? Does anybody care?"

LWV Tells 'Easy Way' To Split Your Ticket

The League of Women Voters, anticipating unprecedented ticket splitting in the election next Tuesday, has been conducting an information campaign in the hopes of preventing many voters from ruining their opportunity to vote for candidates of their choice.

The League points out that many persons do not realize they can split their tickets in the general election, or that they may do that without pulling individual levers in each context listed on the voting machine.

If a voter prefers most of the candidates in one party or the other, he may vote for them by pulling that party lever at the top of the machine. Votes in individual races may then be changed by pulling up the lever of the candidate you do not wish to vote for, and pulling down the lever of the candidate you prefer.

If you have pulled the party lever, the levers of candidates in the opposing party will not move until you have lifted the lever of their opponents.

U.S. REP. Roman C. Pucinski, ranking member of the House Committee on Education and Labor, is one of six candidates for the Senate singled out by the American Teacher, publication of the American Federation of Teachers, for support.

Citing him as an "unswerving advocate of more money for schools," the publication said his election was considered among the most important in the nation and charged Republican incumbent Charles H. Percy of operating "under a liberal facade" while "voting wrong on many liberal-labor issues."

STATE REP. Eugene F. Schlickman, R-Arlington Heights, will be among the last-minute campaigners this weekend as he tours Golf Mill Shopping Center all day Saturday.

The shopping center is in the new portion of Schlickman's 4th Legislative District. Last weekend, he toured Old Orchard, and earlier this week he visited Randhurst.

CLIFFORD LEVERENCE, Democrat, ic candidate for the state Senate in the 2nd Legislative District, will spend the weekend touring shopping centers throughout the district in his mobile office, accompanied by a Dixieland band. He will wind up the campaign Monday with another tour of rallies, beginning Monday morning at the Barrington railroad station.

VARIOUS VILLAGE chairmen for the reelection of Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie have devoted the last days of the campaign to shoring up their organizations for an election day drive to get out the vote.

The chairmen are Don Colby, Prospect Heights; Kenneth Retzke, Rolling Meadows; Mayor Herbert Behrel, Des Plaines; R. Gary Armstrong, Buffalo Grove; and Otis (Skip) Hedlund, Wheeling.

LAST MINUTE endorsements announced by candidates:

Neil C. Heibesen, Democratic candidate for the state legislature in the 2nd District, by state Rep. Jack Hill, D-Aurora, and his primary opponent, Edward F. Hartig of Elgin.

Richard A. Mugalian, Palatine Township Committeeman and Heibesen's Democratic running mate for the state House, by Sen. Adlai E. Stevenson III and the United Transportation Union. (Mugalian supporters have reported they were earlier misinformed about an endorsement by the Amalgamated Meatcutters and Butchers, and retracted that announcement.)

Edwin L. Frank, Democratic challenger to U.S. Rep. Philip M. Crane, by the Retail Clerks Union, AFL-CIO.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Dr. Edward E. David Jr., President Nixon's chief science adviser, told Congress last month that nuclear power offered our best future energy potential.

But that was before the November issue of Harper's magazine was published.

If Dr. David obtains a copy and reads an article titled "Love Among the Cabbages," it may cause him to revise his thinking.

Specifically, he may conclude that our best future energy source is green pea power.

According to Harper's, scientists the world over are becoming convinced "that plants have emotions similar to those of human beings, that they respond to affection, and that they can be adapted to the service of mankind."

AMONG THE EVIDENCE the magazine cited in support of this theory was an experiment conducted by Sir Jagadis Chunder Bose, the eminent Indian physiologist.

"With a galvanometer, Bose discovered that plants go through a death spasm similar to the death throes of animals," it said. "At the moment of death, intense excitation is produced in a plant together with a powerful discharge of electricity."

"Placing electrodes in the center and on the periphery of an ordinary green pea at the moment of its death, Bose registered a discharge of half a volt.

"If 500 pairs of half peas were wired in series, said Bose, the electric discharge at the moment of their killing would amount to 500 volts . . ."

At the time of the experiment, apparently, Bose's findings were not considered significant. But at that time, the world wasn't facing an energy crisis.

Now, with the supply of oil, coal and other natural fuels rapidly shrinking, we must develop new power sources.

Admittedly, pea power at its present stage is inefficient. Wiring 500 pairs of half peas together is entirely too tedious and cumbersome a generating process to make it commercially feasible.

IN TIME, HOWEVER, I'm sure plant geneticists could breed a high voltage pea that would be both economical and more convenient than nuclear power.

Producing electricity by splitting the atom, as David proposes, has several drawbacks. For one thing, the disposal of radioactive waste material is becoming a bit hairy.

But should we derive our electricity from splitting green peas, the disposal problem would be eliminated. For then the residue could be converted to split pea soup.

Congress' Free Mailing May Be In Jeopardy

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A federal judge in New Jersey has told Congress that it is breaking a law by allowing incumbent congressmen to use their free-mail privilege to help try to win reelection at taxpayer expense.

A move is expected in Congress to change the law unless the ruling is reversed by higher courts. In any case, accounts of the ruling from Newark indicated Judge Leonard Garth left a loophole wide enough to permit passage of truckloads of mail.

Garth held that members of Congress could not use their free mail privileges — for which the postal service is reimbursed — to send newsletters and surveys to constituents. The decision specifically affected only Rep. Henry Helstoski, D-N.J.

A heavy turnover is expected in Congress after the Nov. 7 elections but not because retiring incumbents feared they could not win. Increased benefits under the congressional pension formula was a greater incentive. And 10 House members decided to run for Senate seats and one for a governorship.

WITHOUT FORECASTING an election turnover that would give Republicans control, House GOP campaigners foresee 90 to 100 new faces — more than 20 per cent of the total — in the House next year.

Excluding any election turnover still to come, the 435-seat House has 41 members retiring or running for other office, 15 defeated in primaries and four vacancies. In the 33 seats at stake this year in the 100-member Senate, six decided to retire and two failed to win renomination in primaries.

Congressional campaign managers lament the retirement and sometimes the defeat of incumbents in primaries. Despite the alleged neutrality of the national campaign organizations, their machinery is geared to reelect incumbents.

Some send out questionnaires to poll their constituents and many more send out newsletters. The Garth decision would halt these practices, which are useful in reminding voters who represent them in the House and Senate.

Congress has its studios for taping radio and television "reports" to them at a relatively low cost, with additional expenses paid from campaign committee funds. The stations can use these reports as they wish until an incumbent becomes an announced candidate for reelection and ineligible for free time.

Money is channeled to incumbents in non-election years on the assumption that they will run again.

IN THE EIGHT congressional election years going back to 1956, the number of incumbent House members seeking reelection has ranged from 87.1 to 94.6 per cent.

A Brookings Institution House election study, "Every Second Year," reported that "about as many members retire voluntarily, or do not seek reelection for other reasons, as are actually defeated at the polls." It also found that the number of freshman members, replacing incumbents, exceeded 30 per cent in only four of the previous 33 congressional elections.

Richard Johnson's Trip With McGovern

'Average American' Eyes Campaign

by RICHARD JOHNSON
First of Three Parts

September 5, 1972 began a week in my life that I will never forget. At 1 p.m. I boarded a DC 10 at O'Hare Field and was on my way to Los Angeles to join Senator McGovern and his campaign party for approximately one week.

As the plane rolls down the runway I begin to wonder — what is going to happen? What, with all the meeting of the press, talking with Senator McGovern, skipping throughout the country — what would all this bring — and what kind of impression will it leave me as a so called average voter from Rolling Meadows.

I am to be a subject of an up-coming TV show which gives an average middle income American an opportunity to describe his views of what he sees and hears on a Presidential Campaign on a tour throughout the midwestern states and the northern part of this country.

The plane is gaining speed now and I suddenly realize that the airplane is now airborne — this is a first for me having never been in a plane before save a Piper Cub 20 years ago. My stomach is a bit tense, as would be expected — and for those of you who have ever been on the Bobs at Riverview in the old days of Chicago, you know exactly how I felt if you were climbing the first hill.

The music on the loudspeaker plays "Beautiful Ohio" as we proceed west en route to Los Angeles, where I will meet the team that will produce this show. I was very excited just thinking of the tremendous opportunity that lies just ahead. The captain announces that we are flying at 35,000 feet and cruising at approximately 600 m.p.h. and as I look below I get my first glimpse of the Grand Canyon — beautiful!

We are allowed, of course, to roam through the aircraft and I have an opportunity to talk to some of the passengers telling them that very shortly, upon my arrival in Los Angeles, a team of camera men, sound men, news correspondents, and other people of the N-Pact group will be awaiting my arrival. We land on schedule and again I wonder — just what is going to happen when I get off the airplane.

AS I WALK through the ramp leading from the plane, being pushed along with the crowd, I suddenly make a left and in the arrival room I see many people among them some cameras and lighting equipment. I hear the N-Pact news correspondent, Robin, announce to the crew that "there he is" — and immediately all lights turned on and cameras are grinding. Robin greets me with the usual "How was the trip west?" and "Did you enjoy it?" — small talk. And as we move forward I can feel everyone is wondering who I am?

One elderly lady just couldn't stand it any longer and tapped the shoulder of our producer Bob, and asked, "Who is that man?" Bob, looking as if he could hardly believe the question replied, "Why that's Richard Johnson" — and the woman, nodding knowingly said, "oooooh." I often wondered how she explained who Richard Johnson was to her family that night.

After picking up my luggage we proceeded to two rented cars where Robin interviewed me regarding how I felt about the election up to this point and also a few impressions that I had as to what was to happen during the week. This interview takes place in the car as we go to our hotel.

That evening, Senator McGovern was to give a short speech at the hotel, Hilton, however Bob decided it unwise for me to attend as he wanted me to be fresh in the morning to attend a speech by the senator as he addressed a group of rabbis.

Since there was nothing scheduled for the remainder of the evening, Bob and I had dinner on the top floor of the Occidental Hotel overlooking the expansive city of Los Angeles. We returned at about 11 p.m. and went to bed to be ready for the busy days ahead.

At 7 a.m. I was awakened by the hotel phone to let me know that I must get going in order to meet the press and obtain all my credentials and passes. Senator McGovern was to give a speech to a group of rabbis and this would be my first exposure to an actual presidential campaign speech. The room was packed with the rabbis, their wives and families and the press. As soon as the doors were closed, Senator McGovern entered. I listened attentively as he discussed briefly the problems of the Olympics as this was the day after several Israelis were killed by Arab fanatics. Senator McGovern placed the blame solely on the two countries of Egypt and Lebanon.

(Early this year, Richard Johnson of Rolling Meadows was selected by the National Public Affairs Center for Television to represent the average American. The Johnson family became the subject of a television documentary dealing with the views of the middle class toward candidates in the upcoming presidential election. And in September, Johnson toured the country on a campaign trip with Democratic presidential candidate George McGovern. He recorded his impressions during the week-long tour, and today the Herald begins the first installment of memoirs written by Johnson shortly after he arrived home.)

WHAT IMPRESSED me most at this meeting was how disorganized it was. It seemed that they invited more people than they could accommodate at the breakfast. However as I later describe this continual action as "disorganized organization" things seem to be accomplished. The senator finished in about half-an hour and then an answer and question period took place. After this I was interviewed by the N-Pact team relating to them my observations and impressions of the speech. I was a bit upset at the loudness of press row when Senator McGovern was speaking, however, I found out later that this was not unusual. It seemed to me that a little more courtesy could be given the senator as he was speaking to the public.

Shortly thereafter, we all boarded chartered buses to take us down to the Los Angeles Convention Center to hear the senator speak to IAM workers. I was surprised when they seated me right below the podium where the senator was speaking and smiled at the fact that just prior to the Senator speaking the convention had listened to the opening speech by Ronald Reagan of California. After McGovern's speech a roll call was taken by the convention to see if they could get a majority to endorse Senator McGovern for President. However up to the time we had left, they were still debating the issue and it seemed that the convention was split down the middle. After we left the convention hall, Robin again interviewed me on my reaction to what was going on. At this point I was utterly confused. First hearing one side of the coin and then the other, and to climax everything people at the convention were undecided on which way to turn. After some coffee and sandwiches we returned by bus to the airport to take off to our next city that afternoon — San Diego, Calif.

At the San Diego Airport we were to visit a Teladene Plant of aerospace workers where Senator McGovern was just to shake hands and have a general talk with the workers. It was here where I got close enough to the Senator to shake his hand for the 1st time. This was a thrill for me. But a very unusual thing happened just then. As I made an attempt to get around to the other side of McGovern, to get closer to him, one of the Secret Service men grabbed my arm and held me back. I didn't understand what the problem was and the same thing happened again later. Finally the producer of the show, Bob, told me that the Secret Service did not like anybody to move fast around the senator. So, from that point on, I did not move in a hurried fashion whatsoever.

After our San Diego stop we boarded the charter United 727 and settled back to enjoy our usual drink to relax a bit as we headed for Dallas, Tex. The trip should take about 1½ hours and was able to take some beautiful pictures of the mountains below. Ran into a little rain, but once above the clouds the sun is shining brightly and it is a fantastic sight. I have time now to take notes and write in my book and as I am doing this, the cameras are again grinding and it seems kind of a waste to film scenes like this.

ONE OF THE unusual impressions that I had is noticing the vast amount of youth working with Senator McGovern on this campaign tour. I have just had a talk with one of the young ladies in charge of making reservations throughout the cities visited during the tour and also keeping up with the releases and statements regarding speeches of the Senator. I am really impressed with the fact that being so young she had such a responsible job.

The stewardess now comes and asks if we are interested in supper and if we care for another drink. This is the continual pattern of service through the entire trip. (Think I'm betting spoiled.) During dinner, Bob mentions that they are using about 12 to 1 footage on the film which is just about average. He assures me that things are going along fine.

The pilot of the charter asks if anybody would be interested to see the plane fly from the captain's chair. Not wanting to pass up this opportunity, I gingerly went into the cockpit and was shocked to see that the plane truly flies itself. There were four dials that were in an "on" position and all four people that were to be flying the airplane, a pilot, a co-pilot, flight engineer, and I don't know who the other fellow was, were just sitting there talking with each other.

It's about 8:15 p.m. now and what a beautiful sight to see the "Big D" at night. After landing on schedule we immediately went to the Fairmont Hotel where Senator McGovern had a speech and rally. There was a Dixieland Band there and approximately 2,000 people — but the speech itself was rather dull. In fact a funny thing happened as I was standing under the podium where McGovern was speaking. The man next to me was reciting word for word the speech with Senator McGovern. After a couple of paragraphs, the man said something different than McGovern and said, "Oh, the Senator goofed it up again." I asked the man if he was a writer for McGovern since he knew the speech so well, and he replied: "No, he was just a regular press man — after you hear as many speeches as I do, you begin to learn them by heart."

The crowd here seemed quite cool to the senator's speech. As far as I could see, it seemed that again the people listening were split.

As soon as we got to our hotel room we set up the cameras and lights for what we referred to as "the telephone scene." This was the scene where every night at all the hotels where I was staying, I would call my wife, Mary Ann back in Rolling Meadows to let her know what happened to us during the day. This conversation was to be the narration for the TV program. Finally, about midnight, we completed the call and it was quite interesting because Mary Ann didn't know we were also taping her voice too. After saying "goodnight" to everyone, I was told to get up at 7 a.m. for another full day on the campaign trail. (Tomorrow: A day in Texas and then through Illinois.)

Trinidad Steel Band
Now At Randhurst

The Trinidad Steel Band will perform on the Randhurst mall today through Sunday.

The band has a wide repertoire ranging from the classics to calypso and pop.

The early days of the steelbands produced no melody. They were used expressly for providing a rhythmic background for festivities of the Trinidad Carnival Season which immediately precedes Lent.

It wasn't until 1940 that the first actual melodic sounds were produced and simple melodies were played. Today the musical standards of the steelband are considered so high that there is very little music that is not possible to attempt.

Show times today and Friday, will be noon to 8 p.m.; Saturday, 11 a.m.-5 p.m.; and Sunday, noon to 5 p.m. Each performance will last 20 minutes.

Stamp Notes

Stamp Will Honor Pharmaceutical Association

An 8 cent U.S. stamp honoring pharmacists will be issued Nov. 10 in Cincinnati during the 120th anniversary of the American Pharmaceutical Association.

The horizontal stamp is a still life by Ken Davies of Madison, Conn. It depicts the Bowl of Hygieia, the Greek goddess of health, a symbol associated with the pharmaceutical association. The mortar and pestle are symbols used by the National Association of Retail Druggists.

The familiar Rx used in medicine is the abbreviation for "Recipe" and the bottles shown on the stamp are of 19th century vintage.

The stamp will be printed with two passes through the offset press: light and dark tan; reddish brown and blue, with black being applied by the Glori press. The print order is 135 million.

COLLECTORS DESIRING first day cancellations should send their requests to "Pharmacy Stamp, Postmaster, Cincinnati, Ohio 45202" enclosing the proper remittance which is the cost of the stamps to be affixed.

The Postal Service has announced that collectors wishing to buy mint pharmacy stamps from their local post offices will not be able to do so until about three weeks after the date of issuance.

The delivery delay is due to a walkout by employees of the company which applies as adhesive to the paper used in production of many postage stamps. It is also affecting some deliveries of the Tom Sawyer stamp released Oct. 13 in Hannibal, Mo. The Christmas stamps are not affected.

THE BUREAU of Printing and Engraving is seeking alternate sources for the pre-gummed paper and has also curtailed production of the 8 cent Eisenhower sheet stamps in an effort to fill the commemorative print orders as soon as possible.

Australia will issue a set of seven stamps illustrating pioneer life Nov. 15.

Designed by Robert Ingpen of Melbourne, the stamps depict the needs and activities of pioneers living about 100 years ago.

In the illustration, the stamps have been grouped around the 5 cent Pioneer Society issue but each denomination will be printed separately in sheets of 100 stamps.

The set includes the 5 cent Pioneer Society, a 10 cent Pioneer Water, 15 cent Pioneer Food, 40 cent Pioneer Shelter, 50 cent Pioneer Transportation, 60 cent Pioneer Communications and the 80 cent Pioneer Commerce.

The stamps will replace earlier issues in the Pioneer series — the 5 cent Queen Elizabeth II, 7 cent Snowy Mountains, 10 cent Oil and Natural Gas, 15 cent Tasmanian Blue Gum, the 40 cent Tasman and the 50 cent Dampier stamps will be withdrawn from sale at the close of business Nov. 14.

Win At Bridge
by Oswald and James Jacoby

After an absence of several years, Generous George is back in the bridge game.

We are not sure if his absence was due to a stay in prison caused by his use of well known generosity away from the bridge table or for some other reason.

In any event, he is back and playing a slam.

He won the first trick with his ace of diamonds; led a spade to dummy's ace and ruffed a second spade with the ace of trumps.

Then he cashed the king of trumps; looked at his opponents in his most friendly manner and said, "I don't know why I do these nice things but I am going to give one of you a trump trick as a coming home present."

Then he led the three of trumps.

West said, "I guess you also give the ice to Eskimos." Then, since he had nothing better to do, he led a diamond. George ruffed in dummy; led a spade; ruffed with his queen of trumps and led his last trump to dummy's 10. Dummy's spades were now good and the ace of clubs scored the last trick.

George was just as generous as he used to be. He had to give away that trump trick to make his contract.

Candidates For United States Senate

Charles Percy:

Cutting Expenses Is His 'Meat And Potatoes'

by TOM WELLMAN

Chuck Percy never seems to forget speaking to the public.

Percy, who's buried his opponent, Roman Pucinski, at least in the polls, to date has every reason to sit back and enjoy the last few days of the campaign to reclaim his seat in the U.S. Senate.

But Percy, prominently mentioned as the next Republican presidential candidate, enters a newspaper interview and dominates it. His hands continue to gesture, as if he were speaking in a shopping center. His voice booms with self-assurance.

He's got every reason to be self-assured. A few days ago, President Nixon came closer to ending the Vietnam War. His reaction:

"I'M OVERJOYED, to say the least. It has dominated my thoughts and those of my colleagues. A truly brilliant job has been done by the administration, equally effective as China and the position the Soviet Union has been placed in relation to us."

Illinois' senior senator, ever since he first won the Senate seat from Paul Douglas in 1966 has been a moderate or dove on the war, sees this country as having been caught between two positions.

The two are the desire of the North Vietnamese to have a negotiated settle-

The campaign takes in the whole length and breadth of the state and swirls around such topics as China and the economy and the war. The prize is a seat on the most prestigious legislative floor in the world — the United States Senate.

For Charles Percy winning the fight would mean a second term in the Senate and most certainly a chance for bigger offices in the years to come.

For Cong. Roman Pucinski, winning would mean leaving the House of Representatives but bringing his programs and ideas to a larger forum.

ment that would achieve what they had not been able to achieve militarily — and the Kennedy-Johnson position of not imposing a Communist government on the South Vietnamese. A compromise has been reached, Percy says.

He adds, "It's perfectly apparent we're not going to let Saigon set our foreign policy." The United States will participate in the reconstruction of Vietnam, he adds.

Also, the agreement guarantees that Hanoi won't "set a price" for the return of POW's. The entire agreement has been President Nixon's "first order of business" and those who assert the impending agreement is an "election day effort" have no regard for truth and facts, Percy says.

The Senator says, "You always have more unfinished than finished business," when asked if he felt he achieved all his goals for his first term of office.

PERCY SAYS he took over Paul Douglas' unfinished agenda — truth-telling, preservation of the Indiana dunes, labor matters and reducing oil depletion — and made it his "first order of business."

"I've accomplished bills we have in law that I didn't think would be possible," he says. Implementation and funding of senior citizen housing, Social Security and controlling the use of drugs, he cites, and says, "We busted for the first time the highway lobby and got funds for senior housing. Now we're going to bust them (the highway trust fund) for mass transit."

Greatest disappointment? The failure to set an expenditure ceiling for President Nixon.

Cutting expenses in his "meat and potatoes," says Percy. "I've done nothing but reduce taxes since I've been in the Senate," and he says he doesn't put in legislation for over-budget expenditures unless he can cut spending in a lower priority area.

"I DON'T SEE the day," when we won't have a controlled economy, says Percy. "We may have the freest economy today we'll see in years."

Power has been gravitating away from Congress since 1933, when Franklin D. Roosevelt became President, Percy says, and presidential power reached its peak under Lyndon Johnson during the early years of the Vietnam War.

Percy says "emphatically" there will never be another Vietnam War, and he hopes Congress can get back some of its agreement-making powers and have more voice in confirming some special assistants to the President.

"There are more restraints placed on President Nixon than were placed on Johnson," says Percy, and there's a "strong mood to jealously guard the prerogatives of Congress."

Defining his relationship with the President as "very good," he adds he's "blessed with friends" throughout the Nixon administration.

However, he says he's had "more strained relations" with others. "I said there are certain people in the White House staff that have no comprehension of the Congressional system."

Percy says he finds himself in agreement often with Sen. Adlai Stevenson III, "but we very much disagree on some issues," such as spending limits. "But we have no difference of opinion on Illinois projects," he says.

WATERGATE? "This is a reprehensible act by those who engaged in it directly and those who had knowledge of it. It is a crime, punishable by the criminal code," Percy says.

People on the campaign trail haven't asked him much about Watergate — "only reporters," says Percy. He says people are cynical about government, but "I don't see any more (corruption) and I don't see any less (in government compared to business)." He says there have been no scandals in the FBI and there's generally less in the federal government than in lower levels of government.

Will Percy run for President in 1976? "I don't see it."

PERCY SAID in 1968 he felt "incompetent" to run for President. How about now?

"Oh, no. I've learned a good deal more about government. I would hope there would be someone else that would be more qualified, spent more years in government."

But 1976 is two-thirds of a second Senatorial term away. Right now, Charles Percy is working hard at winning reelection as big as he can on Tuesday, Nov. 7.

Roman Pucinski:

'A Senator Should Have The Guts To Take A Side'

by NANCY COWGER

Roman Pucinski sees a similarity between the U.S. Senate seat for which he is campaigning and an earlier chair he filled, in the cockpit of a bomber over Japan during World War II.

"You're flying instruments," said the Democrat, who now represents Illinois in the U.S. House.

In Washington, D.C., a legislator is voting on issues, the full impact of which may not be felt for some time. Pucinski believes it helps him to know what his electorate is thinking on those issues, to help improve instrument accuracy.

A man who consistently votes according to the views of his constituents, Pucinski said "That's what representative government is all about. I go to great pains to obtain the feelings of my constituency."

HE NOTED AN annual questionnaire he sends to home district residents, which seeks data on the age group and sex of each person who responds, as well as thoughts on national issues.

"But in some areas, the constituency is not expected to have all the facts," he said. When that happens, "I go ahead and vote my best judgment," but then he goes home, to tell the public his reasons, he said. He may have to do this in the Senate, he said, because "It's impossible to get any kind of a consensus in a state like Illinois."

Pucinski agreed to that extent with the assessment of his record in Ralph Nader's report on Congress. But in other areas, said Pucinski, the report was not correct.

"I have a 100 per cent civil rights voting record in a district where that kind of record is a liability. Yet reading the Nader report you get the feeling Roman Pucinski is insensitive to minority groups."

PUCINSKI NOTED he lives in an integrated neighborhood in Washington, D.C., and his children have attended integrated schools all their lives. His opponent, Charles Percy, lives in "lily-white Georgetown," Pucinski says.

The Nader report "carefully shields Percy, and tries to put Pucinski in a dubious light," said the Senate hopeful.

Accusing Percy of "working both sides of the street," Pucinski said he believes "a Senator ought to have the guts to take a side." He claimed Percy voted against revenue sharing, but "has said he's always been for it." Percy also "did everything he could to scuttle" it attaching a rider requiring civil treatment of emigrants from Russia to the bill granting it $750 million in credit for wheat purchases. Percy's resistance stemmed from his friendships with insiders who benefited from the Russian wheat deal, and who would have been ruined if it had collapsed because of the rider, Pucinski claims.

Some of those insiders have contributed to Percy's campaign, he charged.

PUCINSKI SAID he is giving up his comfortable seat as a 14-year Congressman to run against Percy because, "I don't think Chuck Percy has done a good job." He noted Illinois ranks fourth of states contributing federal revenue, and 47th in receiving funds back.

Another factor is what Pucinski sees as a fantastic future for the U.S., with a gross national product reaching $2 trillion in the next 100 months, he predicted. The future also will bring great problems, he said, citing mass transportation.

Pucinski proposed a transit system with jitney buses collecting passengers at the ring of a telephone, delivering them to train stations, and taking them from the end of the line to their destination. "I want to get the cars off the roads," he said.

Development of mass transit systems can come with the federal government providing the "startup money," said Pucinski. But he voted against diverting federal highway funds for mass transit, hoping instead for a full scale commitment, he said.

"I'D LIKE TO SEE a five-county integrated transit system, so that we can move people very quickly. I would hope we could do it privately, but I don't see it that way," he said.

Existing public transportation is not working because it is inefficient, said Pucinski, but commuters could be persuaded to use an effective one, which could be quasi-private.

Enormous problems will rise in the areas of housing and education, partially because the average worker will change job skills five to seven times during his wage earning years, said Pucinski. Education will have to be continuous, and available through home study.

Financing education will become a partnership, proposed Pucinski, with the federal government assuming one-third, and the state paying most of the rest. State money would be obtained from what now is spent on welfare, and welfare would become a function of federal government, he said. This would eliminate moves by recipients from one state to another to obtain the highest welfare payment level. Federal funds would result naturally from the anticipated economic growth.

AND THE EDUCATION system itself should be restructured, to "give career education the same value we give college preparation," Pucinski said. He would drop the basic curriculum, and replace it with a system training every high school graduate in a marketable skill, as well as preparing him for college.

Because industry will find itself faced with a 52 per cent female employee market, said Pucinski, "we also have to develop a huge network of day care centers." This will allow women to take jobs "industry will look attractive to them at a time when homemaking itself is becoming a very complicated service."

Another idea Pucinski cited as an example of "creative legislation" he would introduce, is a national system of volunteers, whereby doctors, teachers and other professionals would donate their services where needed, in exchange for a tax write-off of the time they spend.

If elected, Pucinski hopes to serve on Senate education and agricultural committees, noting "we put farm area Senators on the agriculture committee and it's incredible the bad legislation they put out."

SPEAKING BEFORE last week's announcements on Vietnam Peace negotiations, Pucinski said, "If we agree to a coalition government, I'll be deeply disappointed. One-hundred-eighty-million people are behind the Iron Curtain today, and they got there through coalition governments. A coalition government, we could have had 10 years ago."

Pucinski favored pulling out of Indochina, but giving South Vietnam, "the sinews they need for their own defense." He noted he has been called not just a hawk, but "a falcon" earlier in the war, but said the war has changed.

The Eagleton and Watergate affairs also were in Pucinski's thoughts. Eagleton should have told McGovern about his history of depression, Pucinski said. His ouster from the ticket was "unfortunate" but necessary, to focus attention to other campaign issues, he said.

"The thing that distresses me (about Watergate) is that I think the public is not concerned. What worries me is the absence of outrage by the American people," he said. Pucinski cited polls showing 30 per cent of the people no longer believe in America, and are willing to repeal the Bill of Rights.

"Can democracy survive, or are the American people becoming impatient with democracy?" he asked.

Plan Survey On Housing Attitudes

A survey to determine the attitudes of suburbanites towards the kinds of housing in their communities will begin in about two weeks, according to Northwestern University officials conducting the poll.

Northwestern has been hired to conduct the survey by the Housing Coalition of the Leadership Council for Metropolitan Open Communities, a private agency. Currently a 12-member steering committee of that agency is working to form a voluntary low and moderate-income housing plan for some 250 Chicago suburbs. The group has been receiving technical assistance from the Northeastern Illinois Planning Commission (NIPC).

"We hope the results of the survey will help us find the best way to approach citizens about housing," said Jack Pahl, NIPC commissioner and former Elk Grove Village mayor. Pahl originated the idea for the voluntary housing plan. "We have to determine just what words we should use. Some words create fears in people's minds," he said.

Pollsters will interview residents in the six-county area which the steering committee hopes to encompass in a housing plan, according to John McKnight, assistant director of Northwestern's Center for Urban Affairs. Those counties include Cook, Kane, Will, McHenry, DuPage and Lake counties.

"WE WILL TAKE a sample from all those counties," McKnight said. He would not say how people would be chosen to be interviewed, but he did say respondents would receive a "very specific questionnaire."

"We're going to try to identify the attitude of suburbanites toward alternative approaches to land use development in their suburbs," McKnight said. "Such as what kinds of housing they favor and how they feel about approaching the housing issue, if they favor joint planning or not."

McKnight said the survey should be completed in about three months.

Currently, members of the housing steering committee are meeting with officials from other suburbs to talk about a joint-housing plan. The idea behind the program is for suburbs to work out a voluntary program before it is forced upon them by the courts, Pahl said. A lawsuit has been filed by the American Civil Liberties Union (ACLU) that would require the distribution of 60,000 low-income housing units on a "fair-share" basis throughout the Chicago area.

NIPC Eyes Land Purchase Proposal

by ANNE SLAVICEK

A proposal that various governmental agencies buy up vacant land in the flood plain to safeguard against future flooding is being considered by the Northeastern Illinois Planning Commission (NIPC).

The proposal for new regional policies on wetland and flood plain management was presented to the NIPC planning committee yesterday by Larry Christmas, NIPC assistant director.

The plan will be the subject of a joint meeting of the NIPC planning committee and its intergovernmental relations committee. Christmas said the new proposal to keep vacant flood plain areas undeveloped is the NIPC response to requests for help from various communities in northeastern Illinois.

He said NIPC offices had been "flooded" with requests for help because of the heavy rains that caused flooding during the past summer.

Christmas said 25 per cent of the land NIPC has suggested be retained as open space is in the flood plain. He said the regional open space plan includes an estimated 40,000 acres of flood plain lands that are proposed for park or forest preserve use.

CHRISTMAS POINTED out NIPC also has a model flood plain ordinance and keeps atlases of record floods, but he said that is not enough to combat flooding.

He said the organization should place "new emphasis on the desire to protect flood plains."

Christmas cited the plan to build a large retention reservoir in Busse Woods Forest Preserve as part of the Salt Creek Watershed work plan.

He said similar open space should be owned by park or forest preserve districts in other watershed basins.

"The total Salt Creek work plan will cost $26 million to complete," Christmas said, "not counting the value of the land in Busse Woods being used for the reservoir."

All of the flood plain within the Upper Salt Creek Watershed could have been purchased 25 years ago for $1 million he said. The $26 million program of reservoirs, channelization, and flood plain laws would not be needed today if all the vacant flood plains had been purchased then, Christmas said.

He pointed out, however, that the $36 million work plan is still a bargain today because Busse Woods was retained as open space and is available for the reservoir.

If Busse Woods had been an urbanized area, the problem of coping with flooding in the watershed would be more difficult, he said.

"Salt Creek teaches us a lesson. It was helpful there was a major regional open space (Busse Woods) there to be used.

IT WOULD HAVE been more costly and severe if it had not been there," he said.

In addition to the Busse Woods land, there are several other parcels of flood plain land in the Upper Salt Creek Watershed which should be retained as open space Christmas said. One area on our NIPC map of the watershed suggested for preservation of open space is directly west and northwest of Woodfield.

Christmas said with federal and state help it will be economically feasible to keep the flood plain open.

He said park districts or counties would probably have to provide the local share of land acquisition costs.

In the Salt Creek Watershed, for example, he said the 600 acres of flood plain to be kept open could be purchased by local park districts if they issued the maximum amount of bonds they are allowed under state law.

Christmas based his figures on an estimated land cost of $10,000 per acre for the flood plain land. He said he expected work plans similar to the Salt Creek one

Weeds Aren't All THAT Bad

This doesn't seem the time of the year to talk about mowing roadsides, but the subject jumped back into public attention with announcement that the state has refused to pay $250,000 to two companies accused of fraudulent mowing work claims.

Atty. Gen. William J. Scott announced that contracts were being voided with the two Chicago companies, who apparently billed the state for work never done on miles of state routes and expressways in Cook, Lake, DuPage and Will counties.

That seems to be a satisfactory end to another sad case of the taxpayer getting taken, and the state should be commended for getting it straightened out — though it's regrettable that the mess arose in the first place.

The case brings to mind another thought: Why bother with mowing along the roadsides at all?

It's a ritual that's been performed for years in Illinois and many other states, involving thousands of hours of work along thousands of miles of roads every summer — costing the state millions of dollars.

But is it really necessary? Some states — among them neighboring Iowa — have taken a more serious look at the practice and concluded that there really aren't many sound reasons to keep roadsides manicured — except at intersections where visibility is a safety factor.

Iowa quit the whole procedure on the grounds that there were better reasons to not cut — among them that weeds and wildflowers actually can enhance a roadside's appearance, and there's proven benefit to wildlife in heavily-tilled agricultural states. Roadsides left to go wild can provide valuable habitat for small animals, song birds and game birds like quail and pheasants, and a test by Illinois' own conservation department proved it in Ford County, where shoulders were intentionally left uncut.

We suggest that Illinois — in tightening procedures on mowing contracts — go the whole route and seriously consider abandoning the mowing altogether.

Our Choices: County

When the voters of Cook County go to the polls five days from now they will choose from among 14 candidates to fill seven posts in the county government.

Those to be elected Nov. 7 include the state's attorney, clerk of the Cook County Circuit Court, recorder of deeds, coroner and three trustees to the Metropolitan Sanitary District.

Our previously announced choice in the state's attorney's race is Republican C. Bernard Carey. Carey, long experienced in professional law enforcement, will bring the experience, integrity and philosophy to the office we have found lacking in the past.

Despite his recent acquittal of criminal charges, we remain convinced Democrat Edward Hanrahan should be defeated because of his dismal record and because he is temperamentally unfit for the post.

For two of the contested seats on the MSD Board of Trustees, we strongly support Republican Joan G. Anderson of Western Springs, and Democrat Joanne H. Alter of Chicago.

Mrs. Anderson and Mrs. Alter are the only two of the six candidates who have campaigned actively for the seats. Each has demonstrated her deep concern for the relationship and communication needed between the MSD and the taxpayers and for the problems the district faces in the future.

For the third trustee we endorse the reelection of Republican Abe Eiserman of Skokie. Although Eiserman's incumbency has been largely undistinguished, he has the desirable experience and will assure suburban voters of some representation in the workings of the district.

The race for circuit court clerk is between Republican Robert Sklodowski of Northbrook and incumbent Democrat Matthew J.

Danaher.

This choice is a difficult one for us to make. Sklodowski, an attorney, has promised to free the court clerk's office of patronage and sever the existing political relationship with Mayor Richard Daley. While some suburban voters may consider party label to be a critical criterion, however, Sklodowski has not, in our opinion, demonstrated an overriding reason to unseat Danaher.

The endorsement goes to the reelection of Matthew Danaher because of the roles he played in establishing a small claims court and a scofflaws court, his computerization of his office and his support for increased court services in the suburbs.

The contest for recorder of deeds is between Republican Lucy Reum, vice chairman of the legislative committee to the 1969 Constitutional Convention, and Sidney R. Olsen, a Democrat who has held the $25,000-a-year post for the past 12 years.

The nature of the office of the recorder of deeds is such that it has very little direct relationship with the voters and the taxpayers. Nor does it need to. The office is primarily administrative and rarely issue-oriented.

We have no strong preference between the candidates, and because we feel the office should be appointive rather than elective, we endorse neither candidate. We note, however, Mrs. Reum has demonstrated no compelling reason to unseat Olsen.

The coroner's race this year — coupled with the referendum concerning abolishing the coroner's office by 1976 — has become, in our opinion, critical to Cook County voters. For that reason, our candidate endorsement and position on the referendum will be included on the editorial page of Monday, Nov. 6.

Ed Frank's Bombshell Misfires

We are now five days from the end of the political campaign which has been going on, it seems, for about eight years.

In the next few days, charges and countercharges should be sampled with extreme caution.

There is a tactic in politics which consists of continually attacking your opponent, bringing out new charges with such frequency that while he is answering one, you are out on the front page of the newspaper or on the 6 o'clock news with a brand new one.

The ultimate refinement in that tactic is the last-minute bombshell, dropped on the opponent in the last days of the campaign so that the voters have been in and out of the polling place before they ever hear the defense of it.

Look out below between now and Tuesday.

One charge which hardly ranks in the bombshell class was brought out this week by Ed Frank, Democratic challenger to U. S. Rep. Philip M. Crane, R-13th, seeking reelection in the new 12th Congressional District.

Frank charged, according to United Press International, that Crane was in violation of laws governing the franking (free mail delivery) privilege of his office.

There are two curious things about the charge.

One is that less than a week ago, Frank was charging Crane with a "moral," not a "legal" violation of the franking law because he was using the advantage of his incumbency to contact voters in new portions of his new district.

Well, if what Crane says is correct — that the franking privilege is extended to new areas in which a congressman is seeking reelection after redistricting — then availing himself of the privilege seems about as "immoral" as taking an allowable tax deduction.

The law seems clear that incumbent congressmen may frank mail sent to new portions of their reapportioned district. But, according to UPI, "Frank charged that Crane, the Republican incumbent, had violated laws about mailings by congressmen when he sent questions and letters into new areas of the redistricted 12th (Congressional District)."

Fence Post Letters To The Editor

Dist. 59 Board Stand 'Surprising'

Open letter to District 59 Board of Education:

Your combined action of Oct. 16 and Oct. 18 was not only disappointing, but quite surprising to us, a group of parents concerned with interscholastic athletics. (At present, 500 strong and growing.) We are really quite amazed, not because you refused to support our cause, but because you have, in fact, misled John Q. Public all along.

We directly questioned your intent and understanding of the current implementation, as compared with your original policy statement regarding interscholastic basketball, which has resulted in the program being de-emphasized: school teams are weakened by dividing the talent, practice time and coaching opportunities are restricted, volunteer faculty members are paid to officiate. Overall — interscholastics will take on the nature and procedures of intramurals.

Your reply to us affirmed your intention for these things to happen as a result of the June 5 policy action. But this original action implied something very different. At least in the eyes of the average involved parent it spoke of improvement, participation, instructional values, expansion, organization, and opportunities. We would envision, as implementation, an attention to quantitative and qualitative values, retaining the same basic structure. Surely, as our representatives, you must have had a feel for our expectations? On the other hand, the superintendent and his four principals were attending to other values, best termed as "Educational": The use of competition as a preparatory and instructional tool, the position and status of the less skilled, the effects of being a "mini-high school," the need for a closed structure in which to practice and control new theories.

Administration is about to implement its ideas, and boasts an "improved program;" parents and community express opposition and cry out: "Destruction to traditional interscholastic athletics — the pendulum has gone too far;" and the board members are in the middle claiming: "We only make broad, general, vague policy statements" — end of responsibility — go see administration, who replies: "Well this is our opinion of how to best implement the policy and that's the way it will be, sorry you're disappointed." Where does this leave the community who is supposed to "decide what the school system will do?" (Ref. Board Policy Manual) administration is, clearly, one of value judgment. Both sides think that their respective proposals properly apply to the general policy and that the other is in error; and this makes the specifics of each side very significant in moving to a resolution. The board refuses to consider or judge the specific details of implementation, claiming lack of specialty expertise, although much specialized athletic/educator opinion has been directed to your attention. You sidestep the task of resolving which values best apply. Decision making is made simple: Whatever Lola wants, Lola gets (and watch out, "little man").

The signposts from the very beginning have read strong opposition, both professional and parental, to the theories and procedures being implemented. The resultant proposals have been tuned to reconsideration and modification. Yet, you maintain a position that your past and present intention is to see administration implement its ideas, regardless. What kind of responsiveness is this? Where is the democratic due process? Are other community concerns handled this way? In short, what the hell is going on?

The core issue here is: Does the traditional competitive atmosphere best serve the education of our youth? This is a matter of philosophy or policy and its consequences reach far beyond Jr. High School athletics, and you as a board have been aware of this fact from the start. No communication, either from Board or Administration, has addressed itself to the real issues. Nothing has been said about what the students lose. Parents have had to dig out the facts and initiate an informational and survey procedure — isn't this a reverse approach? We refer you to 1.0, Educational Philosophy, of your policy manual: To foster informed leadership, dialogue with community must be candid and comprehensive; and to 5.0, New Programs: Since we are dealing with an "activity" subject certainly supportive research would include attitude input from parents and students.

We therefore conclude, that the community has been misled and politically maneuvered by omission. We don't need this in our school system. If the community wants new philosophy they shall have it, but only by application of our present policy to effect a change.

We intend to be at Lively Jr. High School on Monday, Nov. 6, to plead our case again. Our objective is to amend the proposed policy statement regarding athletics, so as to specifically define the nature of interscholastics along the lines of traditional competition, while incorporating the values of participation and instruction.

EDITOR'S NOTE: This letter was signed by parents Joe Woefel (Lively Junior High), Richard McCloughan (Grove), Scott Dixon (Dempster) and Richard Stamm (Holmes).

Capettini 'Disbelieved'

Every writer has the right to criticize, but in the case of Roger Capettini's article in the Oct. 27, issue of the Mount Prospect Herald, "Edward Hanrahan's Proudest Hour," Mr. Capettini forgot to wash the bitter taste in his mouth upon arising, with his favorite mouthwash, before proceeding to write the above article.

It has been the custom in the United States to bring all types of persons together in a brotherly love fashion in the game of win or lose, after the game. That promotes unity. In unity there is strength. Many of our supposedly leaders and writers now get a kick out of destroying the American philosophy of unity through brotherly love, by promoting hatred.

Mr. Capettini, you do not believe in American justice according to your article. You do not believe in our American court system. You do not believe in anyone but yourself. I wonder how many people believe in you?

When you think a person is still guilty after the court proves such person is not guilty, that is your privilege to believe, but please don't try stuffing your opinion down everyone's throat. Our Lord said in the Bible, "Let he who is without sin cast the first stone."

Any person is capable of writing a news article, including myself, but not everyone can have the courage and dignity to fight publicly for what is right and be successful and victorious, like Mr. Edward Hanrahan. That is why both the Republican and Democratic majorities will make Edward Hanrahan our next States Attorney.

A silly grin on the face of Edward Hanrahan (a statement you made) is certainly more pleasing to the public than a serious grin on the face of a hypocrite. Maybe that's how you like it.

Nixon Is Blasted

The six per cent milk price increase approved by the Nixon administration will cost the children of those people living on a fixed food budget one and a half glasses of milk per child a week.

Is it proper that Mr. Nixon's campaign should be financed by the hungry children of the poor?

Mr. and Mrs. D. Jack
Elk Grove Village

Bob Lahey

That charge would seem to indicate that candidate Frank is getting some poor advice about what the law requires.

Which brings up Curiosity No. 2. Frank has also apparently been getting some poor advice about the requirements of the new federal campaign-fund disclosure law.

He has been, in fact, in violation of that law himself throughout most of his campaign. Less than a week ago, Frank was asked if he had filed the required disclosure statement with the Illinois Secretary of State.

He had not, and he professed to be unaware of the requirement that he do so. The necessary papers, he said, were on file with the clerk of the U. S. House of Representatives.

As of yesterday, the Secretary of State's office reported that Frank still had not complied with the law.

The clerk's office refuses to confirm or deny that by telephone, but members of Crane's staff declare that Frank has filed only one statement — and that 30 days after the legal deadline. Another report, due Oct. 23, had not appeared in the clerk's office as of this writing, according to Crane staffers.

It appears from here that neither the fine limits of the franking privilege or the comprehension of a disclosure law shot through with loopholes by a first-time candidate are of earthshaking importance.

But in the remaining hours of the campaign, it would be nice if the voters are not subjected to frivolous charges by candidates who have not been able to keep up with all the rules themselves.

Motorola Gets Multimillion Dollar Contract

Motorola, Inc., announced receipt of a multimillion-dollar, three-year contract under which it will supply alternator charging systems to Volkswagen for use in the automobile company's Beetle and Karmann Ghia models.

In announcing receipt of the contract, Oscar P. Kusisto, vice president and general manager of Motorola, Inc.'s automotive products division, said the alternators will be produced at the company's Arcade, N.Y. plant which is now being enlarged to increase production rates there.

While Volkswagen has used alternators in other models in the past, they will be used for the first time in the company's 1973 Beetle and Karmann Ghia models.

Custom-designed for Volkswagen, initial shipments of the 50-ampere charging systems have already started to Volkswagen's engine plant in Hanover, Germany.

Kusisto, who negotiated the contract with Horst Muenzner, Volkswagenwerk AG's director of purchasing and a member of that company's board of management, called it "further evidence of Volkswagen's continuing efforts to use more American components in its vehicles."

He said Motorola is the prime source of radios and tape players for VW vehicles sold in the United States and Canada. Other major U.S. firms which regularly supply Volkswagenwerk include Champion Spark Plug, U.S. Steel, C-E Glass, the Timken Co. and Swedish Crucible Steel.

September Sales Higher

Retail sales for September showed an increase in consumer spending, as reflected in figures submitted by Illinois merchants participating in the Illinois Retail Merchants Association's Sales Performance Comparison Report.

Industry-wide, September, 1972 sales were up 11 per cent compared with the same month a year ago. A calendar year-to-date comparison indicates 1972 sales 5 per cent higher.

The per cent of sales increase was greatest in the hardware, appliance, and home furnishings area. This merchandise group reported an increase of 15 per cent for September, 1972 over 1971, and 16 per cent higher for the year to date.

The apparel and shoe store group also showed a significantly higher volume last month with a median 14 per cent increase. 1972 year-to-date comparison for this group showed 6 per cent greater sales in the current year.

Specialty shops and food stores gained 7 per cent in September, 1972 over 1971, and showed a median increase of 3 per cent for the year-to-date. Department stores 2 per cent over September last year. Comparing 1972 to 1971, department stores showed a median decrease by 2 per cent.

A cross section of IRMA members, representing every merchandise line in all regions of the State, participate in the monthly Sales Performance Comparison Report. Each store taking part in the service receives a summary of reporting results.

The Illinois Retail Merchants Association is a statewide organization exclusively serving all phases of retailing.

extension of the current farm price support and acreage control system.

Fresh evidence of that strong possibility came Tuesday in guarded comments by Clayton Yeutter, a former Agriculture Department official who currently heads the farm division of the Nixon campaign.

Yeutter carefully ducked any direct prediction of what Nixon might do when Congress turns next year to the question of extending, replacing or revising the Agricultural Act of 1970, which is due to expire at the end of the 1973 crop season. But he pulled out all the verbal stops in echoing praise for the existing program voiced earlier by Nixon and Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz.

"I'M SURE THE President recognizes, as do Butz and all of us that the 1970 act is unquestionably the most popular piece of farm legislation we've had in my lifetime," Yeutter said.

Democratic critics of the 1970 law contend the program is too loose to offer effective protection against overproduction and low prices for major crops like wheat and corn. The Democratic platform flatly repudiates the 1970 "set-aside" program and calls for new legislation which would raise farm income by imposing "effective supply management."

Yeutter, however, claimed at a news conference that the set-aside program has "tremendous support" among farmers and is one of the reasons for the administration's excellent showing in recent farm belt polls.

Under the program, farmers who want to qualify for federal price supports must first idle, or "set aside" a percentage of their cropland acreage which is set annually by the Agriculture Department. After that, the grower is free within broad limits to choose his own acreage of individual crops.

Hospitals Hit By New Cost Squeeze

by LEA TONKIN

Hospitals are a popular whipping boy for the cost-conscious critics of the health care industry. It all started last year when the health services field was pegged by the administration as the most inflation-ridden segment of the American economy.

Since that time, a raft of federal regulations have added bundles of paperwork to the heavy load of the hospital administrator and his staff and cut back on planned rate increases in many cases. This cost crunch is even more painful as hospital executives take the rap for high prices from the public and large users.

That was the consensus at last week's annual convention of the Illinois Hospital Association (IHA), held at Arlington Park Towers in Arlington Heights. New state and federal controls have had such a traumatic impact on Illinois hospitals over the past year that services have "actually been curtailed and standards of excellence threatened," read a policy statement adopted by the association last week.

Economic viability, or how to succeed in the health care business despite the infringements of government controls, was chosen as the major issue for the coming year by some 1,000 participants.

APPEARANCES CAN BE deceiving, however. Cadillac abounded in the Towers parking lot directly across from the association meeting rooms. Seldom could an observer of convention-goers find a gathering of such uniformly well-heeled appearance.

This aura of affluence could be just a coverup for the financial woes being experienced by hospital administrators. The problems created by government prodding for broader community service along with more efficient operation are putting a heavy strain on these executives, they claim.

"Ironically, the effect of this combination of controls has been most punishing on those hospitals that have done the most to care for the poor, been the most venturesome in extending their community service commitments and have operated, because of a sense of altruism of their boards, on the narrowest of margins," the association's policy statement says.

Several sessions at the IHA centered on the problem of paying for new services. Consultant Richard L. Johnson, for example, warned the hospital administrators of rushing headlong into new, costly, community service programs. Many of the ideas being put forth are "often superficial and sometimes smacking of self-interest," he said. Contending that the push for an expanded role for hospitals is more fluff than stuff, he said, "It is a gleam in the eye of the health planner, a hope in the mind of the bureaucrat and a desire by the third party likely to respond to them.

"If the new safety lights can prevent even one grade crossing accident, they are well worth the investment," said H. A. Lense, director of commuter services for the North Western.

Safety beacons have already been installed on approximately one-third of the North Western's suburban locomotives and 64 cab cars. All will have them by the end of the year. The rotating lights are also being installed on the C&NW's 768 freight locomotives.

According to Lense, the railroad's suburban service chalks up 59,000 passenger train runs per year carrying 25 million riders.

The North Western has credit for a number of safety firsts. It established the first railroad safety and accident prevention department in 1910 and helped popularize the slogan, Safety first. It also introduced the first oscillating locomotive headlight on its line of "400" streamliners in 1936.

North Western Installing Blinking Yellow Beacons

Commuters peering down the North Western's tracks these misty fall mornings may notice something different about the trains. Besides the bright spot of the headlight in the distance, a blinking yellow beacon atop the cab car will soon be flashing an additional warning of the train's approach.

The North Western is installing the rotating yellow lights as an added safety measure, especially to motorists approaching grade crossings. C&NW trains operate with headlights on both day and night. But unlike locomotive headlights, the new safety lights can be seen from all directions. Since the beacons are similar to those found on police and other emergency vehicles, drivers are more

Northern Trust Optimistic On Inflation Curb

If real income continues to increase and labor cost increases continue to be moderate, the chances of refueling sharp inflationary pressures in 1973 may be less than feared, say economists at Chicago's Northern Trust Bank.

In the first half of 1972, unit labor costs averaged only 2.5 per cent higher than a year ago — well below the 6 per cent - 7 per cent increases of 1969-70. At the same time, real income — earnings adjusted for inflation — has shown sharp improvement says Northern Trust's economic newsletter, "Business Comment." The typical worker with three dependents is enjoying 4 per cent more purchasing power today than a year ago.

These favorable trends may be difficult to extend, however, cautions "Business Comment." Wage-price controls — if still in effect — are likely to meet a stern test next year as a heavy calendar of labor negotiations poses the threat of potentially inflationary wage agreements. Other inflationary pressures may result from the rapid pace of this year's recovery as stronger demand forces work to push prices upward.

Nevertheless, Northern Trust economists see considerable slack in the economy — a factor which may slow the push of demand forces on prices. The overall economy operated 4.6 per cent below its potential in the second quarter of this year, with a substantial number of persons still unemployed and an operating rate in the nation's factories of only 77 per cent.

Northern Trust economists concede the presence of inflationary pressures, but see slack in the economy as a brake on these pressures.

payer, but unrealistic rhetoric to the hospital executive who is expected to translate these dreams into an efficient, well-run program."

Neighborhood health centers, health maintenance organizations and drug abuse units are among services being recommended.

Incoming IHA Pres. John W. Rice, citing a new rate review system as one source of financial relief, warned the membership of the continued need for vigilance of "the encroachment upon hospitals of government bureaucracy." He cited the Phase II regulations as proof of the need for this vigilance. "Indeed, these are some who feel that the program guidelines are unduly, and perhaps, illegally, discriminatory against health care institutions," he said of the controls.

A workshop session on industry's concern for health care costs brought out some of the feelings of frustration by the administrators in their dealings with large users. Industry representatives presented their views, followed by a question-and-answer session.

"YOU'RE PART OF the health care system — whether you like it or not, you're part of it," said one industry spokesman as he countered the "you can't beat the system" argument of one participant. The argument was launched by a round of "Don't nail the hospitals" for the high cost of health care testimonials from participants.

"We're doing a heck of a lot more than we're getting credit for," insisted outgoing IHA Pres. Anthony Perry. Enthusiastic applause from the hospital personnel in attendance followed. Hospital care is encouraged in "the system," all agreed, rather than preventive care.

Whatever the reasons, the result was rapidly rising costs, until the Phase II controls came along. As reported by James Delaney II, executive director of the Phase II Committee on Health Services Industry, the industry was more inflationary than any other in the United States as of last fall. "Something had to be done" is his simple justification of the controls which followed in Phase II.

Comprised of 21 persons representing various phases of the health services field, the committee is reaching its goal of reining in cost increases for institutional and non-institutional providers. The only exception at this point is the dental care field, slated for some talks in the near future with Delaney's committee. Living within the 2.5 per cent increase guidelines is a possibility, he said.

Delaney believes a coalition effort by private and government health care experts will probably offer the best long-range program for curtailing health care costs. Alternatives would be an indefinite extension of Phase II controls, or a total cutoff in the regulations, he said.

2 Area Teams, 5 Individuals Journey To Peoria

Hersey, Maine East Await Harrier Meet

by LARRY EVERHART
Cross Country Editor

All the sweat, sacrifice and grueling training find their ultimate purpose Saturday morning near Peoria.

Thousands of cross country runners in Illinois each year have the goal of running in the state meet, but only a select few — including 18 boys and two teams from the Herald area — will get that race chance Saturday at 11 a.m. in the 27th annual Illinois final race. As it has been for the past few years, site is Detweiler Park's three-mile course off state highway 29 outside Peoria.

Hersey and Maine East are the area squads getting the chance to see how they stack up against the best of the best. They qualified with almost exactly the same point totals in the Barrington Sectional last Saturday, the Huskies getting second and the Demons third — the cutoff point.

Independent runners also making the trip and expected to figure prominently are Brian Powell and Damian Archbold of Elk Grove, Arnie Jackson of Schaumburg, Neil Haseman of Arlington and Chip Barbour of Maine West. They cracked the elite lineup by placing in the top 10 of the Barrington meet, toughest sectional overall in the state.

Hersey is a newcomer to the state finals though Maine East has been there plenty of times before, including as champion in 1970.

Demon coach John Coughlan sees his school's rich harrier tradition as a definite plus Saturday. "The schools that usually do the best are the ones that have been there before; that have the experience in a race with that kind of pressure," Coughlan commented.

Hersey hopes this will not work against it. The Huskies have improved so quickly in recent weeks that they figure to be a factor. Coach Larry Travis is cautious but optimistic.

"If everybody on our team runs the way they can," he speculated, "and if there isn't some team that comes out of nowhere — like Centralia last year when they finished second — then I think we can be at least in the top five or six."

"Everyone has been helping out for us. Whenever we've had one guy drop back a little, somebody else always comes ahead to take his place. As a team we work together well."

Since Hersey is such a young bunch, it is appropriate that a sophomore has been their leader — Jay McCarthy. Several boys have taken turns grabbing the next spots for the Huskies. Their order in the sectional was Tom Burridge, Dan Leider, John Jones, Chris Cooney, Dave Jones and Ron Stephani.

Gary Marshak has been even more impressive for Maine East. Sixth in the sectional, he is accompanied by Pat Moyer and Lloyd Spitzer, other key men who could place high.

As strong as this area has been — probably better than ever this year — logical favorites are York in the team race and Craig Virgin of Lebanon individually.

York has been rated No. 1 all season and bounced back from an upset by LaGrange (figured to give the Dukes the sternest challenge Saturday) in the West Suburban Conference meet to take its own district and the Glenbard West sectional. LaGrange was also a district and sectional winner, narrowly edging surprising Riverside-Brookfield last week at Oak Park.

What teams form the order from third on down is anybody's guess. Ones to watch, in addition to Hersey and Maine West, and Barrington winner Deerfield, Public League champ Lane Tech, and R-B.

York coach Joe Newton will not admit that the team picture is clear. "I certainly won't say we're the favorite," he cringed. "All I'll say is that we have as good a chance as anybody. Lyons (LaGrange) won our conference and they're really coming on. And don't forget Deerfield and Hersey."

"The final race is always unpredictable. Tradition does help, but you might as well just lump all the top teams together now."

York's style in big meets, rather than to take command at the beginning, has been to run at a steady pace and make its move later on. By contrast Hersey, in its highly-impressive showings in the Mattoon, conference and sectional meets, has been moving out early and holding off challengers. Maine East runs Marshak at a pre-decided pace and tries to keep all others as close as possible to him.

At this time it seems that not much short of a broken leg can keep Virgin from capturing his second straight state title. The incredible Lebanon ace, though not running against the state's elite yet this fall, has continued to pile up records by huge margins. In track last spring he was champ in both the mile and two-mile runs, setting state records, and appears a good bet to smash at least one national record this year as a senior.

Other individuals to watch — again, it is nearly impossible to pick an order — are Paul Sewell of Rockford Guilford, Bill Santino of Crystal Lake, John Unger of Riverside-Brookfield, Dean Erhard of Deerfield, Dave Eichen of East Peoria (a sophomore) and Jeff Kleman of York. Winners of the toughest sectionals, those in the Chicago area, included Klemann, Unger, Erhard and Steve Martinez of Lane Tech.

Powell and Jackson also could be high on the list. He was the best Herald area runner in the sectionals with a strong third at Barrington after winning the Elk Grove district.

Prior to the state series, Jackson was the top area man, undefeated in all meets including invitationals. He beat Powell in a dual earlier but Brian came back to edge Arnie in the sectional. Both boys have been well under 15 minutes for three miles when at their best.

For Hersey and Maine East, balance as always is the key. The second through fifth men are just as important as the team leader if not more so.

But if York runs with the pace and close packing that it usually does, the Dukes should prevail. And if Virgin is up to par, the only close individual races will be only for second place and lower.

had won every meet he had entered until last Tuesday's district, eventually finished fourth to qualify for the state meet in Peoria. His three-mile time was 15:09.

2 Teams Involved In 'Numbers Racket'

THINK BACK NOW . . Haven't you chanted "We're No. 1!" at least once in your life?

Seldom does a football game go by that you fail to hear this proud boast, especially at games involving St. Viator and Elk Grove.

Depending on which of four polls you believe in, the St. Viator Lions are ranked anywhere from first to fourth. Elk Grove's Grenadiers range on the rating scale between third and 10th.

Some people hold their breath each week as they turn the pages to the poll story. Others read the stories but don't get too fired up. At least, that's what they say.

Don Schnake, Elk Grove's low key head coach, admits to looking at the ratings.

"I think everybody does, sure," says Schnake. "I think it's good for fan interest. It doesn't prove anything."

"We tell our kids it doesn't really mean anything literally. It's a way, I think, to get the school and community a little bit of publicity. I know that all my folks and relatives live in the southern part of the state. I know that they read those polls down there."

"There is an Elk Grove High School somewhere. I think it adds a little bit to school pride and community pride."

St. Viator coach Jim Lyne, more of an extrovert, agrees.

"We're pretty excited about it over at St. Viator," says the Lions' coach. However, the No. 1 state ranking hasn't changed the team's thinking.

"We're more concerned about the objective we set out for. Beginning with the opening practice, we set objectives in two categories — team and personal goals. I asked them what they thought they could do this year."

The Lions answered — a perfect season. That was their main goal and they're presently just three games away from fulfilling it.

"What's really important to us is achieving that goal of being undefeated," says Lyne. "It's more important than being ranked No. 1 or No. 3 or whatever. That's gravy."

"I'm not trying to minimize it, believe me. The big thing is what it's doing to St. Viator. After all, not too many people know about St. Viator and I'm sure quite a few people have heard about St. Viator now, especially in the city of Chicago. That's a good thing for the school."

"If that's (the 10-0 record) achieved and the people still think we're No. 1, fine. If not, we've still achieved our goal."

The Grenadiers also set up a couple of goals, as Schnake explains:

"We wanted to get into the Super Bowl. I think that's the goal of everybody (in the Mid-Suburban League). Once you get there, you want to win it."

"We've done that (gained the Super Bowl berth) now. We've got a little streak going. That's a little bit of an incentive to bear down and see how long we can keep that going."

One Chicago pollster suggested that the Herald promote a super dooper game between undefeated and untied Elk Grove and St. Viator, providing both win their remaining games. Since St. Viator is first and Elk Grove is fourth on this particular state poll at this time, it is quite conceivable that they could be 1-2 at the end of the regular season.

Having a showdown between two such strong area teams would truly be a dream game. That's just the way it will stay — a dream.

The Inter-Suburban Association limits membership schools like Elk Grove to just so many games. The Illinois High School Association only stipulates when seasons should begin and end. So, if the Grenadier school wasn't a member of the ISA, such a game could possibly be promoted.

"I run into a lot of people who say they'd like to see us play and say it's too bad and that type of thing," says Schnake. "I couldn't compare ourselves with St. Viator. We're in two different worlds and both are trying to do our best."

"No, we're not even thinking of them," says Lyne of Elk Grove. "We've got our own schedule to play. We're just concentrating on our own schedule."

"The only comment I heard somebody say was that we play a little tougher schedule possibly than Elk Grove does. Playing Lane Tech. and Holy Cross (both ranked teams), maybe this is the difference. I don't know, but I'm not trying to take anything away from Elk Grove."

Both teams have a long way to go before finishing with perfect records. Elk Grove isn't expected to have too much trouble with Schaumburg Friday night. However, the MSL playoff game would upset the school's drive for a 9-0 mark.

The last team to beat Elk Grove, coming 12 games ago, was Hersey. The two teams met in the championship game at the end of the season with the Grove coming away with a slim 7-3 victory. Hersey lost again to the Grenadiers in the second game of the season, 20-8. A return matchup is a possibility with the Huskies, much improved since early in the season.

Besides hungering for another shot at the Grove, the Huskies would love to tangle with the Lions again. They lost to St. Viator in the season opener, 14-2.

St. Viator has to face a Marxist team that has a healthy quarterback again. If the Lions win Saturday, once-beaten St. Francis is next. Another victory will propel them into their own Super Bowl against the winner of the Suburban Catholic Conference's West Division.

So, should both achieve their goals, fans could only wonder who's really No. 1.

This may sound like a copout, but I don't know which team really is the best. And, quite possibly, I've seen them in their biggest games so far — Elk Grove beating Forest View and St. Viator beating Holy Cross. Both knocked their opponents from the ranks of the unbeaten on those occasions.

One thing's for sure — based on the only comparison between the two teams (they both beat Hersey by 12 points), a tie-breaker rule would have to be ready if the two teams played.

Hersey Sponsors Bus To Peoria

The Hersey Huskies Booster Club will sponsor a bus down to Peoria Saturday for the state cross country meet. The bus will depart from the front entrance of the school at 6:30 a.m. and return at approximately 4 p.m.

Tickets for the bus are available in the main office of the school at $1 and will be on sale until 1 p.m. Friday.

Crown Dist. 59 Champs In Cross Country Meet

The first annual District 59 Junior High Cross country meet was held last week at Lions Park in Elk Grove.

Cross country is a new sport in District 59. It is generally an outgrowth of intramural sports. Grove Junior High, this year's host for the school district meet, was the only team to run an extensive dual-meet schedule this year. Other schools participating were Lively, Dempster and Holmes.

Here are team points on each level:
Eighth grade — Grove 26, Holmes 50, Lively 73, Dempster 90.
Seventh grade — Lively 30, Holmes 41, Dempster 55, Grove 92.
Sixth grade — Lively 15, Grove 53, Dempster 71.

Races on all three levels were one and one-quarter mile long.

In the eighth grade individual competition, Joe Cullen of Grove was first with a 7:08 time and teammate Rod Pemberton was second with 7:13. Following were Robinson of Dempster, DiPiero of Grove, Choice of Holmes, Ippolito of Holmes, Grimm of Lively, Smith of Holmes, Galey of Grove and Kehoe of Grove.

Cullen bettered his previous best on the same course by 11 seconds and Pemberton improved by 13 seconds.

In seventh-grade action, Sanchez of Lively was first by a commanding margin with 7:19. Other top 10 runners, in order, were Yacino of Dempster, Garner and Druding of Holmes, Keegan, Lorch and Heath of Lively, Doran of Holmes, Lucas of Dempster and Vitacco of Holmes.

In sixth-grade competition Lively ran up a perfect score with the top six runners and eight of the top 10. Martin was the winner in 8:01, followed closely by Foster, Hoos, Sanders, Mohawk and Satalarski. Hammers of Grove came next, then Walker and Ricci of Lively and Carbone of Grove.

Snowmobiles Safety Course Begins Nov. 7

A three-week snowmobile safety course will begin Tuesday evening, Nov. 7.

Open to snowmobile enthusiasts throughout the Chicago metropolitan area, the course is being produced by the Illinois Association of Snowmobile Clubs for the Wood Dale Park District.

Classes will meet on consecutive Tuesday nights, Nov. 7, 14 and 21, from 7:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. in the gymnasium of Highland School, 543 N. Wood Dale Rd. in Wood Dale. Material for the classes includes color films, slides, guest speakers, and a series of booklets on snowmobile safety. The latest in snowmobile trail information will also be available at the classes.

The snowmobile safety course is the second phase of a two-part snowmobile seminar which included a three-week long small engine maintenance course late in October.

Cost of the entire snowmobile safety course is $1. Registration forms and additional information may be obtained by contacting the Wood Dale Park District at 543 N. Wood Dale Rd., Wood Dale, Ill. 60191, or by phoning (312) 595-9333.

Moderator for the snowmobile safety course will be Phil Grisolia, Executive Secretary of the Illinois Association of Snowmobile Clubs.

ALL-OUT EFFORT is apparent by the facial expression of Elk Grove's Damian Archbold as he runs another excellent race to qualify for the state cross country meet. Archbold was ninth among 111 runners in the Barrington sectional with 15:26 for three miles.

Stevenson Tops Aurora Central

by DAN FINKELMAN

The Stevenson Patriots shot down Aurora Central Catholic 20-0 Saturday in one of their best games this year.

The Patriots proved that they can play superior ball in any conditions. The field was so muddy that the numerals on the uniforms could not be seen after ten minutes of play.

The Patriot offense came through and the defense did their job.

The Pats did not have to rely on breaks for this win. The offense put together scoring drives of 51 and 88 yards.

The first score came in the second quarter. Dan Lange carried seven times for 35 yards, finally blasting through from the goal line to give the Patriots a 6-0 lead. Steve Van Demerkt kicked the extra point.

The half ended with this score. The Patriots were showing fine defense despite the condition of the field; their line held extremely well and contained most of the running by Aurora.

Midway through the third quarter Dan Lange intercepted a Rick Hollarbush pass on the 35. After runs by Tom White and Van Demerkt, Lange threaded his way from the 10 into the end zone. For the first time this year, Van Demerkt missed an extra point kick to make the score 13-0.

The final touchdown of the day was scored following an 80 yard drive. From the one foot line Lange vaulted over the goal line to make the score 19-0. Van Demerkt, undisturbed by his previous miss, split the uprights to make the final 20-0.

The Patriots offense didn't have one turnover, Aurora was intercepted three times, twice by Lange and once by Ron Szynski.

The offensive line did a marvelous job, opening big holes for the runners to get through. The Patriot defense was great, gaining their 4th shutout in five wins. Chad Lewis, Dan Lange, Mike Marciniak and Gary Moore all put in fine performances.

This was the last home game of the season, the finale for 13 seniors, but the Patriots will have a fine team next year with running backs Charlie Andrus and Tom White who now run in the shadow of Dan Lange.

Stevenson plays Oak Forest next week at Oak Forest.

Electoral Votes Are What Count

WASHINGTON (UPI) — For the 48th time in 193 years, the American people on Nov. 7 will choose a small group of men and women to elect the next president of the United States.

As all school children are supposed to know and some citizens remember, the United States does not elect its president directly. Instead, the chief executive is chosen by the indirect electoral system.

There are 538 electoral votes — one for each Senator and member of the House of Representatives, plus three for the District of Columbia. One more than half — 270 electoral votes — is needed to win.

Each state gets two electoral votes for its two senators, plus one for each of its House members. New York for years had the largest electoral vote, but as a result of the 1970 census, California moved into the lead, with 45 electoral votes. New York now has 41.

The entire electoral vote of a state is supposed to go to the presidential and vice presidential candidates who get the largest number of popular votes in that state in the general election. In some states, however, electors have balked at casting their votes for their party's official nominees and voted for others. This never has changed the outcome of a presidential election, but the fact that some states permit electors to exercise their own discretion has provoked criticism of the system and prompted proposals to abolish or reform the electoral method.

While some critics have called for direct election of the president, the most seriously considered proposals have called for modifying the present system. Some would simply eliminate the slates of electors who cast the states' votes and automatically award the votes to the winning candidates.

Others would permit division of a state's electoral votes according to the proportion of the popular vote received by the candidates. Electoral reform or abolition would require amendment of the Constitution, and recent attempts to change the system have not even made it through Congress for submission to the state legislatures.

This year, electors chosen in the Nov. 7 balloting will meet Dec. 16 in the state capitals to cast their votes for president and vice president. These results will be sent to Washington and formally counted in a joint session of Congress on Jan. 6, 1973. Two weeks later, the winners declared then but actually known since Nov. 7 or 8 take their oaths of office on the steps of the Capitol.

Nixon, McGovern Reveal Stands On Top Issues

Editors Note: From Vietnam to Israel, welfare to busing, the issues on which the Nov. 7 election will turn have become defined. Correspondent Elizabeth Wharton capsulizes them in the following dispatch.

by ELIZABETH WHARTON
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Here, in their own words where possible, are the stands taken by President Nixon and Sen. George McGovern on the major issues of the 1972 campaign:

Foreign Policy

Nixon: "We have come a long way . . . on the road to ending the Vietnam war and to improving relations with our adversaries. But these initiatives will depend for their lasting meaning on our persistence in seeing them through . . . We will maintain a nuclear deterrent adequate to meet any threat . . . We will help other nations develop the capability of defending themselves. We will faithfully honor all of our treaty commitments. We will act to defend our interests whenever and wherever they are threatened anywhere in the world. But where our interests or our treaty commitments are not involved our role will be limited."

McGovern: "America's new internationalism in the '70s must follow several clear guidelines: First, it must be supported by a strong national defense but one free of waste . . . Second, it must look toward prudent relaxation of tension with potential adversary powers . . . Third, it must look to reestablishment of healthy economic and political relationships with our principal allies and trading partners in Europe, Japan, Canada and Latin America; Fourth, it must avoid the kind of reflexive interventionism that has foolishly involved us in the internal political affairs of other countries; Fifth, it must envision a world community with the capacity to resolve disputes among nations and to end the war between man and his own environment; Sixth it must reassert America's role as a beacon and friend to those millions in the human family desperately striving to achieve the elemental human dignity which all men seek."

Vietnam
Nixon: Once all American prisoners are returned and an internationally supervised cease-fire begins throughout Indochina, all U.S. acts of force throughout Indochina will be halted and a total U.S. withdrawal in four months from Vietnam will begin. "The United States will never agree to a settlement which would impose a Communist government, directly or indirectly, on the people of South Vietnam."

McGovern: "I would order an immediate end to bombing raids . . . as my first act as president. I also would order an end to all U.S. acts of force throughout Indochina and shipment of war supplies, and would start withdrawal of all American troops from Indochina to be completed within 90 days of inauguration day. I would then notify the Communists that we now expect them to release all American prisoners of war and to account for the missing in action within the same 90 day period, and that we will allow the Vietnamese people to work out their own political settlement."

Amnesty
Nixon: Amnesty only after all hostilities have ceased and all prisoners have been returned or accounted for, and then only after a term of equivalent public service.

McGovern: " . . . I would declare amnesty for those men who, on grounds of conscience, resisted the draft by going to jail or into exile." He would not declare a general amnesty for deserters.

Defense
Nixon: "Strong military defenses are not the enemy of peace, they are the guardian of peace. Our ability to build a stable and tranquil world . . . depends on our ability to negotiate from a position of strength."

McGovern: "My recommendations for judicious cuts in the Defense Department budget totalling as much as $10 billion a year for the next three years would involve eliminating waste and fat . . ." He would withdraw all U.S. forces from Asia, cut the size of the forces in Europe and eliminate some new weapons systems.

Environment
Nixon: "Major legislative proposals . . . still awaiting final action include measures to regulate pesticides and toxic substances, to control noise pollution, to restrict dumping in the oceans, in coastal waters and in the Great Lakes, to create and regulate the siting of power plants, to control strip mining, and to help achieve other important environmental goals . . ." The forces which threaten our environment will not wait while we procrastinate."

McGovern: The McGovern agenda would cost $3.5 billion a year and include full funding and enforcement of the water quality control act; a tenfold increase in the number of workplace inspectors; development of tax incentives as a means of curbing industrial pollution; redistribution of highway trust fund money away from highway construction and into mass transit; regulation of stripmining leading to a final phasing out; passage of a bill giving citizens the right to police polluters, and the courts new powers of review over federal agency decisions affecting the environment.

Employment
Nixon: "The economic picture will, I believe, continue to grow brighter . . . We will push to increase employment through our programs for manpower training and public service employment, through our efforts to expand foreign markets, and through other initiatives."

McGovern: The highest priority of my administration will be to ensure that every American able to work has a job to do . . . Our goal will be full employment. Where private enterprise is unable to do it, we'll either stimulate it by government action or we'll provide direct employment in needed services through the government."

Taxes
Nixon: Promised no new presidentially proposed taxes next year if Congress approved the spending limitation of $250 billion a year, but the Congress rejected the administration bill. Nixon also has supported continuation or increase in the oil depletion allowance.

McGovern: "My 'Fair Share' tax program would eliminate special treatment of capital gains, now taxed at half the rate of other income. Money earned by money must be taxed at the same rate as money earned by workers." Other reforms proposed include eliminating or reducing real estate tax shelters, depletion allowances, tax-free municipal bonds and special interest tax shelters, and increasing estate and gift taxes and taxation on foreign assets.

Welfare
Nixon: We are faced this year with the choice between the 'work ethic' that built this nation's character, and the new 'welfare ethic' that could cause the American character to weaken." He has said he intends to propose again the "family assistance program" which Congress failed to pass. In essence it would provide a guaranteed annual income of $2,400 for a family of four.

McGovern: His revised welfare program includes liberalization of social security to remove the aged poor from welfare; creation of public service jobs to provide employment for at least 1 million workers now on welfare; and a guarantee of $4,000 a year in cash and food stamps to a family of four which has no other income and no member able to work.

Inflation
Nixon: "Inflation has been cut in half" under the new economic program of 1971. "Our program of wage and price controls is working . . . When we achieve an end to the inflationary psychology which developed in the 1960s we will return to our traditional policy of relying on free market forces to determine wages and prices."

McGovern: The fair wage-price policy I propose can work only as a part of an over-all change in the economic direction of America. The policy . . . would come into effect as the wasteful and highly inflationary Vietnam War comes to an end." His inflation control plan would eliminate the Pay Board and Price Commission and give the president the authority instead to require rollbacks in excessive wage or price boosts.

Health
Nixon: The proposed Health Insurance Act would require employers to provide health insurance from available private companies for employees and to pay the entire costs. It also includes a family plan in which the government would finance insurance for a family of four with an income below $3,000 a year.

McGovern: "I propose instead a government health insurance program which would assure minimal care as a matter of right, not a matter of wealth. We must see that life and death, emergency treatment and long-term hospitalization, preventive care and operative care, depend not on the size of the individual's bank account but on the state of his health."

Land To Be Top Investment: Janeway

by LEA TONKIN

Buying stock in the raffle on Wall Street is a sucker's game compared to investing in land and watching it grow in value, according to economist Elliot Janeway.

He discussed investments, politics and the economy in a kick-off luncheon for the O'Hare Executives Club Tuesday at the Chicago Marriott Motor Hotel.

Despite his plug for land investment and an emphatic statement that there will be wage and price controls throughout next year, the question and answer session following Janeway's speech was dominated by queries on the stock market.

Janeway, author and lecturer on the economy for years, billed himself as a realistic optimist. He said his latest book, "You and Your Money" (A Survival Guide to the Controlled Economy), offers evidence of this attitude.

"I play second fiddle to none in my extremist commitment to optimism," Janeway said. "And I think my optimism is realistic."

Commenting on the impact of politics and the stock market, Janeway said he correctly predicted the tumble in the Dow Jones average as President Johnson was elected. He projects a Dow Jones average reaching 2,000, the difficulty being that it's "going there by way of 500." He did not set a date for the steep rise in this average.

JANEWAY SAID he does not expect interest rates to drop in the near future. The pressure will remain on stocks yielding in the 6 per cent range, he said, as interest rates remain at 8 per cent level.

The U.S. is set for a monumental change in money-using habits, the economist said. He sees a shift of spending to the building and rebuilding of cities.

On top of a suburbanization boom, Janeway said, the farm boom is also accelerating. This can mean a hefty profit for investors in farm properties, he said, as the flight of money from industry and cities reaches to outlying areas and bids up the price of land.

As this trend continues, the highest prices will go for land in areas surrounding well-planned municipalities — declaring a dividend for these efforts.

BUILDERS WILL need to be married to financial institutions which can supply the capital to build complete cities in which to live and work, Janeway added.

The government, "ingenious though it is, it's never found a way to print land," he continued. Janeway contrasts the limited land supply with the enormous amounts of U.S. Treasury nonnegotiable notes, or "garbage," which were peddled overseas in the past year.

On the subject of taxes, Janeway said the public is being subjected to proposals by McGovern economists (a policy of "permanent crisis") and the Nixon economists (an "instant catastrophe" policy). Inflation is a hidden, recurring tax on all U.S. citizens, said Janeway, adding that a nonrecurring tax is a better alternative.

Name Campus Coordinator

Fred A. Vaisvil has been named campus coordinator for the 1972-73 student achievement recognition program at Harper College in Palatine.

As campus coordinator, Vaisvil will supervise the soliciting and gathering of entries, judging, and publicity activities for the student competition, being sponsored for the fourth successive year by Continental Bank, Chicago.

Two Harper College students, one man and one woman, will be chosen next February by locally-selected judges as winners of the campus competition. The two will be those who have best demonstrated noteworthy achievement toward their desired career goals and who have shown leadership qualities through participation in campus and community activities.

The winners each will receive a $100 cash award and a certificate of merit and their names will be permanently inscribed on a school plaque. They will also compete in the district and state competitions.

Last year, Sandra Gale Smith of Hoffman Estates and Rich Cook of Arlington Heights, were selected as the two outstanding Harper students.

Entry applications are available at Harper's division offices, the college information office, and the placement office. They are accepted from students, faculty, and administration sponsors until Jan. 12, 1973, and should be submitted to Fred Vaisvil at the placement office.

To be eligible, students must be in good academic standing, and enrolled in a community college with nine semester hours or 12 quarter hours completed at the time of the final judging in April.

Hockey Course Open To Public

Hockey fans may rub shoulders with hockey players in a new course beginning next Thursday at Harper College in Palatine.

Gene Wasco, instructor for the noncredit Hockey course, is coach of Harper's intramural hockey team. His team members will be included in the class enrollment.

Jack Fuller, dean of continuing education, said, "The hockey course is open to the public. It will be of interest to coaches of small hockey teams as well as to hockey fans."

The course will be held in Room D-211 on Thursdays, 6 to 8 p.m., from Nov. 9 through Jan. 11. Fee is $15.

Wasco will teach basic skills, strategies and conditioning exercises for team play.

College Credit Tests Offered

Harper College in Palatine will be administering monthly examinations to provide college credit for persons who have never attended college beginning in November.

The Office of Testing Services at Harper College in Palatine will administer the College-Level Examination Program (CLEP) general examinations on Nov. 14 and the CLEP subject examinations on Nov. 16.

Applications for the November exams must be received today. Applications for December should be received by the Office of Testing Services by Nov. 24 for exams on Dec. 12 and 14.

The general examinations measure achievement in five basic areas of the liberal arts: English composition, humanities, mathematics, natural sciences, and social sciences and history.

Subject examinations measure achievement in specific subjects.

Harper is one of a small but growing number of Illinois colleges authorized to administer the CLEP tests. Individual colleges determine which CLEP tests will be accepted in terms of credit.

Registration admission forms and the monthly date schedule for these examinations are available from the Harper Office of Testing Services, telephone 359-4200, extension 241.

Present Panel On Temporary Shelter

A panel discussion on the needs for temporary shelter for children in the Northwest Suburbs was presented recently in Rolling Meadows High School faculty lounge before about 70 persons.

Residents from Hoffman Estates, Palatine, Arlington Heights, Mount Prospect, Wheeling, Prospect Heights, Schaumburg and Rolling Meadows were present as was Barry Schoenbrod of the Illinois Department of Correction.

After the panel presentation, a questions and answer period revealed a strong desire to see such a shelter care program develop, and an understanding of the problems involved in taking the idea into actual reality. Jean Fisler, panel member and staff consultant at the Bridge in Palatine, who has a law degree and has practiced juvenile and family law in California commented, "As soon as word got out that we were considering such a program, the phone calls came in with requests for a place — like yesterday. But it takes time."

Bob Greco, administrative assistant of the Northwest Human Resources Development Center of Rolling Meadows, was another panel member, and he commented on the society today which has too often raised a "throwaway child." On a positive note he commented that we are a family oriented society, and perhaps we could enlarge our concept of family to that of the community as a family indicating that a children's shelter program would follow this line of thinking, "the community could act as a family and provide for our children."

ter program would follow this line of thinking, "the community could act as a family and provide for our children."

JENNIE REICHERS, panel member and staff member of the Arlington Heights Memorial Library, reviewed the progress of the Northwest Suburban Shelter Care Program since its first meeting in July, revealing that Judge White of the Juvenile Court had met with the group as had representatives of the Illinois Department of Children and Family Services. Both resources had indicated an approval of the plans so far and encouragement to continue.

Roderick McLennan, assistant superintendent of School District 214 and panel member, spoke on the role played by the school system in the serving of youth and aiding the NSSCP as it has evolved. The future role of the school system and educators was mentioned as being a topic of discussion within the steering committee in the months ahead. Dr. McLennan noted that in July "there were just a handful of people who were working on this problem, and tonight all of you have become part of the working group. That's good."

Paul Buckholz of the Arlington Heights Youth Bureau relayed instances of when the police department could have used a Shelter Care facility. He commented, "Statistics don't mean that much, because just one child sitting in my office with no place to go is one too many."

The Volunteer Service Bureau, Northwest Cook County, was represented as moderator on the panel by the central office coordinator, Esther Rabchuk, who outlined the bureau's position as a "catalyst" for a group of citizens attempting to bring about a community service, and noted that the initial endeavor of the NSSCP was to provide volunteer foster homes. The bureau attempts to advise all volunteer programs into quality programs with adequate training for the volunteer and adequate protection for the volunteer.

THE FUNDING of such a Shelter Care is another question which the group realized would be a topic for discussion by the steering committee. Mrs. Fisler indicated that many grants are for two or three-year periods only, and she further indicated that the trend for financial aid is when several different communities or agencies band together to bring about a mutual service facility.

The NSSCP will meet again today at which time the steering committee will be formed; and another public meeting will be scheduled when the steering committee has a plan of action ready.

Those present on the evening of Oct. 25 were encouraged to speak among their acquaintances about the program and to encourage any sources of funding both now and into the future. The steering committee size is expected to be between seven and 20 members with resource people available on occasion.

Do-It-Yourself

Too many wooden chairs are relegated to the attic, tossed on the rubbish heap or broken up for kindling wood.

Chairs that groan and squeak may be ready to give out but that's no reason for tossing them away.

Like anything else, catching the problem right away keeps it from being a serious problem. You're ahead if you take the trouble to disassemble the chair and reglue all the pieces.

Most people make the mistake of trying to repair a chair with nails or screws. Not only is the result unsightly but you have set up a situation where the repaired joint may crack.

Remove the loose rung and clean off all the old glue, using sandpaper to get it all off. The hole in the leg must be cleaned out also. A round file or a knife can be used to scrape out hardened glue.

A GOOD TRICK to help remove hardened glue is pouring a little vinegar in the hole.

Sanding and scraping will make the fit even looser than before. To tighten the joint, cut a notch in the end of the rung and force a wooden wedge into the cut. This will expand the rung.

You also can make the fit tight by thickening the glue with a little sawdust. Do this if the rung is still loose.

Spread glue on both rungs and the inner surface of the hole in the leg. Force the rung into place. Wipe off the excess glue that oozes out. Clamp or tie as tight as you can with rope or strong twine.

A seat frame that comes loose can be reinforced with metal corner braces or wood blocks. Just screw in place.

Blocks are neater. Just cut a triangular piece of wood and fasten in the corners with screws and wood glue.

Chairs that seem to be loose all over should be taken completely apart and re-assembled. Don't mix up parts from different chairs. They look alike but they've worn differently over the years.

The Classic French Provincial

Outstanding for its angular roof design and rounded window gables, the French Provincial offers a unique exterior styling that is a graceful departure from the ordinary.

The bold extension of depth to the roof line offers a distinctive contrast to the brick or siding and also allows for the bold use of high arched windows.

The French Provincial is also designed to include a spacious, impressive center entry foyer that allows for dramatic decor that complements the staircase and gives an immediate impression of glamour and dignity.

There are numerous floor plans adaptable for the French Provincial and many various exterior touches but essentially, the French Provincial reflects the elegance of old world charm and sophistication in a most pleasant and spacious attitude for gracious living.

Colony Country Holds Open House

Formal grand opening has been held for one of the largest new country condominium homes and country condominium communities in Chicago's Northwest suburbs — Colony Country on Old Orchard in Mount Prospect.

Furnished country condominium home models are now open for inspection in the $100 million development set on 230 acres at Rand Road (Rte. 12) and Euclid-Lake Street, according to the developer, Hollywood Builders, Inc.

Models of the country condominium apartment homes have been open for several months in the sales office at the site.

Prior to the official grand opening, Hollywood Builders executives reported advanced sales in the millions of dollars.

JACK F. NETCHIN, president of Hollywood Builders, and Manuel S. Kramer, vice president of the company, said a tremendous amount of interest has been shown in the community since the first shovel of ground was turned.

The community is being built around the prestigious Old Orchard Country Club, which will not be touched because of a 50-year covenant that guarantees permanent retention of the commons.

A total of 2,100 condominium living units will be built, including 286 two-story, three-bedroom country condominium homes. The country condominium homes will be built in four, six, and eight-unit structures depending on their location and how they relate to the surroundings.

Prices will start at $51,900 for the country condominium homes; from $33,900 for the country condominiums that will be built in four-story structures and five twin medium-rise buildings.

ONE, TWO, AND three-bedroom country condominium apartment residences will be offered, according to the Hollywood officials.

The buildings will overlook the spacious greens of the golf course, with its gently rolling terrain and ponds.

The prime goal of Hollywood Builders was to preserve the natural beauty of the country setting. It is one of the Chicago area's most desirable locations.

Shopping, schools, recreation facilities, and transportation are all close to the community.

In addition to the golfing facilities, Colony Country will offer indoor and outdoor swimming, tennis, and a recreational center with saunas, game rooms, billiards, shuffleboard, and even horseshoe pits.

Colony Country models can be reached by taking Rand Road (Rte. 12) north to Euclid-Lake Street, watch for signs.

How To Prevent Fires In The Home

Every 37 seconds, a fire breaks out somewhere in the United States. Of these fires, approximately one in three damages or destroys someone's home. No matter what the season, fire can be a relentless enemy and you must be on guard.

Here are some hints from experts in The Hartford Insurance Group's Junior Fire Marshal program, on how to prevent fire in the home:

1. Make youngsters promise not to play with matches and never to build a fire except under adult supervision. More than 27,000 fires each year are caused by children playing with matches.

2. Look through your basement, attic and garage and get rid of old newspapers and other fire-kindling material.

3. Make sure any paint, varnish or oil stored in the garage or basement is kept in tightly closed metal containers and away from the furnace.

4. Get a yearly check-up on all heating equipment. Defective heating and cooking equipment causes one out of every three fires.

5. Keep ashes from the fireplace or furnace in a covered, hole-free metal container and dispose of them frequently.

6. Check to make sure any flammable liquids in the basement or garage are stored in safety-approved metal containers.

7. Have trash and rubbish burned only in a wire mesh or other suitable incinerator.

8. Unplug the iron cord when the iron is not in use, even for a short time.

9. Be sure that all mops are hung in a safe, well-ventilated place. Check to see that oily rags are either thrown out or kept in metal containers. Oily mops and rags can burst into flame all by themselves.

10. Check on all lamps and electrical appliances to make sure they are not frayed or worn.

11. Make sure that all extension cords are in the open — not over hooks, under rugs, or through partitions or doorways where the insulation may get worn off and be the cause of fire.

12. Be sure that portable heaters are kept away from curtains, drapes, furniture, walls and partitions. Heaters should be regularly checked for leaks and cleanliness.

13. Make sure that your fireplace is covered by a metal fire screen.

14. See if proper-size fuses are in the fuse ... and that spare fuses are on hand.

15. Careless smokers cause more fires than anyone else. Never smoke in bed. And be sure that matches and cigarettes are out before leaving them.

16. Discuss the subject of fire with the whole family. Plan how you would escape from each room of the house if fire cut off one or more exits.

17. Check the location of nearest fire alarm box. And learn how to call the fire department.

18. Remind the family that the local fire chief is always willing to offer advice about individual fire problems. When in doubt about any hazardous condition, always seek professional help.

For safety's sake, heed these hints and put them into effect now. Don't let a dangerous situation hang fire.

THE 14-BY-16-FOOT master bedroom on the first floor of the Model 50 home being shown by Albert Riley, builder at Dartmouth Village in Wheaton and Fairfax Village in Rolling Meadows, has room enough for king-size furniture and a breakfast area with a private garden view. Furnished model shown was designed by Richard Honquest and Associates and is on display at Dartmouth Village.

Home Ownership Is For The Youth, Says Knecht

Young people just getting started with their families often look on the purchase of a home as something quite beyond them financially. Yet those are the very ones who should be seriously considering it, according to Ernest Knecht, president, Chicago Real Estate Board.

They have a rising scale of earning power ahead of them, and what may be a tight budget now will be easier as time passes. Payments on a home are seldom higher than rent if the young couple chooses something within their income level.

That is not to say that home ownership is always right for young people. Situations such as a job requiring frequent relocation, lack of down payment, and other factors may indicate that home purchase isn't the wise course. Decisions should be made from the facts, however, not from the lack of them.

The usual comparison of rent receipts against growing equity in a house is valid. Modest monthly payments on a mortgage, even at today's high interest rates, will accumulate substantial equity growth over five to ten years. There will be added advantages of income tax deductions for taxes paid and interest paid, and the satisfaction of ownership.

ON THE OTHER SIDE of the coin is the fact that rental payments can sometimes buy more spacious quarters than the same figure in mortgage payments. The mobility afforded by renting is sometimes so attractive that renters are willing to forego the advantages of accumulated capital. There are also no hot water heaters to replace, shurbs to buy and other maintenance costs that could come at an awkward time financially.

Sometimes the solution is buying low-cost income property, a duplex, for instance. The down payment requirement is usually comparable to a single-family residence, but half the property is supplying income from rental, which helps make the payment. Upkeep is generally higher, and there is some inconvenience because ownership of income-producing property carries some additional responsibilities with it.

In a few years, however, it may be possible to use both sides of the duplex for income and buy a single-family house. The income will probably pay for the duplex with some left over to apply against the house payments, at the same time building an estate for a young family with no strain on the budget.

All of this is not to say that young people should enter into home ownership without an understanding of the obligations they would assume and the value and legal status of title to the property. If they look at the facts of their particular circumstance, however, getting advice from a Realtor, banker or other professional where they need it, it could be a step toward security that they will enjoy as the years pass.

Residential Sales Fall Off In County

Recorded sales of existing one-to-four-unit residential properties in Cook County fell off from August's record-breaking pace, according to First Federal Savings of Chicago's September Home Sales Index. However, September was still the second most active month of 1972, and sales for the year are well ahead of the 1971 mark at this time.

With a dollar volume of $117,970,918 from 3,540 sales, September, 1972, slipped back 15.9 per cent — or $22,282,582 — from the $140,253,500 recorded for August. There were 584 fewer sales in September than in August, a decrease of 14.2 per cent.

However, the dollar volume and number of sales for this August were the highest recorded in the past two years. When compared to the sales for September, 1971, this September's sales show a substantial gain. Dollar volume is $32,719,618 higher this month than the $85,251,300 reported for last year at the same time, a jump of 38.4 per cent. There were 858 more sales made than the 2,682 shown for September, 1971, a gain of 32.0 per cent.

How To Visit A Model Home

Along with a record number of new home starts this year have come record numbers of crowds to inspect the newest models.

The heavy visitor traffic at model home sites can pose problems, which is why advance planning can make your home tours more rewarding.

Knowing what to do when you go through a model home can help you get the most out of the visit, and also contribute to the comfort and pleasure of those who follow you.

Here are the specific suggestions made to help you make your model home inspections pleasurable:

1. Try to schedule your visits to model homes before 2 p.m. on Saturdays and Sundays, when the largest crowds show up.
2. Dress comfortably. Women are urged to wear low-heel shoes or flats to avoid fatigue.
3. Use the designated parking space provided by the builder. Avoid parking where you'll block drives, walks, and other cars. Parking in the right place is your assurance that your car won't be blocked when you're ready to leave.
4. Carry small toddlers or else hold them firmly by the hand.
5. You'll have an easier time, your shoes will stay clean, and so will the model homes if you stay on the walks and driveways.
6. Furniture and washroom facilities in the model homes are for show only. Most builders provide facilities for use in the sales office.
7. If you carry a note pad and pencil to jot down questions as you go through a model, you'll remember pertinent points to discuss later on with the salesman.
8. Close the outside doors firmly as you enter and leave the model home. This will keep the model warm in winter when the furnace is operating and cool in the summer when the air conditioning is on.
9. Carrying food such as popcorn, ice cream bars, and soft drinks through a model inevitably leads to mishaps, not only to the model but perhaps to your own clothes. If hunger or thirst suddenly strike, most builders will provide some sort of refreshment in the sales office.
10. During busy periods, salesmen may get tied up with customers and prospects. They'd like to get to you as soon as they can, so be patient. When your turn comes, the salesman will be happy to spend as much time with you as you require.

Jefferson Township continued to lead Cook County's 33 townships in sales activity, with 8.9 per cent of the total dollar volume and 9.1 per cent of the total number of sales, with 323 sales totaling $10,549,500.

Second in number volume was Lake Township with 292 sales, 8.2 per cent of the county total. Calumet Township with 206 sales, 5.8 per cent, was third.

Wheeling Township placed second in dollar volume with $8,224,000 for 7.0 per cent of county receipts. Lake Township was third, with $7,368,000 for 6.2 per cent.

The month's figures bring 1972's total to $842,523,918 for 26,232 sales. This represents an 8.6 per cent increase in dollar volume and an 8.1 per cent gain in number volume over the $775,883,600 in sales on 24,273 transactions reached by this time last year.

Commenting on the current mortgage market, James C. Fitzmaurice, who heads First Federal Savings of Chicago's mortgage department, said: "The real change in the home mortgage market has not been interest rates, or even the immense volume it has rolled up, although those things are real enough." The real change, he said, is in the attitude of realtors, builders and lenders toward private financing, especially the growing acceptance of the low down-payment plans with 90 to 95 per cent financing.

"The low downpayment purchase has become acceptable. There is no longer a social stigma attached to it for the buyer," Fitzmaurice said. "The seller likes it — it broadens his market. Even the regulatory agencies have accepted it as part of the real world."

September Housing Down

Construction activity in the six county metropolitan area of Chicago declined 36 per cent last month from figures reported for the same month in 1971, according to the Bell Federal Savings Survey of New Building.

According to that survey, the number of housing units (apartment and single-family) for which permits were issued last month reached only 4,775 compared to the 7,455 reported in September, 1971.

Single-family homes declined 44 per cent (from 3,341 to 1,875) and multiple permits decreased 30 per cent (from 4,114 to 2,900).

The sharpest decrease was noted in apartment units in the City of Chicago where only 87 permits were reported while 592 were recorded in September last year.

The combined totals of permits issued for single-family and apartment units in the first nine months of 1972 were 11 per cent lower than figures reported for the same period last year reaching only 40,833 compared to 45,944 in 1971.

Again the largest gap in the nine month analysis occurred in multi-family units in the City of Chicago which reached 6,308 in 1971 while 2,938 were recorded during the first nine months of this year.

Kole Reports New Expansion In Barrington

Opening of a residential sales office serving the Barrington area has been announced by Kole Real Estate Ltd. Since 1964, Kole Real Estate has grown from a single sales office in Rolling Meadows to seven offices staffed by over 100 professionals serving the northwest suburban area.

This expansion is the fourth in slightly over a year after the opening of Park Ridge, Mount Prospect and Arlington Heights locations in October of 1971.

Robert A. Kole, president, has expressed confidence that with the addition of Barrington, Kole's sales volume will far exceed the $20,609,700 achieved since the beginning of the year. He also disclosed that additional office openings are planned for the near future.

Realtor Board Supports Tax Freeze Proposal

Realtor Arthur W. Pipenhagen, president of the Northwest Suburban Board of Realtors, has announced the board's support of Gov. Richard Ogilvie's stand to freeze real estate taxes in Illinois.

The Illinois Association of Real Estate Boards, he said, has long been in favor of this kind of action and has urged relief of the property tax burden in one form or another. The Northwest Suburban Board is a member of the Illinois Association.

Pipenhagen went on to say that government must find other sources for financing the various projects it undertakes. Property owners in Illinois have long shouldered the burden of financing government and particularly the schools, and have reached a point where higher real estate taxes would make it impractical for many small property owners to continue ownership of their real estate.

Real estate owners no longer can be at the top of the priority list for tax increases when government, at any level, needs more money to finance a new or broadened project.

REALTOR Vincent D. Penza, 1973 president of the Illinois Association of Real Estate Boards issued a similar statement, and also said monies coming from federal government tax-sharing programs will give county and local governments in particular more money than they have received in the past. The ideal situation, he said, would be for those governments to cut real estate taxes by a certain percentage of the amount of monies received from those tax-sharing programs.

Pipenhagen said he also hoped that property owners will personally contact their legislators and urge their support of the freeze. This is what real estate people and property owners have been waiting for, he said.

He urged all interested parties to immediately contact legislators, and candidates for the Legislature, before the elections so their stand can be determined before going to the ballot box.

Pipenhagen pointed out, however, that the money that might be received from the federal government is money that first was taken from Illinois taxpayers.

The members of the Northwest suburban Board of Realtors are among the more than 13,000 members of the Illinois Association of Real Estate Boards across Illinois who are urging that the real estate tax freeze become a reality.

Tollway Key To Development In Kane-McHenry County

When the southeast McHenry County village of Huntley commissioned a planning consultant firm to study its future, the resulting 1964 report stressed the importance of an interchange between the Northwest Tollway and Ill. Rte. 47.

And when that interchange was dedicated two miles south of town in August, 1972, some of the more optimistic residents began to talk of the Huntley area as the "next Schaumburg," referring to the rapid growth of that Northwest suburb.

Wayne Miller, president of the State Bank of Huntley, likens the rolling, lake-dotted landscape around the village in McHenry and adjoining Kane County more to "another Barrington."

"WHATEVER DIRECTION it takes, the area is sure to grow," said Miller, who was chairman of the Huntley Plan Commission at the time of the 1964 report. He cited those findings of Evert Kincaid and Associates, Chicago, planning consultants, now William S. Lawrence and Associates: "... The socio-economic expansion of this area pushes northwest along U.S. Rte. 14, the Chicago and North Western Rwy., and the Northwest Tollway. Huntley is located almost in the middle of this northwest expansion path."

There have been reports of developers' optioning several-hundred-acre tracts in the area, about 50 miles northwest of Chicago, and at least one farm-owner is asking $5,000 an acre for land that could have been bought a year ago for $1,800.

The 1964 planning report emphasized the need for modern food-retailing facilities for Huntley, which was established as a farm equipment and supply point and in addition has become a center for light manufacturing.

Availability of jobs in Huntley's industry will help growth of the area, too, Miller believes. Seventeen firms, led by Union Special Machine Co. (industrial sewing machines) with a payroll of nearly 700, have 15 or more employees. Many of the total of nearly 1,500 employed in Huntley commute from such nearby communities as Algonquin, West Dundee, Hampshire, Union and Crystal Lake, but they help support retail establishments in the village.

"We feel that the area has a strong economic base," Miller said. "Our improved access from Chicagoland's expressway system — the Rte 47-Interstate 90 interchange — should make the Huntley area a prime target for the next wave of suburban residential construction for those who work in the city but desire country surroundings for their homes."

General Manager Named By Baird & Warner

Robert G. Walters, vice president, has been named general manager of the residential sales division of Baird & Warner, Inc., Diversified Chicago-based real estate firm, it was announced by John W. Baird, president.

The position is a new one created by a reorganization of the firm's sales division effective Jan. 1, 1973, according to Baird. Walters was district sales manager of the company's Arlington Heights and Mt. Prospect offices.

Under the new organization, the post of general sales manager will be eliminated and the company will have a residential sales division and a commercial, income and industrial sales division.

As general manager of the new residential sales division, Walters will be in charge of the company's 27 Chicago area branch sales offices and also responsible for the company's continuing expansion of its residential sales offices in the Chicago metropolitan area.

Walters joined Baird & Warner in 1957 as a salesman in their Park Ridge office and was named district sales manager in Arlington Heights in 1960. In 1964 he established an office in Mount Prospect. He has been one of the firm's leading sales producers.

He attended Duke University and held the rank of ensign obtained at Notre Dame Midshipman School in the United States Naval Reserve. He is a GRI (Graduate of the Realtors Institute of Illinois) and a life member of the Million Dollar Club of the Illinois Association of Real Estate Boards. Walters has served as president and director of the MAP Multiple Listing Service and treasurer of the Northwest Suburban Board of Realtors and as past president of Arlington Heights Chamber of Commerce.

Sheehy Named Sales Manager

James L. Sheehy has been appointed general sales manager of United Development Co., Walter L. Sebring, vice president and director of marketing, announced. Sheehy will be responsible for management of sales programs at the company's major single-family and condominium communities in the Chicago area.

James Sheehy

Sheehy is a native of Louisville, Ky., and a graduate of the University of Louisville. He brings to United 20 years of experience in the construction field, serving most recently as sales manager for a major Chicago area homebuilder.

United Development Company is currently developing Stonebridge on Cherry Creek, a single family home community in Hazel Crest, Ill.; Stonebridge condominiums, also in Hazel Crest; The Park of River Oaks; Village on the Lake in Elk Grove Village; Village Green in Calumet City, and Chambord in Oakbrook. United is a subsidiary of Urban Investment and Development Co.

'Ready-Made' Gives Home Luxury Look

You don't have to wear expensive custom-made clothes to look like a million. Neither does your home.

Moderately priced houses, like average wage-earners, get the "luxury look" from the availability and variety of ready-made products that often rival custom work for beauty and detail. Many homes, for example, are "dressed up" with stock woodwork of ponderosa pine that makes the whole house look expensive.

Luxury fashion in a home or wardrobe usually results from tasteful detailing and the visual distinction it adds. The rich grain in wood gives it natural detail. In stock woodwork, design and precision-manufacturing do the rest.

The visual effectiveness is evident in deep-carved wood panel doors, the filigree pattern of multi-light windows, sharply "sculptured" louver doors, the shadowlines of wood panel shutters, and the handsome grooves and turnings of moldings, cornices and fireplace mantels.

When such features are custom-made, their use can hike home cost out of reach of most families. The wide variety of stock quality woodwork of ponderosa pine is available at local lumber and building supply dealers.

Model Nearly Completed In La Fontaine Area

One of the most popular of the models now on display at La Fontaine — all-residential community now nearing completion at East Lake Ave. and Pfingsten Road, in Glenview — is the "Clermont."

The "Clermont" is a spacious, four-bedroom home with 2½ baths and basement. The basic design is priced at $67,500, including paneled family-rec room and two-car attached garage.

The appeal of the well-planned "Cler-mont" is felt immediately upon entering the home. The paneled double front doors are custom-crafted and are reached via a recessed, veranda-like porch. The foyer is unusually large, with the wide stairs leading up to the second floor in two flights, railing and woodwork in traditional colonial finish.

To one side of the entry is the living room, measuring 20' by 13'. To the other side is the formal dining room. The latter is 13' by over 10' in size. Here, two multi-paned windows look out onto the recessed front veranda, permitting plenty of natural light into the room.

THE KITCHEN, offers plenty of cabinet space in a room, yet convenient and practical, U-layout. The built-in appliances, all in attractive matched color tones, include oven and range, dishwasher and disposal. The adjacent breakfast and informal eating area, conveniently semi-open to the kitchen proper, is approximately 11, by 9' in size.

Special features here are two pantry-utility closets. The laundry-utility room — with an outside rear entrance and inside door to the garage — is at one end of the kitchen; the powder room is at the other end, off a short corridor leading to the family room.

The latter is beautifully paneled and measures well over 20' in length and 12' in width. Sliding window doors open out to the rear patio area, and a big inviting fireplace at the far end of the room is a popular option.

Upstairs, again, the visitor is impressed with the comfortable roominess of the layout. The three large bedrooms are convenient to the family bath, which has a double-basin vanity and offers a wide choice of ceramic-tiled finishes and fixtures in complementary colors. The master suite is over 19' long and 13' wide and features a spacious private bath and dressing area, with an unusually large walk-in closet.

The "Clermont" and other models may be inspected daily at La Fontaine, from 10 to 6. Entrance to the community is at Pfingsten Road and East Lake Avenue, in Glenview. It is readily reached via Edens Expressway, turning west at Lake Ave.; or via Tri-State Tollway, turning east at Willow Road to Pfingsten, then one mile south to the models.

TIPS TO HOME BUYERS AND HOME SELLERS

FROM
MAP MULTIPLE LISTING REAL ESTATE SERVICE

IT PAYS TO LIST WITH THE LEADERS

There are many, many reasons why it pays to list your home with a MAP Multiple Listing Real Estate office, but actually, when all is said and done, it's really RESULTS that count.

MAP "results" can best be reflected in the overall sales figures compiled by the entire MAP organization. Thus far in 1972, all participating MAP offices have sold a total of over $158,000,000. Month after month, year after year, MAP sales figures show continual increases, due mainly to the fact that MAP GETS RESULTS, and results are what home buyers and sellers demand.

When you're ready to sell, talk over the current market situation with a MAP broker in your area and get all the facts on why MAP gets the job done, quickly and conveniently.

Simple Procedure For Varnishing Job

Is there a varnishing project on the agenda? For the smooth, bubble-free finish that sometimes seems so difficult to achieve, try this simple procedure:

Use a soft bristle brush of good quality.

Grip the brush by the ferrule, allowing the handle to rest between thumb and forefinger.

Dip the brush in the varnish, to no more than one-third of the length of the bristles.

Steeple Run Gets Its First Family

The $60 million residential community of Steeple Run near Naperville now has its own "first family." Mr. and Mrs. Melvin McNeer, so honored by the Realty Co. of America as they became the first family to move into Steeple Run.

The McNeers gained the honor of "first family" only days before some other two dozen families also moved into Steeple Run, located on Maple Avenue near Ill. Rte. 53 in DuPage County. Mel and his wife, Anne, and their two children, Alan, 5, and Melinda, 3, purchased Steeple Run's four-bedroom, two-and-a-half bath Willowood. Mel is employed by the Drackett Co.

Bill Kamphouse, sales manager who welcomed the McNeers with a bouquet of roses and a bottle of champagne, expects more families to be living in Steeple Run by year's end.

"STEEPLE RUN was built to the land with its rolling hills, instead of leveling the land," Kamphouse remarked. Lakes were added, trees were planted, and then came the homes built to the land, around the lakes, and among the trees . . . and now the families are arriving with the McNeers leading the way. Realco found a meadow in DuPage County, and now it's become a spacious community geared to the indoor-outdoor living requirements of today's families."

Steeple Run features a wide variety of home styles and designs high-lighted by lakes interspersed throughout a private park. Steeple Run will feature recreational facilities including a clubhouse, swimming pool, tennis and basketball courts, ice skating, baseball and football field, bicycle and walking paths, and playgrounds.

Directions to Steeple Run: East-West Tollway or Ogden Avenue to Rte. 53 (Morton Arboretum exit). Then go south on Rte. 53 to Maple Avenue, then west on Maple for approximately one mile to Steeple Run. From the western suburbs, take Rte. 53 to Maple Avenue, then west on Maple Avenue to Steeple Run.

Condominiums Are Booming

"Condominium" has become one of the most used words in the entire lexicon of home builders, buyers, Realtors and developers — and in every part of the country.

"It has reached the point where builders simply cannot keep up with the demand," observes Durand A. Holladay, managing trustee of Continental Mortgage Investors, Boston, who adds that "six loans totaling $22,633,500 have been made only recently by Continental Mortgage — and the funds are being used to build 657 new condominiums."

Continental Mortgage, the nation's largest independently sponsored real estate trust in mortgage lending, has made over $1.5 billion in mortgage loans since 1962. Shares of CMI are traded on the New York and other leading stock exchanges.

The geographical spread of the six CMI loans strongly underscores Holladay's statement that the popularity of condominiums is not confined to any one section of the country.

THE CONDOMINIUM UNITS will be built in Destin, Fla.; Guanica, Puerto Rico; Miami, Fla.; Upper Arlington, Ohio; Spokane, Wash.; and Mammoth Lakes, Calif. Some will be primary residences; some are being built as second or leisure homes. There are high-rise developments and garden apartment-type projects. And the price range — it is wide — from $17,900 up to $75,425.

The largest of the loans — $6,302,000 — was made to Shoreline Towers, Inc. in Destin for the construction of 195 condominiums on a 21-acre site near Eglin Air Force Base. The units, to be built in three 12-story buildings, will sell for an average of $44,600. Amenities will include a spring-fed lake, a pool, recreation building and beach frontage along the Gulf of Mexico, available on a $25-a-month recreation lease and a $30-a-month maintenance lease.

The upsurge in condominium popularity and construction has truly been amazing. In fact, in 1963, only one state — Arkansas — had a law governing condominium construction. Today — every state in the union has condo legislation on its books.

Continental Real Estate Opens 21st Suburb Office

Fast-growing Continental Real Estate has opened its 21st Chicagoland suburban office at 150 W. Higgins Rd. in the Golf-Rose Shopping Center, Bob McGuire, president of Continental, announced from the firm's corporate office in Elmhurst.

Realtor Bob Love is manager of the new sales office that will serve the entire Hoffman Estates-Schaumburg area. The office will provide a full range of services to both residential and commercial sellers and buyers including no-obligation value estimates and appraisals plus investment counseling for real estate investors.

Love pointed out that Continental offers full-market coverage for sellers because the firm is a member of both MAP and Northwest Suburban Board Multiple Listing Services. Continental also offers relocation services in all 50 states through its membership in International Realty Consultants Inc.

Prior to his new appointment Love was sales manager of Continental's Villa Park office. He served previously as a broker-salesman for the company. He is a member of the National Association of Real Estate Boards, the Illinois Association of Real Estate Boards, and the Northwest Suburban Board of Realtors. He was a member of the IAREB's Million Dollar Club in 1971 and already has participated in excess of $1 million in sales in 1972.

Love, his wife and two children live in Schaumburg.

Living/Bedroom Is New Concept

A relatively new decorating concept is the living/bedroom. To turn a bedroom into a living/bedroom, you must first think of the functions you wish it to perform. Will it be a place to study, to read, to have a late snack or to watch television?

Secondly, review the way in which the living/bedroom can be furnished . . . this means avoid the typical bedroom look of a bed and chest of drawers. You may wish to have a combination table and desk for work or study, or you may wish to have a number of lounge chairs for television watching and ready, or you may wish to have a buffet server for that late breakfast or midnight snack.

And, along with the furnishings, think of the colors . . . you may want to use colors usually considered for a den or study or for a living room. Remember to keep the color combinations bright and cheerful but not so bright that they'll keep you awake!

Inspect System For Winter Use

Harold Hollub, president of Hollub Heating, 1029 W. Adams, urges annual fuel system checkups to help insure safe and efficient use of natural gas heating system.

A heating unit, Hollub said, "needs good ventilation through the flue and chimney". Having a heating contractor annually inspect the system is recommended. Yet, he explained, there are two simple tests which a homeowner can conduct.

"Checking the color of the flame is one indication of proper combustion. It should be blue, or if dirt has clogged flue passages or air openings it could have an orange appearance. A yellow flame, though, indicates incomplete combustion, and the heating system should be checked immediately.

He also urged homeowners to oil fan motor as recommended by manufacturers, check fan belt for loosening and clean or replace filters once a month. Usually new filters cost less than $1 and are available at hardware stores.

If you decide on having your heating system inspected, it should include lubrication of motors, blowers, pumps and valves, cleaning and adjustment of pilot and main burner.

Trend Village Features Family Room

An extra large, brightly sunny Garden View family room that ties the landscaped exterior of Larwin's Greenbrook Country to the decorative interior of the kitchen and dining area is featured in the Carmel single-story home model on display in Trend II Village.

California spaciousness is emphasized in the design of the Carmel even though it is the smallest single-family home offered by Larwin in Greenbrook Country, according to Terry T. Bickel, director of marketing for Larwin's Illinois Region.

One of the home's three bedrooms may be ordered as an extension of the kitchen-dining area. This provides a vibrant family living area that allows the busy homemaker instant access to her family whether they are eating, watching TV, or enjoying the outdoor yard or patio.

As shown in the decorator-furnished model on display, the extra large family room includes a sliding glass door leading to the rear yard, and two large picture windows. Floral designs on the walls and ceiling, and self-tie draperies that border the windows and door also lead the eye toward the outdoors.

THE CARMEL also includes a formal living room, a large master bedroom suite, one bath, a utility room and storage areas adjoining the garage which has an inside entrance. A two-car garage, and a basement, may be ordered as options.

With the price of the home, which starts at $30,490, an amenity package includes electric range and refrigerator, dishwasher and waste disposal, automatic washer and dryer, carpeting in living room, dining room, hallways, and master bedroom, and custom-finished kitchen cabinetry and lighting fixtures.

Trend II Village also includes a community swimming pool and cabana. Like its sister Tempo and Tanglewood Villages in the 1,000-acre Greenbrook Country, the community features landscaped greenbelts and safe, cul-de-sac streets.

Free professional decorating counsel is provided by the Larwin Home Center. Along with the carpeting, cabinetry, flooring, and appliances included with the price of the home, the Home Center offers many other home furnishings.

GREENBROOK COUNTRY is located just off Lake St. (Rte. 20) one-half mile east of Barrington Road in DuPage County.

Larwin has produced more than 28,000 homes in 56 communities since 1948. The Larwin Group, Inc., also has major divisions in multiple family and urban housing, recreational communities development, mortgage banking, real estate investment trust management, and commercial development.

Larwin is a subsidiary of CNA Financial Corp., a Chicago-headquartered management company with $4 billion in assets.

THE CYPRESS RANCH, top, The Dogwood Split Level, center, and The Birchwood Mid-Level are three of the five basic home designs available at Winston Grove being developed by Centex Homes Corporation in Elk Grove. The subdivision which features homes with floors framed with Super-C steel joists from U. S. Steel, since its June opening, has met with outstanding popularity. In 3 1/2 months sales here have topped 250.

New Centex Development Sales Boom

Three-and-one-half-months after Centex Homes opened its Winston Grove single-family home subdivision in Elk Grove, sales have topped the 250 mark, Leonard J. Frank, vice president of Centex Homes Corp., reported today during the first annual Home and Apartment Exposition here.

The new subdivision being built on 1,000 acres west of Chicago, is planned for 1,500 homes priced from $33,990 to $42,990. The development is the first by Centex to feature homes framed with United States Steel's Super-C steel floor joists.

The company designed steel joists into the subdivision's homes to eliminate builder call backs resulting from floor warpage and shrinkage as part of its program for providing low-maintenance, quality homes, Frank said. At the same time, he added, the steel product appeared to be economically compatible with the company's construction practices.

IN 1970 AND 1971, Frank told builders his company successfully tested the steel joists in several installations in its Winston Knolls subdivision and experienced good reactions from home owners.

"All test installations prior to the Elk Grove development had been substitutions for wood joists," he said. "However, with 1,500 single-family homes planned with steel joists, we tailored our floor plans to take full advantage of the product's features."

When Centex started planning Winston

Grove, according to Frank, U. S. Steel assisted in the design engineering of the development's five basic models.

Based on home-buyer reactions and the product's quality and installation advantages, Centex recently began using steel joists in townhouses in its Bolingbrook development.

Other Centex developments in the Chicago area include the Townhouses of Winston Village in Bolingbrook, Willow Creek Condominiums in Palatine, Winston Park South single-family homes in Country Club Hills, Winston Woods single-family homes in Bolingbrook, Winston Hills Apartment Homes in Woodridge, 111 East Chestnut Apartments in Chicago, Winston Knolls in Hoffman Estates, and Winston Towers Five in West Rogers Park.

Computers Play Part In Real Estate

The day of "seat-of-the-pants" judgments in deciding where to buy or construct an apartment building is becoming a thing of the past. Computer science has revealed in real estate, as in other industries, that there are better ways of arriving at a decision.

The basic factors have not changed: Is it good design, close to a trade area, proper rental level for potential tenants' income? Is land cost in proportion, financing attractive, building construction sound? What about competition, population trends, prospective zoning changes?

Compiling these and other facts that a prospective owner of an apartment should know to make a sound decision has become the service of companies formed just for that purpose. Such real estate research companies perform their service most often for investments in the millions. Because so much is riding on the decision, investors want it based on all the facts possible. Research computers lend themselves to masses of data gleaned from a variety of sources.

THE SMALLER investor can do the same thing, but with less sophisticated tools. Census data alone can yield facts about population growth, income levels, housing types in the neighborhood, average value of owner-occupied dwellings and average rentals. City maps show the location of schools and planned new schools. A survey from an auto window will reveal such items as churches, shopping areas and recreation spots.

Out of this jumble of information it is useful to do a market analysis. And when it is completed and studied, much of the mystery of what to buy, where to buy or whether to buy disappears. The decision becomes a matter of business sense, of matching cost to potential.

None of this is to say that a market analysis eliminates risk. We all know the absolutely sure investment is a rare commodity, indeed. Rather, it points out the risk, and isolates it. Out of this jumble of information it is useful to do a market analysis. And when it is completed and studied, much of the mystery of what to buy, where to buy or whether to buy disappears. The decision becomes a matter of business sense, of matching cost to potential.

None of this is to say that a market analysis eliminates risk. We all know the absolutely sure investment is a rare commodity, indeed. Rather, it points out the risk, and isolates it, so the investor can take the proper safeguards to protect the money he has put into the property and the income he can reasonably expect to receive, to say nothing of other extremely important factors involved.

IT IS A TRIBUTE to the basic value of real estate that many owners of apartment buildings saw the advertisement, saw the building, saw the opportunity and bought, successfully. As our population increases, becomes more urban and more complex, however, that route will be less used.

The wider employment of the methods developed by computer-oriented research has had another effect in the real estate market. It allows the beginner who might otherwise turn to other forms of investment to seriously consider this most basic method of building capital.

Fortunately, there are a considerable number of professionals who are qualified to help investors use this newer method. The real estate broker, the banker, the accountant, the tax specialist all are aware of the value of market analysis and can help take the mystery out of successful real estate investment. Information compiled by Ernest C. Knecht, president of Chicago Real Estate Board.

Prevent Crime 'Light The Night'

The Northwest Suburban Board of Realtors will begin a "Light The Night" campaign in this area on November 3rd. The objective of the campaign is to tell homeowners how to protect their home and family against certain types of crime through easily followed practices, with emphasis on better lighting.

Approximately 24,000 brochures will be distributed to member offices of the Northwest Suburban Board of Realtors. The brochures, entitled "Crime-Stoppers To Protect Your Home and Family," include numerous tips on how homeowners can protect their home while they are asleep, out for the evening, or away on vacation.

The brochures also contain official crime statistics which reveal the fact that cost assaults and burglaries occur at Homeowners may secure copies of this brochure free of charge from local Realtors' offices.

Hoffman Rosner Set To Open New Offices

Hoffman Rosner Corp. will dedicate its new headquarters Saturday, with the aid of Hoffman Estates dignitaries in the Golf-Rose Shopping Center.

Officers of the firm which built Hoffman Estates in 1955 are scheduled to be joined by mayor Albert Downey and other dignitaries in a ceremonial ribbon-cutting at 11:30 a.m. The public is invited.

The firm's new facility, an unusual, 17,000-square foot oval-shaped structure, is located at the southeast corner of the center on Roselle Road between Higgins and Golf roads. The recently completed building has enabled the firm to consolidate its staff of 130 and to begin its second quarter century in modern and efficient facilities. Hoffman Rosner Corp., which last year became a publicly owned company whose shares are traded over-the-counter, is currently celebrating its 25th anniversary.

The new corporate headquarters building houses the general administrative staff; marketing and production management; corporate and mortgage financing departments; accounting and data processing operations; and legal, architectural and engineering staffs.

Hoffman Rosner currently has four planned unit developments with 12,000 housing units planned or under construction in the Chicago area.

John Hall Named To New Post At Baird & Warner

John L. Hall, senior vice president of Baird & Warner, Inc., Chicago-based diversified real estate firm, has been appointed assistant to president John W. Baird, effective Jan. 1, 1973.

Hall has been general sales manager of the company since 1959 and will reach mandatory retirement age Jan. 1, Baird said. Under a reorganization of the firm's sales division, the post of general sales manager will be eliminated.

Instead the company will have a general manager in charge of the company's 27 Chicago area branch sales offices and a separate commercial income and industrial sales division with its own general manager.

Hall had been responsible for all those sales operations. In his new post Hall will be responsible for special assignments.

"We think it is quite appropriate that the position that John Hall has held with such distinction will be retired when he assumes other responsibilities with our organization," said Baird.

Baird cited the tremendous growth of Baird & Warner's overall sales under Hall. Since Hall became general sales manager in 1959, Baird & Warner's number of branch offices has grown from 16 to 27, the number of sales representatives has increased from 116 to 243, and the annual sales volume has gone from $40 million to $181 million in 1971.

Hall joined the company as a salesman in the Park Ridge office in 1949 and was named district sales manager in Park Ridge in 1954, vice president and general sales manager in 1959, and senior vice president in 1966.

Skinner Picked To Manage Fly-In Project

John R. Skinner of Lake Forest has been appointed sales director of The Landings, a fly-in community being developed eight miles northwest of Elgin.

Skinner's appointment was announced by Barbara Kovacs, chairman of Barko Development Corp., developer of The Landings.

A native of Lake Forest, Skinner was graduated from Springfield College and also has attended Northwestern University College of Business and the YMCA College of Real Estate. For the past year he has been sales manager of Northern Illinois Construction Co., Northbrook homebuilder. He was sales director and project manager for Albert Riley Builder, 1968-71, and for seven years before that he was sales manager for Red Seal Homes, Inc. Previously, he operated his own building firm.

The 160-acre first phase of The Landings will include a 3,000-foot, hard-surfaced and lighted aircraft runway, hangars and tie-down spaces and 130 homesites of a half-acre or larger. Use of the runway, which will be owned by residents, will be limited to residents and their guests.

The Landings is located on Powers Road, about two miles via Freeman and Powers Roads from the new interchange of the Northwest Tollway and Ill. Rte. 47.

Pagni Corp. Building Again In Elk Grove

Howard Krasur of Bennett & Kahnweiler Associates, developers of Centex, announced that Pagni Industrial Corp. has just purchased the 120,500 square foot site on the south side of Howard Street, west of Busse Road in Centex Industrial Park, Elk Grove Village.

This is the 44th site the firm has purchased. It has built over 37 buildings to date.

Jerry E. Sigman and Howard G. Krasur of Bennett & Kahnweiler Associates were the sole brokers in this transaction and have been the brokers in all of the land purchased by Pagni in Centex.

Mobile Home Finance

Down payments on mobile homes range from a minimum of 5 per cent under FHA and VA regulations to 20 per cent to 30 per cent under the chattel mortgage plan, the Mobile Homes Manufacturers Association said recently. Payment time, MHMA reported, may range up to 12 years, depending on the type of financing.

Heat Garage To Get Space

If you need some extra space in your home, you'll find plenty if you add heat to your garage.

According to the National Better Heating-Cooling Council, more and more homes today are being built with heated garages, and for good reason. It benefits everyone in the family.

Dad can have a year 'round workshop, Mom can make a laundry out of it (hot and cold running water can be easily provided), and the kids can use it as a play area on a rainy day. It makes for an ideal place to take off wet and muddy boots, hang wet clothes, and clean up before entering the house.

Installing heat in the garage can be a simple operation if the house is equipped with hydronic (modern hot water) heating. Just have your heating contractor connect some hydronic baseboard heating panels to the existing system in the room next to the garage. Since the baseboard tubing is finger size, it won't be necessary to tear down walls or rip up floors. By drilling a small hole, the job can be finished in no time at all.

Oh yes, with a heated garage, it will also be easier to start the family car.

How To Fix Noise From Your Plumbing

Noisy plumbing is more than just a nuisance. It costs you money, the Plumbing-Heating-Cooling Information Bureau said. That's because noise is caused by some defect or unusually hard wear on parts of the system.

There are generally three types of noise — water hammer, whistling and chattering. Water hammer is the thump you hear when faucets are turned off abruptly. It's corrected with an air chamber, short length of pipe, or in special cases, a shock absorber installed at the appropriate place.

Chattering is usually caused by loose pipe, worn faucet washers or other loose parts. Whistling is due to the speed of water flowing through too-small pipe. It's most common at bends and tees in the pipe and can usually be corrected with a pressure-reducing valve.

A booklet that gives you detailed information on plumbing noise problems as well as dozens of other tips on how to take care of your plumbing is available for 25 cents plus an 8-cent stamp from the Plumbing-Heating-Cooling Information Bureau, 35 E. Wacker Dr., Chicago, Ill. 60601.

Here Are Tips For Remodeling Kitchen

For remodeling the kitchen with built-in range products — such as electric ovens and surface units — kitchen experts offer these tips.

Don't install the oven too high. Ideal installation height should be about 36 inches from the floor, with the oven door at countertop level when open.

Don't put built-in ovens and surface cooking units directly side-by-side. At least nine inches of countertop should separate the appliances to allow plenty of space for pots and pans.

How a minus on your paycheck can be a plus in your future.

Sound confusing? It isn't, really. When you join the Payroll Savings Plan where you work, an amount you designate will be set aside automatically from each paycheck. That's the "minus."

That amount will then be invested in U.S. Savings Bonds. That's where the "plus" comes in. Because you're automatically saving for your future, with one of the safest investments there are: U.S. Savings Bonds.

And, by deducting a little at a time from each paycheck, you don't feel the pinch financially. Before you know it, you'll have quite a tidy sum tucked away.

And now there's a bonus interest rate on all U.S. Savings Bonds—for E Bonds, 3 1/2% when held to maturity of 5 years, 10 months (4% the first year). That extra 1/2%, payable as a bonus at maturity, applies to all Bonds issued since June 1, 1970... with a comparable improvement for all older Bonds.

Put a little "plus" in your future. Join the Payroll Savings Plan.

Bonds are safe. If lost, stolen, or destroyed, we replace them. When needed, they can be cashed at your bank. Tax may be deferred until maturity. Don't always remember. Bonds are a good way to save.

Take stock in America.
Now Bonds pay a bonus at maturity.

Most of the new homes you've been looking at have much higher price tags than what we're asking at Ivy Glen in Palatine. You know it's true.

And maybe you've come away from the others with the idea that you won't get anything — or should we say, anything you'd want — for your money today.

That's only because you haven't seen Ivy Glen yet.

What looks like an $80,000 to $90,000 house in a quiet meadow is a condominium of four or five homes per house, landscaped all around. It's a two-story colonial, or one, with an attached garage for you and room enough in the garage for a small truckload of things besides your car.

Your Ivy Glen home has two bedrooms upstairs and a tiled bath and several closets, including a huge walk-in. And, because the floor above belongs to you, and the walls are engineered to squelch sound, you won't ever have to put up with somebody else's noise.

Downstairs you'll have a large, living-dining area, and a large, complete GE kitchen you'll enjoy cooking in. And everywhere but the kitchen and bath, there's wall-to-wall carpeting and wonderful air conditioning (your very own central system).

As for the hard work of maintenance, there's hardly any. We do all the outside chores, and so you can do the other things on weekends that maybe you've been planning to for years, but haven't had the time to do.

And don't forget the tax deductions you're entitled to as a condominium owner, and the equity build-up you'll have when you go to sell your Ivy Glen home.

Another important thing. We use all high-quality building materials. And still we're able to keep the price at $21,990. Only $1100 down and $153 a month.* And we pay the closing costs.

In your search for a nice home you've probably come to expect nothing for something. Let us finally show you something for next to nothing. See Ivy Glen Sun.-Fri. 10 a.m.-8 p.m. Sat. 10 a.m.-6 p.m. We're in Palatine. On Baldwin Rd., north of Dundee (Rt. 68) between Rand and I-53. At 1200 E. Gardenia Lane. (312) 359-9212.

Ivy Glen. Handsome two- and three-bedroom homes from $21,990.

Ivy Glen-Palatine

A development of Building Systems Housing Corporation, subsidiary of Building Systems, Inc.

*Loan of $20,890 with 348 monthly payments of 7.78% true interest, reflecting an 8.37% annual percentage rate. Payment includes principal and interest ($152.79) as well as mortgage insurance ($4.34). Condominium fee of $35.00 (est.) and taxes of $50.99 (est.) are extra per month.

What Americans Think

Welfare Issue May Be Sen. George McGovern's Waterloo

by STANLEY C. PLOG, Ph.D.
President, Behavior Science Corp.
(BASICO), Los Angeles.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

When Sen. George McGovern proposed his $1,000-per-person welfare reform plan, he did irreparable damage to his effort to become president.

This conclusion grew out of recently completed in-depth research by Behavior Science Corporation (BASICO) on the issues of the 1972 presidential campaign.

Nearly 800 voters all over the country have participated in the study conducted by senior BASICO psychologists using personal interviews and encounter-type discussion groups.

The study reveals that most voters show a strong work ethic, deeply distrusting any program that would increase the number of persons who receive "welfare." Further, most Americans have an intense desire to reduce the costs of welfare and eliminate welfare fraud.

RESULTS OF THE study show that welfare and its problems are a very important subject to most Americans but that McGovern's recommendations put him at odds with a majority of the voters, surprisingly including those who presumably would receive the greatest advantage from the program: the poor and the various ethnic minorities. The research affirms that, for broad segments of the U.S. population, employment in a job that demonstrates one's skills and abilities is still a primary goal and a source of pride. Voters interviewed take a great satisfaction in earning their own way in life and are strongly opposed to the idea of contributing tax dollars to people "who don't want to work."

The study reveals that the issues of unemployment and welfare are closely intertwined. Voters participating in the research were given a list of seven domestic issues and were asked to rank them as to their importance. The results are, in order of perceived importance:

- Crime
- Pollution
- Unemployment
- Education
- Drugs
- Welfare
- Problems of the cities.

Although the voters rate crime and pollution the highest, the issues they talk most about in encounter-type discussion groups are unemployment and welfare. They feel that successful progress to combat crime and drugs, clean up the environment and solve the problems of education and the cities will require many years. But they believe that the government can change unemployment rates and cut back on welfare expenditures very quickly — if it wants to.

THE GREAT MAJORITY of people of all ethnic groups want to work. They recognize that some people legitimately cannot work and they are glad that welfare exists to support the needy through contributions from workers' taxes. Yet there is a strong belief that large numbers of non-deserving persons are on welfare and the voters are irritated with politicians for not "cracking down" on welfare fraud.

Programs that have the appearance of increasing welfare costs, such as McGovern's original $1,000 plan or his more recent $6,500 annual income minimum, elicit the voters' distrust. And our researchers found that voters discussing welfare frequently expressed opposition to McGovern on the basis of his welfare programs.

The strength of feeling about this issue can be seen in the answers to this question: "Which of the following programs would you be willing to support if each program cost you $15 a year more in taxes?"

Additional Funds for:	Would Not Support
	Would	Not
Cleaner Environment	78%	22%
Drug Problems	66	34
Police protection	63	37
Elementary, high schools	61	39
State colleges, univer.	43	57
Welfare recipients	21	79

ALTHOUGH A majority favors most of the programs, voters are strongly against adding dollars to welfare programs. Participants in discussion groups cannot understand why welfare rolls increased during the period of great prosperity in the 1950s and 1960s. Their concern: If welfare can increase during good times, how large would it grow and how big a burden would it become if we had a severe economic recession? Their uneasiness is compounded by fears about their own futures. During the recent economic slump many were temporarily out of work or had friends who lost their jobs. If they were to lose their jobs in the future, would they be able to receive the temporary support and benefits that welfare is supposed to provide?

Or would the welfare funds have been used up by "freeloaders who got to the trough first?" Welfare is a vital issue and the feelings of the voters about this issue are unified and strong. George McGovern's proposals have intensified his Republican opposition and weakened his Democratic support.

Tragedy Wipes Out Political Hoopla

by DAVID SMOTHERS

A tragedy kept President Nixon and Sen. George S. McGovern from a campaign windup contest of parades in Chicago this week. As far as the election is concerned, it perhaps doesn't make too much difference.

The presidential candidates have saved Chicago and Illinois for two of their last and biggest campaign blasts — back to back parades by Nixon Tuesday and McGovern Wednesday.

They were to be gala occasions and that is why they were cancelled. Chicago was hardly the place for galas this week, as at least 44 persons were killed here in the nation's worst rail disaster in 14 years.

Actually, the parades had figured to test the endurance of Chicago street cleaners to their limits, but not to prove much else.

MCGOVERN IS COMING up in the Illinois polls and even Nixon strategists believe he probably is stronger than the polls show. But the President apparently still has tens of thousands of votes to spare. The Chicago Sun-Times poll had him ahead 60.4 per cent to 36.6.

McGovern faithfuls hope a final spurt will give the Senator the state most agree he must win to stay alive. It would have to be some spurt.

Thomas J. Houser, former Wheeling Township GOP committeeman, who runs the Nixon show here, said with satisfaction: "Registration figures definitely favor Republicans; they're down in the city and up in the suburbs."

Gene Pokorny, his counterpart for McGovern, didn't argue the figures. "The fight for control of the country over the next decade may be over the suburban vote," he said.

Houser and Pokorny have spent a lot of money. Together, Pokorny estimates, they have been instrumental in registering 450,000 to 500,000 new Illinois voters. "We know some of them are Republicans," Pokorny said, "But we go by the rule of thumb that two out of every three new voters are Democrats."

Houser sounded confident and a little relieved as the last week of campaigning began. Pokorny maintained that Illinois could still be won, that even talk of peace in Vietnam worked to McGovern's advantage.

Why Are These Four Men Laughing?

by TOM TIEDE.
BALTIMORE, Md. — Whatever else the presidential campaign has been this year, it hasn't been witty. Jocular relief has been as rare as honest answers. Hardly a ho-ho has happened. The candidates have been about as funny as broken bones.

George McGovern was kind of clever after the California primary when he said "I can't believe I won the whole thing." Sargent Shriver peaked when, after the Tom Eagleton affair, he said the only skeleton he had in his closet was his wife Eunice.

As for Nixon-Agnew? Thud.

Alas, campaign humor seems to be going the way of campaign oratory in America: downhill. Dr. Brownlee Corrin, a political scientist who specialized in political humor at Goucher College here, says this is "the dullest campaign in a long, long time." None of the combatants, Corrin suggests, seem to have the competence or the confidence to take fellow who attended a dinner once for New York's Cardinal Cooke and said the priest's favorite song was: "Those Wedding Bells are Breaking Up That Old Gang of Mine."

President Nixon, says Dr. Corrin, is a case all his own: "Has he ever told a real, ripe joke?" Probably not. One collection of gags credits the President with something about an Internal Revenue agent who goes to a church to check the tax return of a member of the congregation. "We see he lists a donation to your building fund, Deacon, of $500 — is that right?" The minister smiles and says, "I don't know offhand, but I promise you one thing: If he hasn't, he WILL!" Ah, well. No wonder Nixon sticks to foreign affairs.

It was, says Dr. Corrin, not always thus for political humor in America. He has records dating back to the days when politicians didn't take themselves so seriously. And that wasn't very far back, either. "John Kennedy," says Corrin, in history, who went for a dip in the New Jersey surf one day and told his sons to wait because "The President is using the ocean."

Then there was Calvin Coolidge, perhaps the most wryly witty of them all. When asked whether chickens lie or lay, he replied: "Where I come from we pick them up to see." At that state dinner, during office, Alice Roosevelt Longworth elbowed him: "These formal dinners must bore you to death, Mr. President. Why do you attend so many of them?" Forking a hunk of beef, Coolidge confided, "Well, a man has to eat somewhere."

Times, for sure have changed drastically since the days when politicians were confronted with such weighty questions as whether hens lie or lay. And, says political scientist Corrin, this might explain some of the trend away from campaign humor. Today's matters — the war, the bomb, the explosion of environmental problems — are often too serious, Dr. Corrin feels, "to allow room for much levity." Also, he believes, the American public expects more of their politicians than wit. "Look at Adlai Stevenson. There was a man who could not resist a gag, even when it cost him votes." And it cost him plenty.

Yet for all of today's gloom, Corrin sighs, would there were some laughter too. Imagine a Nixon, with a rancor, flashing a one-liner like "Senator McGovern's campaign is the sort that gives failure a bad name." Or imagine George chiding Dick, gently: "Few people blame themselves until they have exhausted all other possibilities."

Or better, imagine an audience today in America, still awake, like the one that confronted Theodore Roosevelt years ago. A heckler interrupted that president by saying: "My grandfather was a Democrat, my father was a Democrat and I'm a Democrat." Roosevelt retorted by asking: "Friend, if your grandfather had been a jackass, and your father had been a jackass, what would you be?" Instantly the man replied: "A Republican, naturally."

the edge off their remarks with levity. Consequently, "we wind up with everybody attacking everybody else with the public the worse for the wear."

"IT'S NOT THAT THE candidates haven't tried, occasionally, to convince their audiences that the sky is not really falling. But, says Dr. Corrin, even the attempts at humor are not so humorous as they are bitter. McGovern, for example, was once asked if he had any respect for Nixon's handling of world affairs except Vietnam. His answer: "To say we are doing fairly well in foreign policy except for Vietnam is like the man saying, 'I feel pretty good except for the cancer in my throat.'"

Moreover, even when the candidates have succeeded this year in cracking passable jokes, they have been less extemporaneous than staged. Spiro Agnew can be witty ("When Sarge Shriver says his family had six hungry mouths to feed, he means himself and five polo ponies") but he gets much of his material from Bob Hope. You know him. The

by MARGARET A. KILGORE
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Pat Nixon, veteran campaigner and world traveler, has emerged as a personality in her own right during her four years at the White House, while the vice president's wife, Judy Agnew, has remained in the background as she prefers.

If the president is reelected, Mrs. Richard M. Nixon can be expected to become increasingly active. Her daughters, Tricia and Julie, are now married and away, leaving her more time for the job.

Also, because of her performances on the presidential trips to China and Russia this year plus successes on the campaign trail, she has become confident of her role in the highest non-paid, non-elective job in the United States.

Mrs. Spiro T. Agnew, as the nation's second lady, joins her husband on political trips around the country and maintains a limited official schedule of her own, but she rarely substitutes for Mrs. Nixon at White House functions, a common practice in other administrations.

THE TWO WOMEN are friendly but not close.

Since she moved into 1600 Pennsylvania Ave., with some trepidation and awe on Jan. 20, 1969, Mrs. Nixon has vigorously promoted an "open door" policy based on the idea that everyone is welcome, "not just the big shots."

At first, she was under tremendous pressure to take on some project like Jacqueline Kennedy, who made her mark by restoring the White House to its colonial elegance, or Lady Bird Johnson who promoted outdoor beautification.

Determined to be herself and confident of her own abilities, Mrs. Nixon resisted, although she did carry on the campaign of her predecessors to reserve and enhance the beauty and antiquity of the White House. She redecorated the state rooms and had floodlights erected so tourists could see the mansion at night.

Despite her unassuming style, her impact on the public consciousness has grown slowly. Meantime, her travels — more ambitious than those of any First Lady in history — have made her a celebrity abroad. China and Russia were the 74th and 75th countries she has visited.

Whether at home or overseas her aim is simple: "I want to meet the people." In return, she has harvested much good will for her husband.

Mrs. Nixon was born March 16, 1912, in Ely, Nev. Her proud Irish-American father, William Ryan, a miner, decided her name, Thelma Catherine Pat Ryan, was too long. He dubbed her "Pat."

SHE WORKED HER way through college and was graduated cum laude with a bachelor of arts degree from the University of Southern California. One of her part-time jobs was a walk-on role in the movie "Becky Sharp." That interest in drama led to a romance with Richard M. Nixon, a young lawyer who shared the leading roles with her in a mystery drama, "The Dark Tower."

Mrs. Nixon was a pretty, redheaded business teacher at Whittier, Calif., High School, at the time. The Nixons were married June 21, 1940 in a Quaker ceremony at the Old Mission Inn in Riverside, Calif. When they recently celebrated their 32nd wedding anniversary, Mrs. Nixon said her married life was "still exciting because Dick never bores me."

Asked recently if she was happy, she replied, "Yes, I am. I've got the greatest guy in the world."

Mrs. Agnew, unlike her predecessor, Muriel Humphrey, whose "cause" was mental retardation, prefers to stay in the background. She did all her own cooking until Agnew was elected Maryland governor in 1966 and they moved into a 54-room mansion in Annapolis with a staff of 11.

Mrs. Agnew, a 51-year-old mother of four grown children and a grandmother, was born Elinor Isabel Judefind in Baltimore. It was from that last name that she became known as Judy by practically everyone.

The Search For Mental Health

Hope May Be Key To Depression

(This column is presented by Forest Hospital in Des Plaines, a fully-accredited 135-bed psychiatric hospital, known for its programs in psychiatric treatment, research, education and community service.)

"The Swedes are in the midst of a depression and suicide epidemic," says a National Institute of Mental Health (NIMH) psychiatrist, "and I think it's because there must be a certain kind of depression that goes along with living in an environment in which so much is provided for you."

Dr. Raymond Freeman, a clinical researcher with the NIMH, has studied depression and its causes. "In our own country the current generation of adolescents has grown up largely in a milieu where what they didn't have much to do with what they got — even if they worked. It had nothing to do with work or no work or negative reinforcement and I think this may make human beings far more prone to depression."

"I think the simplest way to put it," he continued, "is the guy who is used to really working for what he gets has a lot of resources for what to do. If times are hard he won't just roll over and get depressed."

Dr. Freeman makes a distinction between what he calls clinical depression and the situations producing an affect of depression. "If you lose someone very close to you, for instance, you will feel low. The odds are, though, that you won't feel guilty, no good, or as though you've done some horrible thing."

"A CLINICAL depression — one in which there is a lot of anxiety, agitation or sometimes hypomania — is associated with a person's awareness of helplessness on either a conscious or unconscious level. This implies nothing can be done about a situation."

"If I say you're going to lose your job," Dr. Freeman continued, "you might get anxious but the minute it becomes a certainty and it's a loss you can't do anything about, you'd become depressed."

"There are two basic responses by all organisms facing trauma. One is to get ready to run or fight accompanied by a general state of excitement and the body's getting ready for action. In other response is a withdrawal reaction where the organism withdraws — the cell will shrink or the turtle will hide its head. A human being can suddenly stop everything and practically go to sleep. The core of a clinical depression is withdrawal."

According to Dr. Freeman children rarely suffer from clinical depression. "We know that children rapidly do something about their feelings of helplessness. These feelings are intolerable to children. Rarely do you see a child feeling totally helpless. He may feel lousy or mope around but that's not the same. Why this is we don't know."

"Perhaps it's because they're still so dependent on adults and they don't have a sense of selfness to feel overwhelmed about or perhaps they haven't built up the mechanisms to handle these feelings."

Perhaps it's because children always keep on hoping.

Social Security and You

Q—MY REGULAR job for the federal government is not covered by social security. But I take time off from work every Christmas season to buy and sell trees for profit. Is this work included under social security?

A—If your net income from selling Christmas trees is at least $400 in a year, you should report the income for social security coverage as a self-employed person. Call, write, or visit any Internal Revenue Service or social security office to get more information about reporting your net earnings from self-employment and paying the social security self-employment contributions.

Q—I HAVE accumulated well over $50 worth of doctor bills. Should I wait until the end of the year before I send a claim to Medicare?

A—No, You should submit your claim now. By waiting until the end of the year, it will take longer to process your claim. For assistance or more information call 255-7512.

Q—MY MOTHER, who's 80, has gotten so sick that she can't handle her own money any longer. I have her power-of-attorney, but I'm not sure what I should do with her monthly social security checks. Should I try to cash them?

A—No, you should not cash her social security checks. You should call the social security office immediately. We can arrange to send her checks to you as her "representative payee" with the checks carrying your name as well as your mother's so you can cash them. In the Northwest suburban area, offices are located at 120 W. Eastman, Arlington Heights, and 770 Lee Street, Des Plaines.

Marine Hits Holiday Shift

'Tradition's Down Drain'

The schools were closed on October 23 because of the Monday Holiday Bill to celebrate Veterans Days, which, if this were a normal society, would fall traditionally on November 11. Be that as it now is, but I prefer to celebrate Veterans Day on November 11, since that date was when the first United States Marines pledged their dedication and fighting spirit to the United States of America in Tunns Tavern, Boston, Massachusetts, in 1776.

It is ironic that the newspapers castigate the people with warnings of heavy traffic fatalities over extended weekends but then the legislature passes laws to have more of them. I used to enjoy getting a day off now or then during the week since it is my natural tendency to shrug chores off on lazy weekends. The new holiday bit seems ideally suited for the taking-off jet set. I am simply not a jet-setter.

There is a lot of tradition of this country that is being washed down the drain and I'd just as soon like to see some of it saved. Perhaps I don't particularly feel like reminiscing about the Corps until the anniversary of its founding which isn't the first Monday or the preceding Friday, or whatever; or perhaps my objections to the golly-wompus holidays is a sign of maturity, which is sometimes called old-age. Boot camp did not warn us that the 'Semper Fidelis' (means always ready) motto of the USMC meant the necessity to coddle the jet-set.

Also, about a year ago, some crackpot ran down a letter from a former Marine. It has been bugging me since then to write and tell the jackass that a Marine is not a soldier.

Hikers: 'Keep Up Good Spirit'

Dear Jim O'Brien:

I know if you were able you would write and thank each child that marched for you Saturday. They do not want your thanks or gratitude. Perhaps many of them were just grateful to God they were able to march. How many people in wheelchairs or bed ridden would appreciate the feeling of grass under their feet. Jim, the main prayer from all of them, that God in His FATHERLY love will make you well very soon.

Jim, would you believe me when I say I would like to write a longer letter, one to help cheer you, but yesterday I fell and broke my right wrist, and this one-fingered typing isn't all it is cracked up to be. I also have to be grateful to God, I landed on my wrist, not the full impact on my head.

Keep up the good spirit, you must be a wonderful person to have children march for you.

God bless you, Jim.

Virginia Sandberg
Mount Prospect

EDITOR'S NOTE: 700 persons marched on Saturday, Oct. 28, to raise money for Jim O'Brien, who has been hospitalized with a rare bone infection.

Game Coverage Hit

I have been debating writing this letter since reading Jim Cook's very senile or whatever other word might be fitting on his description of the Wheeling-Hershey football game.

Since when does he think any school is great enough to humiliate another. I most certainly think he owes someone an apology. Possibly all the boys out there practicing and wasting time supporting their school — win or lose.

Humiliate, indeed, the word seems to fit you, Mr. Cook, for your seeming lack of better words and knowledge of sports, school spirit and professionalism.

Mrs. Vera Fabian
Prospect Heights

Anonymity's A Pain

In light of your column of Monday, October 23, and your reactions to anonymous letters sent to The Fence Post, don't you see that persons who are castigated in letters which appear over the signature "name withheld by request" would have the same reactions to these letters. I have never approved of anyone sending an anonymous letter and have never really been able to see much benefit in reading letters in the newspapers when the writer's name has been withheld by request.

After reading letters in which individuals with whom I am acquainted are named, I have wondered if the newspapers aren't being used as a public means of sending anonymous letters. For the person whose name is used in such a letter, that letter is just as anonymous as if it had been sent directly to him or her.

Mrs. Herman C. Noll
Arlington Heights

Letters Welcome

The Herald welcomes expressions of opinion from readers. Letters are published in "The Fence Post" column; no anonymous mail is considered for publication, and letters in excess of 300 words are subject to condensation. Direct your mail to Herald Fence Post, P.O. Box 280, Arlington Heights, Ill. 60006.

'God Is The Answer'

In reading the letters on the Franciscan Prayer Vigil, it was most heartening to know that there are concerned people who bring requests to God for chastity. A look back into history can show us that when a nation's morals deteriorate the nation itself also goes under. Society does not disintegrate unless its family life also disintegrates.

The charge that the Bible licensed polygamy in the Old Testament does not show a clear picture. Biblical history shows life as it was lived in those early days and if we examine the history of those who practiced polygamy the problems that arose from it give good reason why it was discontinued.

Included in the letters on the vigil was one with the writer's name withheld. In it was a statement that while we are here on earth we are to earn our way to Heaven.

This is a misconception that is prevalent among many people in this day and age. According to Catholic versions of the Bible, such as the Douai and the Jerusalem Bible, as well as the King James and Good News for Modern Man, Heaven is a gift, it is neither earned or deserved. Ephesians 2:8,9, says, "For by grace you are saved through faith and that not of yourselves, for it is the gift of God, not of works that no man may glory." Romans 6: 23, tells us, "The wages of sin is death, but the gift of God is eternal life through Jesus Christ our Lord," so that what we earn is death not Heaven. God's standard is perfection and which of us reaches that standard. Scripture tells us all have sinned and come short of the glory of God or approval. A Holy God must punish sin, but our God also is love and in His mercy to solve our dilemma of being unable to save ourselves he sent Jesus Christ. Jesus Christ is himself God. The New Testament tells us, "In the beginning was the word and the word was with God and the word was God." Christ, the living word, paid for our sins by His Death and purchased a place for us in Heaven, which he offers to us as a gift which we may obtain by faith. Not trusting in our own good deeds nor an intellectual assent to historical facts or a temporary trust for problems in our daily lives, but a faith that puts all trust in Him for our salvation.

As we accept this gift and allow Jesus to become our Saviour and Lord of our lives, we have full assurance that Heaven is ours. In response to this great love, God has given us, we show our gratitude by loving God and our neighbor as ourselves and putting away evil as it is revealed in our lives by His word and spirit.

Pleasant Dreams

Tile Damage Is A Flood Threat

Concerning the articles on flooding and the reluctance of property owners to permit reroiling of fields to relieve adjacent properties: A fact not mentioned and perhaps unknown is that the Mosquito Abatement District can come in and do the work but any tile used must be paid for by the owner of the land. Sometimes this cost, even though minimal, is more than a person on a retirement income can pay.

If the flooding is not due to any fault of the property owner but was occasioned by a road crew, a public utility, a builder or neighbor who either doesn't understand the purpose of the tile or realize (or doesn't care) the extensive damage done to the entire community by breaking and not replacing such tile, for the innocent to bear this cost seems unfair.

I would like to cite an observation made by me last summer (1971) when a crew was working on Quentin Road between Cornell and Wood Street. After about three years of flooding in a field that had never held water (more than a small amount or puddle after an extremely heavy rainfall), the water disappeared overnight so we plowed the field prepared to plant it this spring but just as soon as the crew finished their work on Quentin Road the water returned worse than ever making the field unusable for another year.

This August between the cooperation of our township road commission and the Mosquito Abatement a new tile was installed but there remains one distressing fact to the owner — how much will the cost actually be plus the already burdensome real estate tax which now amounts to about one-third of my income.

Sex Ed Controversy Continues

'Prayer Is Faith, Not Reason'

Reading Mr. Rosenberger's letter (October 13) to the Herald, common sense and prudence dictate that one so bitter cannot be answered. Charity still says to try. Logical reasons are based on self-evident truths. The order in nature, knowable to man, can prove the existence of God. That is provided one concludes that the design of life and matter required the action of a Supremely Intelligent Being. The alternative is that all we know of creation happened by chance. Such is the position of the atheist.

The fact that reason is not the only basis — nor even the primary one — for the teachings of the Catholic Church in regard to morals, does not rule out that her stands are demonstrably reasonable. To perceive such requires sharing acceptance of the self-evident truth that generation or pro-creation is the intrinsic purpose of sex. One who agrees with the Church in this, must conclude, as she has, that man has no right to interfere directly with this ultimate purpose. From this it follows that one must be in that state which most surely protects the well-being of the offspring in order to use these powers at all.

Just as one is free to reject the existence of God, one is free to hold that sex can lawfully — by human acts — be separated from generation. One who holds such a position reasonably concludes that joyful companionship, "fulfilling one's self" or pure experiencing of pleasure are lawful motives for using generative faculties. One may then conclude, uncomfortably perhaps, that marriage can be set aside, homosexual and bi-sexual activity can take place alongside heterosexual or solitary, and the word "perversion" may be stricken from our vocabulary.

Sex education has been part and parcel of "Catholic" education in the competent sphere of the Church — moral training. A child needs to be taught not only God's design for man to share in creation through sex; but also why, because of original sin, natural desires easily tend to become inordinate. The Church teaches not only the beauty and purpose of purity, but the need to avoid the occasions of sin and the necessity of frequent reception of the Sacraments — which we believe (from Faith rather than reason) will help keep us from falling into sin.

The "program of modern sex education" advocated seeks to do away with "any vestige of the ancestral taboo" and to prove "chastity constitutes a blind denial of the legitimacy of sexual acts." Such a program would be true to the notion that children need not be — nay, should not be — the object or responsibility of sexual acts. The claims made to justify sex education programs to parents with traditional moral views are usually presented as, "this is better than having them learn it in the street." Who can say that the distortion of a child's views are more real in hearing from his peers than from adults about the mechanics of sex. The slang used by youngsters is clearer to them than the medical terms unfamiliar to most of their parents.

When the subject is prayer, one cannot be speaking of reason — but rather of faith. The man of faith believes God hears and answers all prayer. If God says "no," He has something better in mind. The infinitely merciful Father must also be regarded as the eternally just Judge. The man of prayer trembles at the knowledge that the richest country in the world, having first developed a "contraceptive" mentality, now turns to become a modern day Herod destroying the innocents before they see the light of day. Those few persons who gathered in St. Joseph's Church on Friday night prayed publicly for the America they love, that it may not suffer the fate of Sodom. Privately they prayed to bring members of their families back to the sacraments, or for the grace to overcome their own tendencies to slip with the hedonistic age surrounding them. But whatever their motives, they are not the ones to be pitied.

James D. Healy
Buffalo Grove

"mere" $600,000 which it costs to produce this series, could be put to much better use in our school systems than prying into our children's minds which is nobody's business but their own. I'm darn tired of our schools, states and churches thinking they can do a better job of raising my children than I can and I resent their trying to do so.

So far, in their efforts during the last few years to take away our responsibilities as parents, they have succeeded in confusing our children and parents alike, to the point that many have no respect or understanding of life itself. Because of their trying to understand the minds of our youth instead of having the youth trying to understand us, we have crime on our streets, drug addiction in our homes and schools, a high rate of emotionally disturbed persons in our hospitals, etc.

I could go on and on but my point is that I will try with all my might to prevent such insanity from influencing my children while they are growing up and I hope other parents will try to do the same.

Mrs. Louise Daley

Explains His Bag Battle

I would like to thank you for your coverage of my mini-campaign against the planned ordinance requiring Des Plaines residents to purchase and utilize city standardized plastic garbage bags. But for your article, I probably would never have known, even approximately, how many of the subject letters were returned to Ald. Chase, and you probably would never have known that there was any opposition at all to this ordinance. It seems that there is, and it is strongly suggested that this opposition exceeds, percentage-wise, the fairly strong response to this mimeographed piece.

I was a little disappointed to note that you did not include any statement to the effect that I was for the use of plastic bags (of any manufacturer) for overflow, or otherwise, as people choose to use them. It was a key statement, as most of us do use plastic bags on occasion, and certainly some people prefer them to lugging cans.

You might be interested to know that one of the objections I considered and then rejected as not being pertinent to the area, is a valid objection. Several persons have reached my daughter by phone in the last few days with complaints that squirrels are tearing their bags and strewn the contents. This is, of course, commonplace in campgrounds where raccoons and skunks are nightly visitors.

I think you should also be advised that I erred in the city's favor on my estimate of the possible capacity of the standardized bags. The actual bags measure approximately 14"x12" in cross section, and will hold not more than two fully filled store bags of the type everyone receives at his local grocery store.

As for my interest in this — I started reading a Des Plaines newspaper the day I realized that my commuter parking fee had increased by an amount that exceeded my total yearly tax payment to both the City of Des Plaines and the Des Plaines Park District. I am now a most interested person in what goes on in our city hall, and I am not at all happy with what I see. No private citizens at all sit in on council meetings, recesses (private meetings) are called to discuss all "controversial" subjects, and I have personally heard the mayor warn the councilmen not to make waves as, after all, they are each of them subject to the "whims" of the voters.

But enough of that. I have no intention of distributing further copies of the letter, although I will, of course, send my remaining copies to people who request them. My only intention was to alert Ald. Chase, and hopefully the balance of the council, to the fact that they do not have blanket approval for this ordinance.

Donald P. Koehl

A License For Hanrahan?

Now that State's Atty. Edward Hanrahan has been acquitted, thus reaffirming a long-standing Chicago tradition that killing Negroes is justified, it seems that perhaps the time is ripe to change the rules somewhat.

Rather than allowing alleged law-enforcement agencies to burst in and fire into a covey, wouldn't it be more fair to insist on small-bore rifles (without telescope sights)?

Perhaps fairest of all would be a "season" so the Negro would at least know he is being hunted. (An archery season could be longer than the firearm season).

I'll leave the bag and possession limit up to those more qualified to judge the possibility of overkill. Just think of the extra income to the county for hunting licenses.

And in all fairness, Mr. Hanrahan should receive license No. 1 (complimentary, at the taxpayers' expense).

PUMPKIN PLEASURES

Happiness is . . . a special pumpkin dessert, especially if it's temptingly delicious; and fun. Youngsters love food with spritely colors, attractive shapes, garnishes and an occasional surprise. These pumpkin desserts are special delights because they're child-styled for flavor and a festive look.

Desserts children love can contribute nutrition as well as satisfy their normal yen for sweets. Worthwhile nutrients are added when dessert treats such as these contain "good-for-you's" like pumpkin (a deep yellow vegetable that's a fine source of Vitamin A), molasses, milk and eggs.

PUMPKIN POLKA-DOT SUNDAES

- 2 teaspoons cinnamon
- 1/2 teaspoon ginger
- 1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
- 1 pkg. (18 1/2-oz.) yellow cake mix
- 1 cup canned solid pack pumpkin
- 1/4 cup softened butter or margarine
- 2 eggs
- 1/2 cup water
- 1 cup coarsely chopped nuts
- 1 pkg. (6-oz.) chocolate morsels
- 2 quarts vanilla ice cream Fudge sauce

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Stir spices into cake mix. Add pumpkin, softened butter, eggs and water; beat 2 minutes (batter is very thick). Stir in nuts and chocolate morsels. Spread batter into 2 9-inch greased and floured round layer pans. Bake 20 to 25 minutes. Cool 15 minutes; remove from pans. Cool. To serve, cut each layer into 8 wedges; top with ice cream, and drizzle with fudge sauce. Yields 16 servings.

PUMPKIN-EATER'S DOUGHNUTS

- 1 tablespoon shortening
- 1 cup sugar
- 3 eggs
- 1 cup canned solid pack pumpkin
- 1 tablespoon grated orange rind
- 4 cups flour
- 3 teaspoons baking powder
- 1/2 teaspoon soda
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon cinnamon
- 1/4 teaspoon cloves
- 1/4 teaspoon nutmeg
- 1 quart cooking oil
- 1/2 cup cinnamon sugar

Combine shortening and sugar; blend in eggs. Beat in pumpkin; add orange rind. Sift together flour, baking powder, soda, salt, cinnamon, cloves and nutmeg. Stir into pumpkin mixture, mixing well. Chill dough for 20 minutes.

Preheat cooking oil to 375 degrees in deep fat fryer. Place dough on floured board and roll to 1/2-inch thickness. Cut into doughnuts; saving "holes" (center cutouts). Fry doughnuts and holes in deep hot fat for about 2 minutes or until golden brown on both sides. Drain slightly and roll in cinnamon sugar. Serve while still warm. Yields 2 to 2 1/2 dozen doughnuts and holes.

PUMPKIN COOKY FACES

- 1/4 cup shortening
- 3/4 cup brown sugar; firmly packed
- 1/2 cup canned solid pack pumpkin
- 3/4 cup light molasses
- 3 cups flour
- 1 teaspoon soda
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon ginger
- 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
- 1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
- 1/2 teaspoon allspice
- Icing, raisins, gum drops, and other candies

Cream shortening and sugar together; stir in pumpkin and molasses. Sift together flour, soda, salt and spices; blend into pumpkin mixture. Cover and chill 2 to 3 hours.

Preheat oven to 375 degrees. Roll dough 1/4-inch thick on lightly floured cloth-covered board. Cut with floured pumpkin-shaped cookie cutter (or cut around a floured cardboard pattern). Gently place on lightly greased baking sheet; bake 8 to 10 minutes. Cool. Decorate with icing, raisins and candies. Yields 2 dozen (3-inch) cookies.

ORANGE-PUMPKIN CUSTARD

- 2 eggs, slightly beaten
- 1 small can (5 1/2 fl. oz.) evaporated milk
- 1/2 cup sweet orange marmalade
- Whipped cream or topping
- Mandarin orange segments, drained

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Mix pumpkin pie mix, eggs, evaporated milk and marmalade together. Pour into 9 (5-oz.) baking cups; set cups in baking pan; place in center of oven. Pour boiling water into baking pan halfway to level of custard. Bake for about 50 minutes or until knife inserted in center of custard comes out clean. Cool. To serve, garnish with whipped cream or topping and mandarin orange segments. Yields 9 servings.

Mrs. Richard Meeker

She's An Excellent Baker

by LOIS SEILER

Irma Meyer of Arlington Heights has established a reputation as an excellent baker, and she credits it all to one good recipe!

"With it you can make a remarkable variety of baked goods," she explained.

It takes a German girl to know a good kuchen dough when she sees one, and that is basically what this recipe is.

Irma came from Germany to the United States as a young woman to marry her husband, Richard, about 18 years ago. While the couple lived in Milwaukee, Irma discovered this recipe in a Wisconsin agricultural cookbook and changed it to suit her taste. It came the closest to resembling the kuchen her mother made when she was a girl.

The basic dough is quite simple to prepare and requires no kneading. It can even be made one day and baked the next.

Irma usually makes the dough a day ahead, pats it into the tins in which it will be baked, and refrigerates it. The next day she takes it out to rise, placing the cake tins over a kettle of hot water. This is the method she remembers her mother and grandmother using to make the dough rise nicely.

The recipe can be used to make streusel coffee cakes, plum kuchen, prune and raspberry rings or cinnamon rolls.

The basic yeast dough is light and fluffy, and Irma advises, "always have the ingredients at room temperature for best results."

Her streusel is rich and buttery, and the recipe makes two 9-inch round cakes. Sometimes Irma slices peaches or apples over the dough before sprinkling on the streusel.

Half of the basic recipe will make a plum kuchen, and you can make a streusel cake or a prune ring with the other half.

IRMA MAKES the plum kuchen in a jelly roll pan, using Italian plums and a sprinkling of sugar on top. She uses prune butter in the prune ring, or raspberry jam may be substituted. The baked cakes have a powdered sugar glaze.

The flavorful cinnamon rolls are a great favorite of her son, Peter, a seminary student at St. Augustine's in Holland, Mich., and her daughters, Christine, 13, and Karen, 10, both students at St. James.

All of the delicacies made from this versatile recipe will liven up morning appetites, and they are also appealing for coffee parties or served as a dessert. And all will freeze well, too, and need only be warmed up slightly before serving.

"A hearty stew followed by a streusel coffee cake for dessert makes an ideal

KAFFEE KUCHEN (Coffee Cake)

½ cup butter or margarine
¼ cup sugar
1 cup milk
4 cups flour
1 teaspoon salt
1 cake compressed yeast (1 ounce)
2 beaten eggs

Melt butter over low heat. Add sugar and milk and let heat to warm but not hot. Add crumbled yeast to pan and remove from heat. Let stand for three minutes.

When mixture gets bubbly, add to flour and salt which have been mixed together in a large bowl. Add beaten eggs and mix well.

Prepare any of the following coffee cakes or rolls. They can be left to rise and baked the same day, or covered with waxed paper or foil and refrigerated overnight. The next morning they can be set out to rise, covered with a tea towel, until double in bulk, about 1½ hours. Putting the cakes over a kettle of hot water will help them to rise nicely.

Streusel Kuchen:

Pat dough into two greased 9-inch round cake tins. After dough has risen, cover with the following streusel:
¾ cup butter or margarine
1 cup granulated sugar

1¼ cups flour

Combine flour and sugar and cut in butter with a pastry blender until crumbly. Cinnamon can be added, if desired. Sprinkle over dough just before putting it in the oven. Bake cakes at 350 degrees for 30 to 45 minutes.

Plum Kuchen:

Roll half of basic dough very thin and place in a buttered jelly roll pan. After dough has risen, cover with two pounds of Italian prune-plums cut in half and stones removed. The skin should be against the dough — the fruit-side up. Sprinkle about 2 to 3 tablespoons sugar over the top.

Bake at 350 degrees for 25 to 30 minutes or until cake is golden.

Prune Ring

Roll out half of the dough to a ¼-inch thickness on a floured board. Spread with about 2/3's of a container of prune butter. (Prune butter may be purchased at A & P). Roll up as for jelly roll and form into a ring in a 9-inch round baking pan which has been greased. Let rise until double and bake at 375 degrees for 45 minutes. When cool, spread with a powdered sugar glaze. Raspberry jam may be substituted for the prune butter, if desired.

Cinnamon Rolls:

1/3 cup butter, melted
1 cup brown sugar
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1 cup raisins (optional)

Roll out all the dough to ¼-inch thickness. Using a pastry brush, spread with melted butter. Sprinkle with brown sugar and cinnamon. Add raisins, if desired. Roll up as for jelly roll and cut in 12 to 15 slices.

Combine the following ingredients:

¾ cup brown sugar
3 tablespoons butter

Melt ingredients together and spread in the bottom of a 9 by 13-inch pan. Place cut side of rolls in the sugar-butter mixture. Let rise until double in bulk. Bake 30 to 35 minutes at 375 degrees. Remove from pan immediately and turn upside down on plate to cool. Makes 12 to 15 rolls.

ONE GOOD RECIPE is all Mrs. Richard Meeker needs to prepare a variety of baked goodies. From a basic recipe for kuchen dough she makes streusel coffee cakes, plum kuchen, prune and raspberry rings or cinnamon rolls. Mrs. Meeker acquired her versatile recipe from an agriculture cookbook and adapted it to suit her taste.

Kraut Stuffed Duckling Offers Change-Of-Pace

A roast duckling makes a change-of-pace entrée from the chicken, cornish hen or turkey routine. A duckling on a platter with colorful garnishes such as grapes, parsley, crabapples or baby carrots and pearl onions certainly dresses up any dining table. For a change from the familiar duckling a 1½ orange, stuff the next duckling with sauerkraut. Since all duck tend to be fatty, always place duck on a rack in a shallow pan and prick it all over with a fork so the excess fat will drain off. Either quarter or halve the duckling with poultry shears to serve. Figure on half a fillet of breast plus a drumstick or thigh for each person.

KRAUT STUFFED DUCKLING

¾ cups drained sauerkraut
¼ cup firmly packed brown sugar
½ teaspoon celery seed
Pepper to taste
1 tart apple, pared, cored and sliced
1 duckling (4 to 5 pounds)
Combine kraut, sugar, celery seed, pepper and apple slices. Stir well and stuff lightly into duck; truss. Reserve leftover stuffing. Prick duck all over with fork to allow excess fat to drain off. Place duck on rack in shallow pan. Roast in 425 degree oven for 15 minutes. Lower temperature to 350 degrees and roast leftover stuffing in covered casserole dish and bake. Serve with duck. Makes 4 to 5 servings.

Noted Increase In Spice Consumption

Americans are putting more spice in their lives.

The American Spice Trade Assn. says consumption of spices, herbs and seasoning vegetables totaled 386 million pounds in 1971, an increase of nearly 42 per cent in less than 10 years.

Figuring in the growth are two new to most United States consumers and two old-fashioned ones whose distribution is increasing.

Growing interest in Chinese cookery has created a market for star anise, available largely in specialty stores and food departments of large department stores. It comes from a type of magnolia tree and resembles a small brown star with many points. Its licorice-like flavor is stronger than that of regular anise, which is the seed of an herb related to parsley and dill.

Whole green peppercorns, or unripe Piper nigrum, also are increasingly available in a wine vinegar pack in fancy food stores. They're suggested for seasoning dips and cocktail snacks, meat, fish and poultry sauces, stuffings and salad dressings.

Juniper berries and gumbo file are the old-timers more in demand. The berries traditionally are used for game seasoning, especially venison and rabbit. They're also good in chicken salad, braised pork and sauerkraut.

Mostly For Men
by Charles Flynn

Round steak is one of beef's most flavorful cuts; it's often bargain priced; and properly prepared, a delicacy. This recipe will serve four for dinner or a Sunday supper and requires little supervision.

The recipe can be doubled.

Purchase 1 pound of first quality round steak and cut into thin strips about 3 inches long. Make a marinade by combining 1 can onion soup (undiluted) with 1 cup dry red wine, garlic salt, salt and seasoned pepper to taste. Put in the beef strips and marinate 4 hours.

Heat 1/2 cup cooking oil in a skillet, add beef, cover and cook over low heat until leaves the beef. Add 2 green peppers, seeded and cut into bite-sized strips, 2 large onions, peeled and sliced rather thick, 2 small (3 1/2 ounce) jars of sliced mushrooms, and 2-ounce jar of pimientos diced. Add 1/3 of the marinade to the skillet and continue to simmer over low heat, covered, for an hour or more. Drain liquid before serving, or thicken for a sauce by stirring in a flour paste.

A GOOD ACCOMPANYING dish for the round steak would be potato 'birds' nests. I like to use a 10-inch iron skillet for this dish. Peel 3 medium sized red potatoes and grate, using the largest holes in your grater (2 cups when firmly packed). Grate the potatoes on 2 layers of paper towelling, then press down with additional towels removing as much water as possible.

Heat the oven to 400 degrees and warm the skillet after covering bottom and sides generously with margarine or butter. Spread the grated potatoes in thin layers, making 4 in all, to form a lacy pattern and salt and pepper each layer. Top with 1 1/2 tablespoons margarine or butter cut into small pieces.

Put in the heated oven for 10 minutes allowing bottom to brown. Then switch oven to broil and place skillet about 3 inches from broiler and brown for 10 minutes or until top is golden.

Remove from skillet as soon as cooking is completed since allowing potatoes to cool will cause them to stick. This will serve 4, but I warn you that hearty potato eaters will consume the birds' nests like popcorn.

Greek Stefado:

A Different Stew

A dinner-in-one-dish is a staple in almost any country. Each has a favorite stew with meat and potatoes simmered to a savory tenderness in a little liquid. A different stew is the Greek stefado. It has a sharp tomato wine sauce with bay and lemon, a far cry from ordinary stew gravy. Another taste change is the use of a handful of almonds and feta cheese. And Idaho baking potatoes add their own texture. Stew meat varies in price and quality. For this stefado, select the shank of veal or lamb. The price is right, the flavor dependable and the shank bone adds its own flavor as a good beef bone should.

GREEK STEFADO

- 2 pounds small Idaho potatoes, fresh or frozen
- 2 cups canned tomatoes
- 1 can (6 oz.) tomato paste
- 3/4 cup red wine
- 2 tablespoons vinegar
- 2 teaspoons salt
- 4 pounds veal shanks or lamb, sliced through bone
- 1/4 cup olive oil
- 1 pound small boiling onions
- 3 bay leaves
- 3-inch strip lemon peel
- 1/2 cup blanched almonds or pecans
- 1/4 pound Greek feta or other light cheese such as Monterey Jack

Peel potatoes and slice in half lengthwise. Blend tomatoes, tomato paste, wine, vinegar and salt. Brown meat in heavy pan on all sides while you brown potatoes and onions. Return meat to braising pot with vegetables, sauce, bay leaves and lemon peel. Cover tightly and simmer 1 1/2 hours until meat is tender. Add nuts and crumble cheese over sauce. Continue cooking until cheese melts slightly and blends with sauce. Makes 6 servings.

Delicate Orange Snow Peaks

Apple Orange Snow Peaks make a spectacular finale to an important little dinner, or a conversation piece at a coffee and dessert party. Simply stated, they're choice oranges, filled with a cream sherbet and topped with meringue.

Plan this delicacy for a day when you have time to work ahead. Hand pick the oranges so they'll all be of similar size and color. Use a sharp knife for cutting away the tops and removing the pulp. If you don't have a blender, it's no problem. Remove the membranes and seeds from the orange pulp; then carefully reserve the juice and chop the segments with a knife.

Add handy canned apple sauce from the kitchen cabinet to make the amount of filling you need. No matter what the proportions, it blends perfectly, adding its zesty flavor and texture to the sherbet. The sherbet, prepared by itself and frozen in a tray, also makes a delicious everyday dessert.

Now, for the VIP special, the last-minute meringue topping works like magic. Toasted to a light brown on top, it glorifies the finished dish, yet serves as an insulator that prevents the heat of the oven from melting the apple orange sherbet hidden inside.

For an added note of elegance, serve on a bed of ice.

APPLE ORANGE SNOW PEAKS

- 6 large oranges
- 3 cups pulp and juice from oranges
- 1 cup canned apple sauce
- 1/2 cup honey
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1 tablespoon crystallized ginger, finely chopped
- 1 cup heavy cream, whipped
- 2 egg whites

Apple Orange Snow Peaks

Cut top from oranges 1/4 to 1/3 way down. Remove pulp, taking care to keep shells intact. Discard seeds. Measure 3 cups pulp and juice. Place in blender. Puree. Add apple sauce, honey, lemon juice, salt and ginger. Blend. Pour into large mixing bowl. Fold in whipped cream. Fill into orange shells. Freeze until firm (about 4 hours). Just before serving, beat egg whites until frothy. Add sugar gradually, continuing to beat until stiff (but not dry) peaks form. Whirl meringue over tops of oranges, taking care to cover frozen filling completely. Place oranges on bread board or set in muffin tins. Place in oven preheated to 425 degrees for 3 to 5 minutes or until meringue is slightly browned. Serve immediately. Makes 6 servings.

To Live By Bread Alone, Try Black Russian

by PETER J. SHAW
MOSCOW (UPI) — Men unable to live by bread alone might try the black Russian kind. Preferably smeared with caviar.

They might change their minds.

The Soviets say their "chornihleb" black bread is nutritious, tasty and jammed with calcium, phosphorus and iron — plus a vitamin B content twice that of wheat bread.

No artificial ingredients or preservatives, either. Just fattening freshness.

"Generally speaking, no Russian can do without black bread at a dinner table," The Weekly Moscow News said recently.

"Soviet people working abroad miss black bread very much and in their letters home ask for at least one loaf."

There's one joker: It's not "black" bread but dark brown and made of rye.

If all that vitamin B isn't for you, sink your teeth into one of the other 120 varieties of wheat and rye bread that pop daily from Soviet bakery ovens.

Orlov or stolyov bread, for example. They're made from a mixture of rye and wheat flour.

There are 12 varieties of black bread, which is most popular in the northern part of the Soviet Union. Soviet bakers say it stays fresh longer than wheat bread and has "a more clearly pronounced flavor."

DINERS IN MOSCOW restaurants usually arrive at their table to find a plate

Butter and caviar by request.

Waiters in not-so-distant days often didn't appear for endless tummy-rumbling minutes and the bread soothed appetites, if not tempers. Restaurant service today is much improved. Does good Russian bread demand the home kitchen touch? Hardly. Everything is mechanized.

Moscow News says "All the operations, beginning with preparation and transport of flour and other ingredients, the measuring and mixing of dough, the shaping and baking, are mechanized."

Bakery capacities range from five to 100 tons of bread daily. Most produce 30 to 40 tons a day.

One old-fashioned touch remains. At even the newest retail bread shops, the bill is almost always totaled on an abacus.

Franfare

by Fran Heckart

An operation failure in the home freezer may cause, if not sheer panic, much indecision on how to handle the foods.

If your freezer is full, food will be safe for a period of 36 to 38 hours. You should be prepared for such emergencies and have the name, address, and telephone number of the nearest source of dry ice tamped to the side of your freezer.

In the event that you do need dry ice, order 25 to 50 pounds, depending on the size of your freezer and be sure to wear heavy gloves when handling dry ice. Fifty pounds will keep a 20-cubic-foot filled freezer for about four days. However, if the freezer is only half full, it will keep for two to three days before needing more dry ice.

If dry ice is not available, and the power is expected to be off for several days, you may try to rent a commercial freezer-locker to store the food.

If completely thawed, red meats should be cooked and then refrozen; fruits may be used for jams, jellies, preserves, syrup, preserves, and sauces (discard if there is an undesirable flavor). Fish that is completely thawed should be discarded. Poultry that is thawed, but still quite cold to the touch, may be cooked and refrozen but any stuffed poultry should be thrown out.

Vegetables can often be cooked and refrozen but not without some loss of vitamins and flavor.

If freezer food has been allowed to warm over a period of several days it is not fit to refreeze and should be discarded. Great caution should be exercised and if there are any doubts about the food, discard it. The general rule to follow is that if the food is safe to eat, it's safe to refreeze.

VEGETABLES THAT still show ice crystals may be refrozen, however, the quality is reduced, so it is best to use refrozen foods as soon as possible (within two or three weeks).

Red meats that are still hard and have ice crystals may be refrozen. Variety meats, sausages, and hamburger, however, should be cooked and then refrozen.

If the freezer has been off for an extended period and the food is a complete loss, you will probably need to combat an odor problem. Wash the inside of the freezer with a baking soda-water solution, making sure you include all the plastic parts. If your freezer has a drain, pour some of the solution through it.

Activated charcoal crystals may also be used to remove the odor. The crystals are available at hardware and drug stores. In addition to removing spoilage odors, activated charcoal may be used anytime in the refrigerator or freezer to prevent the spreading of strong flavors from one food to another. A half-pint can of crystals will destroy odors in an eight-cubic-foot area. The crystals will collect moisture and become ineffective in about three months. However, they may be revitalized by placing them in the oven and allowing them to dry.

You may also use an industrial liquid deodorizer available from an industrial cleaning supply house. When using the product, follow the manufacturer's directions.

If you plan to be away from home for more than a few days, make arrangements with a trustworthy person to check the operation of your freezer at least twice a week.

Infant Furniture

Somebody Finally Cares If It's Safe

by MONICA WILCH

Few consumer products today have escaped some sort of government standards to insure quality and safety, but one category has been shockingly free of any regulation — infant furniture.

A Chicago pediatrician estimated in 1967 that over 1,750,000 infants suffer falls during their first year of life, many attributable to poor equipment design. The National Commission on Product Safety reported in 1971 that as many as 200 infants in a year died of crib strangulation (resulting from too widely spaced side bars).

"Nobody cared" how infant furniture was made, says Dr. Harvey Kravitz, author of the study on falls. Dr. Kravitz practices pediatrics at Children's Memorial Hospital in Chicago and privately in Prospect Heights, and teaches in the Department of Pediatrics at the Northwestern University Medical School.

Now, however, due to prodding by the American Academy of Pediatrics, of which Dr. Kravitz is an active member, and the report by the National Product Commission, which quoted Dr. Kravitz' study on falls, steps are finally being initiated by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW) to insure greater safety in juvenile furniture.

ALTHOUGH DR. Kravitz blames the poor design of infant furniture on the lack of government control, the industry until recently seemed to take little interest in self-improvement. Admittedly, there was "nobody to ask" for help on the question of safe design, because there had been no pediatric studies in this area, and neither the Academy of Pediatrics nor the National Safety Council compiles statistics on injuries related to infant equipment. And, since such studies would have been an economic burden to manufacturers, according to Dr. Kravitz they relied on "guesswork."

Moreover, when inadequacies did become apparent — as in the case of the cribs — some manufacturers still were reluctant to make design changes. The National Product Commission reported that the manufacturer of a particular style crib which had caused the strangulation of two babies within three months in 1965 refused to make it safe or to stop marketing it, even after requests and a lawsuit by the parents. Three years later, it was still being sold, subject to no legal authority.

But manufacturers of juvenile furniture have since formed a commission which works in cooperation with the Academy of Pediatrics safety committee on guidelines for safe design. Most cribs, for example, now are made with more slats and narrower spaces to prevent the infant's body from slipping through and hanging him. According to the Academy, a space of more than three inches is extremely dangerous.

So far, however, this is about the only improvement that has been made, and many more are needed.

A LOCAL survey by The Herald revealed that many infant dressing tables, walkers, jumpers, swings and highchairs on the market do not have restraining straps. Only one dressing table with a concave surface and side bars was noted, two features recommended by Dr. Kravitz.

Mrs. Edward Kubacki, Arlington Heights mother of three, reports that her year-old baby has successfully climbed out of many of these articles due to the absence of straps. Her daughter, Julie, has also managed to scoot out of her highchair under the tray table, despite straps, because it was not designed with a center piece or strap to fit between the baby's legs and hold her in the chair.

As for mesh-enclosed playpens, Julie Kubacki has proven them inferior, too. Mrs. Kubacki said she climbs out of the playpen by sticking her toes through the holes, and she also gets the buttons of her clothing caught in the mesh, resulting in a tangle of dress around her neck after she twists a few times. A finer mesh would solve both problems.

Mrs. Kubacki also pointed out that although cribs now have plastic on the tops of the sides, front and back, it does not extend over the corners, which her baby chews.

STUDYING 200 OF his patients at Children's Memorial Hospital and 336 from his suburban practice, Dr. Kravitz found that in one year, 77 per cent of the Chicago patients and 30 per cent of the suburban infants suffered at least one fall in their first year of life. In questioning the mothers as to circumstances surrounding the falls, Dr. Kravitz found that many were directly attributable to poor design of various articles of equipment.

For example, 27 per cent of the infants in the private practice series fell from an infant dressing table; 21 per cent fell from cribs; five per cent from highchairs; three per cent from strollers. The reasons for many of these falls, stemmed from the absence of any restraining strap, the breaking or slipping of a strap, as well as the infant's own climbing activities.

The most common accident, Dr. Kravitz found, is that the infant climbed out of a crib. But even that occurrence cannot be blamed on "human error," he said.

"Much more attention should be given to the design of cribs, taking into consideration the growth and development of infants," Dr. Kravitz said in his report. He noted that cribs often are made to allow for only a 4 to 6-inch adjustment of the sides. An active toddler, particularly if he has large toys in the crib to stand on, can climb out of such a crib even with the sides up.

Some manufacturers are now adding metal plates with pegs at different levels on the legs of the crib, which allows the mattress to be lowered. Dr. Kravitz suggests also that cribs should have longer ratchets for adjusting the sides.

WHILE THE Child Protection Act of 1966 enabled the Food and Drug Administration (of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare) to stop the distribution of hazardous toys, it was not until 1969 that infant furniture came under the purview of the law, and even then, only by inference.

This amended version, known as the Child Protection and Toy Safety Act of 1969, expanded the law to cover electrical, thermal and mechanical hazards of toys "and other articles intended for use by children." This rather vague language apparently reflected the fact that there was still little cognizance of the specific hazards of infant furniture.

Nevertheless, there appears to be no way that this language could be interpreted to exclude infant furniture, and the section specifying "mechanical" hazards seems to cover the design problems Dr. Kravitz cited.

An article is considered mechanically hazardous if "in normal use . . . its design or manufacture presents an unreasonable risk of personal injury . . . because of instability or because of any other aspect of the article's design."

ALL THAT REMAINS is for this already 3-year-old law to be applied to infant furniture and enforced. According to Walter Johnson, director of the Division of Children's Hazards, the FDA is currently developing safety requirements "for a wide range of juvenile products including cribs, playpens, highchairs and infant back carriers." Proposals have been offered by the Academy of Pediatricians, and the FDA is also working with the Juvenile Products Manufacturers Association.

In addition, Johnson said, the FDA "will be developing safety requirements for nursery equipment and other items of juvenile furniture during the next year."

What has already been a long time in coming will probably take many more months to clear the bureaucratic process. In the meantime, the Academy of Pediatrics is issuing a safety tip sheet on infant furniture which will offer guidelines to parents in selecting equipment for their youngsters.

But even when safety reforms are made, hazardous equipment will continue to be in circulation for some time. Mothers borrowing cribs and dressing tables, etc., or using things left over from an older child, should be aware of the dangers and consider investing in new products if they have been redesigned.

LITTLE JULIE Kubacki is quite a climber and can very handily hoist herself out of this playpen by hooking her feet in the mesh, as she is doing here. Her mother, Mrs. Edward Kubacki, says she gets out of her crib, swing, highchair and other equipment, all of which could use design improvements.

Avoid Last Minute Crush

It's Time To Plan For Christmas

by PATRICIA McCORMACK

NEW YORK (UPI) — Conventional Christmas shoppers launch the think-phase of gift-buying excursions somewhere between Halloween and Thanksgiving. It's planning time.

Non-conventional shoppers come in two types — early bird and last minute. The early birds did most of their shopping during year-end clearances right after last Christmas. They bought cards and gifts at big savings. Some of their gifts may be well received but many are destined to wind up as donations to white elephant sales.

Don't envy the early birds. Rather, gloat over the fact that at least your gifts will be fresh merchandise. Don't try to be a last minute type either. They put about as much thought behind each gift as the early birds. Besides, the last minute types live dangerously. How do they know they'll really get all the shopping done before the store closes Christmas Eve? How do they know the right sizes will be in stock? And the wanted colors? They shop along an ulcer trail.

WITH A LITTLE planning you not only avoid the last minute crush, but you might even stretch the gift dollars. With enough time, you can search for genuine bargains. You'll be ahead. Some tips to help you in the days ahead:

—Draw up a gift list, complete with sizes, if clothing purchases are contemplated. Put down in advance gifts wanted for each person. If that person has expressed interest in a specific gift (anything that fits your budget), note that. List hobbies, too. A gift that ties in with a hobby always is welcome.

—Once the list is drawn consider how many gifts can be ordered either via phone or by mail or home shopper services of department stores. Gifts ordered this way are perfect for the out-of-towners on your list. No need to wrap and mail. Santa's helpers at the store will take care of that chore.

—During the planning stage budget your Christmas shopping dollars. If you are going to charge some things be sure you don't overcharge — getting in over your head, that is. Nothing hurts like paying for Christmas gifts all the way to next Christmas!

—WHEN IT COMES to children, check with their parents about the suitability of a specific gift. That is, if you don't know the child well enough to buy sensibly. Shopping for children the guesstimate way usually means disappointment for the child on Christmas Day and a trip by some adult to the mad, mad world of exchangeland in the days after Christmas.

Careful!

Twenty million home and playground accidents annually make every day a day for caution in both places.

Some of the accidents, according to a report from the American Hospital Association, may be prevented through correction of design deficiencies. For example, modifying control knobs on certain electric stoves which are too easily turned on by brushing against them. Another example: setting standards for children's cribs so that the slats are not so far apart that a baby could strangle when its head was caught between slats.

—Some organized types put their lists on index cards — the three by five kind. They wear better when being toted in a purse through the weeks of shopping. Folding and unfolding a list on a piece of paper wears it out.

Organization also helps you to get the Christmas card addressing job done piecemeal. Bring your list up to date, first. Then put in a supply of stamps. Five or 10 cards a night for a week or two and presto — the job is done.

It all sounds easy and quite simple here. Following the tips, however, takes discipline. If you need incentive, think of all that calm you'll have the week before Christmas when all about you are losing theirs. You'll have time to decorate the house, make Christmas cookies, shop for victuals for the holiday feast, clean the house, polish the silver — wax the floors and — do a thousand other things.

Wedding Ends Traveling For 'Separated' Couple

Traveling back and forth between Mount Prospect and/or Memphis and St. Louis can be both expensive and time consuming but Paula Jean Stuber and Michael J. Gronemeyer solved these problems when they were married Oct. 7.

Paula is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul J. Stuber, former St. Louis residents who moved to Mount Prospect, and Michael, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent J. Gronemeyer, 1625 Schaumburg Road, Schaumburg, is a St. Louis resident whose job with Arthur Anderson and Co. in St. Louis, has also taken him to Memphis. The pair met in St. Louis and when the Stuber family moved the traveling began.

Now, the new Mrs. Gronemeyer, who was employed by Contour Saws Inc., Des Plaines, will be back residing in the St. Louis area after Nov. 12. The newlyweds will be living in St. Ann, a St. Louis suburb.

Paula attended Southeast Missouri State College, Cape Girardeau, for two years, and Michael is a graduate of Washington University, St. Louis, where he received both his B. S. degree in engineering and his master's in business administration.

THE PAIR'S wedding took place in Webster Groves Christian Church, Glenview, Mo., with Paula's sister, Sue Ellen Lively, St. Louis, as matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. George Ann Black, Charleston, S. C., and Karen Sanford, St. Louis.

The girls were in gold jersey gowns trimmed in ecru lace and they carried rust chrysanthemums. Paula's gown was of white sateau trimmed in all over lace and pearls and fashioned with high neckline, lantern sleeves and train. Her flowers were a cascade of white orchids.

Paul Domain, Franklin Park, was best man, and the groom's brother, Larry Gronemeyer, Schaumburg, and Gary Reeve and John Schweitzer, St. Louis, were ushers.

The double ring service at 1:30 p.m. was followed by a reception in the church's Fellowship Hall.

A Post Office Romance

Their jobs at Palatine Post Office brought local couple, Mary Marzen and Larry Lorenz, together. Though no longer working there, the couple continued dating and were married Oct. 7 in St. Theresa Catholic Church.

Mary, daughter of the Joseph E. Marzens, 155 S. Brockway St., Palatine, attended Sacred Heart of Mary High School and Mount St. Clare College in Clinton, Iowa.

Larry is the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Lorenz, 26 S. Linden, Palatine. He attended Palatine High School, then Purdue University and is now working in Chicago for Stewart-Warner.

THE COUPLE exchanged vows and rings in an 11:30 a.m. ceremony that was set in a royal blue and white theme. The bride added blue star flowers to her bouquet of white roses and baby's breath to complement her attendants' attire.

They wore the royal blue, their gowns styled in crepe with a square neckline edged with lace that had accents of red, green and blue. The girls carried red carnations, baby's breath and royal blue star flowers.

Mrs. Rena Marzen of Chicago, the bride's sister-in-law, was matron of honor; the groom's sister, Mrs. Jane Lindstrom, Palatine, was bridesmaid along with Cathy Kaiser, Crystal Lake, and Mary Paquette, Milwaukee.

Mr. and Mrs. Larry Lorenz

THE BRIDE wore a white crepe gown with white lace at the square neckline and cuffed the long sleeves. Her long sheer mantilla veil was also edged with lace.

Larry chose Jerry Kusek, Itasca, as best man and ushers were Ronald Childley, Hoffman Estates; Robert McWilliams, Rockford; and Thomas Marzen, brother of the bride.

A reception took place at Rolling Meadows Holiday Inn, where 115 guests greeted the newlyweds. Mary and Larry are now at home in Schaumburg.

The Home Line

by Dorothy Ritz

This column has carried so many uses for baking soda that I often think three times before using more of them. But it has one major value that ought to be kept in mind always by homemakers. We had a prime example of our own. For a long time I kept a container of baking soda on the kitchen counter in case of fire, but put it in the refrigerator to absorb some odors. Never did coach his nibs about it, either. Anyway, he put some frozen tarts in the counter oven and went off to do something else. He smelled the business burning and hurried back to find the thing flaming and dashed a bowl of water on it. It is the riskiest of things to do in a grease or electrical fire. It happened to work, even though the counter oven got shorted in the process. So this reminder: Keep an open dish of baking soda in the kitchen. It will smother a small fire quickly and safely.

Dear Dorothy: — Is it true that you can refreeze meat or poultry that has thawed but still contains some ice crystals, or has been kept cold at the proper temperature for not more than two days? — Sylvia Field.

Meat, yes, poultry, no. If meat still has crystals and has not completely thawed, there is no danger at all — and probably no damage to flavor. Poultry is too chancy — I'd never refreeze poultry once it had thawed. Much better to cook it, then freeze it. Nothing wrong in that.

Dear Dorothy: The reader who was complaining of an odor caused by a spraying cat should try placing a piece of rock camphor on the spot, covering with a towel and leaving overnight. Having the cat neutered might prevent spraying. — Sibyl McCloskey.

If this works, it will make a lot of cat lovers happy.

THE GIRLS

by Franklin Folger

"The trouble with reinforced sleeves is you always feel as if you should be doing something."

The Consumer

by Monica Wilch

Ladies, want to learn more about how to manage money successfully? The University of Illinois Alumni Association is sponsoring a seminar Nov. 16 at the Sherman House, featuring a panel of finance specialists who will discuss various facets of investing.

Panelists from Harris Trust and Savings Bank will talk about short term investments; brokers from Wayne Hummer & Co. will discuss stocks and bonds; and Stein Roe and Farnham, general brokers, will explain different investment approaches — "where to go for what."

The program, which is open to all interested women, is designed to provide essential information which women may need whether they are managers of their own pursestrings, the family money-manager or wives whose husbands handle the finances.

According to Prof. Herman Slayman of the U. of I., who is seminar coordinator, registration will be accepted on a first-come basis. The fee of $7.50 will cover educational materials, coffee and luncheon. Further information may be obtained by calling Professor Slayman at 996-7729.

A second seminar, focusing on estate planning and delving into insurance, wills, trust services, etc., is scheduled for March.

The Republican candidate for Congress from the 10th district, Sam Young, (who is running against Rep. Abner Mikva) contacted this column last week to add his views on consumer issues to those of other candidates covered in previous columns.

Citing his past experience as Securities Commissioner of Illinois, he said consumers were served by a law he initiated to protect the investing public and by the enforcement division which he set up.

Young said that the regulation of industry "often is more sympathetic to industry than the public because industry is organized." Consequently, he said, he would support a consumer protection agency, "although I might like some changes (from the recent bill in Congress)." He added that "the public shouldn't have to pay for it, industry should."

But, Young said, some consumer proposals, such as making advertising purely informational and broadcasting counter-advertisements, are "not necessarily good, and need much debate."

Many detergents soon will carry a notice of their phosphorus content on the label. The major detergent manufacturers reported to the Federal Trade Commission that they will voluntarily supply this information, since many consumers are concerned about possible detrimental effects of phosphates on the environment. But the FTC will take no action in the matter until further scientific data are submitted.

The three big detergent makers participating are Lever Brothers, Colgate-Palmolive and Procter and Gamble. Their labels will tell the percentage of phosphorus and the grams per cup contained in the product.

Meanwhile, the FTC is reviewing the use of possibly deceptive words, such as "biodegradable," which will be dealt with under existing regulations governing advertising.

Procter and Gamble has announced a new process which will enable the company to produce low phosphate detergents which the company says are nearly as effective as the old phosphate types. The system "ties up" the minerals in water — formerly the job of phosphates — thus enabling the cleaning agents to operate uninhibitedly.

Initially, the process is expected to cut phosphate content in half. In some areas of the country where phosphates have been banned, such as Chicago, the company will market zero-phosphate products. Except for these areas, the ultimate phosphate level will be about six per cent, P&G said.

Clearbrook Clean Again Thanks To Junior Club

Mount Prospect Junior Woman's Club has been busily following through on its projects at Clearbrook Center. Last Saturday eight eager Juniors cleaned and straightened 10 classrooms at Clearbrook. The Home Life Department has just finished a toy drive for the center and collected six boxes of toys.

This department is also in the process of making infant quilts and collecting infant clothing to give to the Visiting Nurses Association of Chicago.

The Fine Arts Department is finalizing plans for the used book sale to be held at the Mount Prospect Public Library Saturday, Nov. 18, between 9 a.m. and 2 p.m. All books, paperback and hard cover, may be donated at the main desk of the library at any time. All proceeds from the project will benefit the library and its patrons.

The Senior Citizens Department will resume sponsoring a Senior's night the third Monday of each month beginning with the Nov. 20 meeting. Further information regarding this meeting will be announced as it becomes available.

Next Wednesday, following their general meeting, the club will have a program on "The Consumer Today." Miss Mary Paul Mason will give new insight into the consumer today, drawing from her experience as a research analyst with a large Chicago Ad Agency, according to the program chairman. The general meeting will begin at 8:5 p.m.

The Potting Shed

by Mary B. Good

Why do so many people suffer bad luck with house plants? From some of the inquiries I get on the care and feeding of plants indoors, it sometimes sounds like a plague of the dead and dying.

So let's make some house calls:
Question: I took a fuschia plant indoors for the winter. What do I do to keep it thriving?

Answer: Cut half of the new wood from the plant, stop feeding it and cut down its water supply to stingy. Put it in a light, cool room with high humidity. Repot it in late January in equal parts of sand, peat moss, decayed manure and rich loam. As new shoots appear, increase water and feed every other week with fish emulsion.

QUESTION: Help — my rubber plant is down to its last few leaves. What can I do to save it?

Answer: At the spot where the last leaf has fallen (near the top) wrap the stem with a double handful of damp sphagnum moss. Cover it with clear plastic and tie it with Twists (or Baggies ties). As soon as you see roots developing, cut the new plant loose and pot up rooted section. Cut back bare stem to three inches, repot and feed monthly. Rubber plants like high humidity, full sunlight and warmth. Water only after soil has dried thoroughly.

Question: Why do my African violets grow well for a while, but produce new leaves that are stunted?

Answer: Insects taking over. Destroy all infected plants, and scrub up the area. Isolate all healthy plants so they are not invaded by cyclamen mites or thrips. Mist the healthy ones with a weak solution of Basic H (detergent) and water.

QUESTION: The leaves on my azalea plants turn yellow and fall. What's causing this?

Answer: The soil isn't acid enough. Repot in a mix of two parts sphagnum peat moss and one part each of soil and sand. Use acid plant food monthly, April through July. Don't feed them in winter, but keep them cool and rather damp. (Use vinegar and water occasionally, in place of plain water.)

Question: New leaves on my split-leaf philodendron aren't splitting? What's wrong?

Answer: Your house is too cold. This is a tropical plant, needs day temperatures of 85 degrees.

Question: Why won't my African violets flower?

Answer: Not enough light, or they've had too much nitrogen fertilizer. Repot them and substitute a high phosphate transplant food for the fertilizer you've been giving them.

QUESTION: I got a gardenia plant for my birthday. Please advise on proper care.

Answer: Keep gardenias damp at all times; feed monthly with fish emulsion. Keep the plants in a cool, sunny room with very high humidity. They tolerate no gas fumes or drafts.

Question: There are little white bugs crawling all over my piggy-back plant. How can I discourage them?

Answer: Dunk the whole plant in water, holding the pot upside down and the plant secured in the pot. Swish the leaves in the water for a second or two (use the bathtub). If the plant is a big one, haul it into the shower. After you give your piggy-back a bath, dab the leaves with rubbing alcohol and kiss those mealybugs goodbye.

A Paddock Review

A Good Leading Actress Highlights 'Goodbye Charlie'

I attend each production of "Goodbye Charlie" with a certain amount of apprehension. The comedy is not an easy one to stage successfully. The far-fetched theme has a tendency to be overplayed. By the second act the action is apt to be tedious.

The principal element in keeping the play above boredom is a very capable actress in the role of Charlie Sorel, a devil-may-care playboy who is shot to death by a jealous husband and reincarnated as a woman.

And Masque and Staff's Judith Haugh is a good choice.

She is quite convincing as the poor misguided Charlie who has returned as a member of the female gender, a possible punishment he (or is it she?) believes for a prior flamboyant lifestyle.

CHARLIE MAY look every bit of a woman but his mannerisms, pacing to and fro with a long cigar hanging out one corner of his mouth, or unsuccessful attempts to walk in a pair of high heels, are what make the part come alive and in turn highlight the play.

Director Ginny Lobaugh has done an excellent job in guiding Miss Haugh.

Yet though voice and expressions are very well done, there are times when Judith Haugh looks "too good" for her role.

This is particularly true when she returns from a make-over session at Elizabeth Arden's.

AN ECCENTRIC character with a very willful mind of her own, the female Charlie Sorel arrives home looking too striking. It would be more befitting for Miss Haugh to be a mild copy of Phyllis Diller rather than a fashion plate with every hair in place. Granted her clothes did clash. However, Judith Haugh is much too poised for Charlie's established personality.

Miss Haugh and Ted Thoms, who plays Charlie's best friend, George Tracy, work well together on stage.

It takes much coaxing and explaining, but the "female" who first shows up in Charlie's apartment dressed in nothing but an over-sized trenchcoat finally convinces George that she is Charlie . . . only in a different form.

TED THOMS wears his consternation well and also mirrors the extreme discomfort of being approached by a well built female Charlie, who is most concerned now that the men find her attractive. Spots in the play do have a tendency to first act when Charlie's few friends have gathered together to listen to a eulogy by George.

The supporting cast must remember to project their voices. Lines intermittently lose strength by coming out soft and muffled.

Also Susan Woodrow needs to further familiarize herself with the role of Rusty, Charlie's former mistress and the cause of his untimely end.

MISS WOODROW'S first appearances on stage are stiff. She looks unsure of herself.

She portrays only superficial concern when she learns that Charlie is planning to publish a diary filled with his former sexual exploits when in fact, it would ruin her reputation.

Yet in the final act Susan does a good job in confessing her feelings. Perhaps she really did love Charlie Sorel, regardless of his shortcomings and his cruelty. This feeling is real. She should do as well in the first two acts.

Compliments go to the production crew who organized the stage setting that with a shag bedspread, plants and other small props go a long way in setting off Charlie's bachelor abode.

"Goodbye Charlie" will again be staged by Masque and Staff this weekend, Friday and Saturday, at Dempster Junior High School in Mount Prospect. Tickets may be ordered by calling 437-0679 or may be purchased at the door either performance night.

Gaslight Era Comes To Town

"The Gaslight Era," a program designed to rekindle the mood of days gone by, will be the program at 1 p.m. Tuesday for Mount Prospect Woman's Club.

Presenting the show will be Patricia Spielmann, who will take her audience back to a time when lamp lighters walked the streets each night to set Main Street aglow and when the telephone, automobile and the zipper were new words needing definition. Miss Spielmann will include turn-of-the-century songs, both, tear-jerkers and knee salppers, along with historical tidbits describing Chicago in 1900. The costumed presentation to be held in the Mount Prospect Community Center, includes a display of memorabilia from the era.

The art department of the woman's club will meet at 1 p.m. Monday in the Fountain Room of the Community Center. Those wishing information about supplies may call the chairman, Mrs. Louis Vlasak, 255-8738. Mount Prospect women interested in club membership are invited to contact the membership chairman, Mrs. George Hietanen, 296-8556.

Handling Pesticides

Always handle pesticides with care. With some pesticides follow label guidelines and wear rubber gloves. Safety authorities say it is bad to eat or smoke while working with pesticides. Also: avoid breathing the fumes or getting any of the substance on your skin, if label directions so caution. (UPI)

New Zoning Ordinance Reviewed

Elk Grove Village trustees opened the way for passage of a new comprehensive zoning ordinance for the village Tuesday after reviewing the effect of the ordinance on existing buildings in the industrial park.

Village Mgr. Charles Willis was told to prepare a final draft of the ordinance and the accompanying zoning map, to be presented for official approval at a village board meeting sometime in the next few months. Village trustees indicated Tuesday they would approve the entire ordinance.

The comprehensive zoning ordinance, under study by the village for three years, was designed as a comprehensive amendment to the present zoning ordinance. Village officials had hoped the ordinance would be passed this summer. But approval was postponed to allow time to study the ordinance's effect on industrial structures.

After reviewing the study, trustees decided to eliminate proposals that would specify the height of loading spaces at 15 feet and would regulate the section of the loading area that could be used for loading.

It was discovered from a survey of 10 per cent of the industrial buildings throughout the village that most structures failed to comply with the suggested requirements for loading zones. In the heavy industry area, 25 of 33 buildings did not have loading zones 15 feet high.

IN THE LIGHT industrial district, none of the 23 buildings surveyed were able to meet the height requirements.

Concerning the area permitted for loading, the proposal stipulated the setback, or distance from the front property line to the loading spaces, must be 25 feet. Only 7 per cent of light industrial buildings and 24 per cent of heavy industrial structures currently have the recommended footage between the front of the lot and the loading zone.

Village Atty. Edward Hofert said the danger with passing a regulation that most existing structures don't meet, is courts could strike down that part of the ordinance unless a good reason is given. "Added restrictions must be justified," he said.

Also surveyed in the impact study were lot size of the property, the distances of buildings to the front, side and rear property lines and the number of parking spaces. It was found that these other requirements would have a moderate to minor impact on existing buildings, and they were approved by the trustees.

Willis said a policy was yet to be formed on whether or not to allow businesses in the industrial park to conduct retail sales. Trustee Ed Kenna, chairman of the judiciary, planning and zoning committee, said his committee was studying the question and would recommend a position soon.

Regulations in the proposed ordinance would tighten present zoning requirements, but they would not necessitate immediate changes on any present structure that did not meet the new standards.

However existing buildings that are expanded, rebuilt more than 50 per cent, or put to a major new use would be forced to comply with the new ordinance along with future construction.

Concerning residential zoning, the ordinance contains a controversial provision banning home business occupations that involve a service performed on a person or to an object. The trustees did allow parking of commercial or recreational vehicles on residential property if they are parked on an approved hard surface storage area.

Rev. Quentin Goodrich And Community Service

The Maturing Of An Organization

by FRED GACA

The Rev. Quentin Goodrich came to Elk Grove Village's Community Service when the agency was leaving its infancy. He is leaving now as the agency is coming into maturity.

The four years Goodrich has been a member of the Community Service Board of Directors have included "an awful lot of crises, things that have to happen to a blossoming organization."

Rev. Goodrich was appointed to the board of directors of Community Service in October, 1968. From June, 1969, to May, 1970, he was secretary of the board. He was then elected chairman of the board.

LAST MONTH Rev. Goodrich submitted his resignation as chairman and member of the board because he is leaving his job as director of planning for the Chicago Lutheran Welfare Service Agency to become executive director of the Lutheran Welfare Agency in Tacoma, Wash. Marilyn Quinn, a five-year member of the board, was elected to finish Goodrich's unexpired term as chairman. She will serve until April.

Community Service provides mental health care and counseling service to residents. The village started the agency in 1966 under a three-year pilot program, funded by the village, YMCA and Hull House in Chicago.

Rev. Goodrich became a member of the Community Service Board near the end of the pilot program.

When the pilot program ended in mid-1969, the board wanted to make Community Service an independent organization, said Rev. Goodrich.

The board wanted control over the hiring of personnel and turned to the village as the chief source of funds.

ONE OF THE first acts by the board, after the village assumed principal funding of Community Service, was the hiring of a new executive director, Tom Smith.

"Tom Smith was an unfortunate choice," said Rev. Goodrich. "He immediately got himself into hot water and was seldom out of hot water."

"Basically, Tom was an idea man, but a poor implementer. He couldn't decide what was really practical," said Rev. Goodrich.

"Tom was also insensitive as executive director. Part of an executive director's role is to act as a buffer between the establishment which supplies Community Service's funding and the clients, many of whom are youths who are anti-establishment," according to Rev. Goodrich.

The problems with Smith finally led to a confrontation between Community Service and the village trustees.

"I got a phone call one night at 11 o'clock from the trustees," said Rev. Goodrich. "They wanted me to come down to the village municipal building and talk about Community Service."

According to Rev. Goodrich, Village Mgr. Charles Willis had stopped by at the Community Service office at the Park 'N Shop Center and found the place a shambles. He reported the situation to the village board.

"The trustees were livid," said Rev. Goodrich. In the proceedings that followed, the trustees finally agreed to continue funding Community Service's operations, but said the office would have to be cleaned up and subject to regular inspection.

Later, Smith resigned as executive director, and Jordan Rosen, the present executive director, was hired.

In the 1½ years that Rosen has been executive director, "We have grown to about a dozen staff members," said Rev. Goodrich. "Things have solidified. The community has made a commitment to keep it (Community Service) going. The board has had to develop policies and take positions."

"IT WAS A REAL test we had to go through as an organization. We had to

They Hope He Will Help Them Quit Smoking Habit

by DAVID MAHSMAN

Fred Schiavo put on quite a show. He pointed at the crowd, his speech was animated. You might say he had the crowd in a trance.

The basement of the Recreation Park Field House was full of smoke. Cigarettes were being devoured by the fiends in the audience, fiends that hoped Schiavo might, just might, be able to do something for them.

Schiavo is a hypnotist, president of the Arlington Heights-based National Hypnotic Research Center. And for the hundred or so smokers in his audience, Schiavo was one more gimmick. One more chance to kick the habit. And, how they wanted to kick the habit.

The crowd listened to Schiavo tell them how hypnosis works, how it would help them quit smoking. They listened like flyers ready to go into combat, getting their battle plan. Indeed, they were about to go into combat against what they see as an enemy that takes their money, their health, perhaps eventually their lives.

"WHATEVER YOU accept will happen," Schiavo threw at the crowd. "The subconscious mind is like a computer. You put in a suggestion, and the subconscious accepts it for fact."

Did you ever say, "Boy, this is gonna be a lousy day," and it was? Schiavo asked that and a half dozen questions like it. He tried to convince the crowd that lousy days are their own faults, brought on by the suggestion to the subconscious that it would be a lousy day.

The same goes for smoking, he said. You just think you can't quit. You just convince yourself you need a cigarette. But you don't. Not really.

"I smoke four packs a day. I flip out if I don't have a smoke," someone shot at Schiavo from the audience.

"You will only become more nervous if you want to," Schiavo shot back. And he added hypnosis may be just the answer for such people. He said fewer people who quit smoking via hypnosis return to the habit than people who quit by any other method.

BUT THE crowd was more concerned about what hypnosis would do for them

Youth Gets Candy With Straight Pin

Elk Grove Village police said yesterday a straight pin was discovered in one piece of candy given a youth trick-or-treating Tuesday in the Carswell Avenue and Bosworth Lane area of the village.

Police said the youth was unable to pinpoint where he received the candy, and no arrests have been made.

Authorities also said some Explorer Boy Scouts participated in the trick-or-treating around the village in an attempt to detect anyone distributing dangerous candy. The candy they collected was marked as to the home where it was given, but no foreign objects were discovered in the labeled treats.

This Morning In Brief

The Nation

President Nixon's reelection committee agreed in court to release some of the names of contributors to the secret $10 million campaign fund which allegedly helped finance the Watergate bugging episode. The Republicans agreed just as trial was about to begin in a suit filed by Common Cause, the "citizens' lobby."

A Criminal Court Judge in Miami convicted ex-CIA agent Bernard L. Barker of fraudulently notarizing a $25,000 check donated to President Nixon's reelection campaign.

President Nixon said his administration is making the cities livable again by pouring in more money and giving city hall a greater voice in how it should be spent.

The World

North Vietnam and the Viet Cong rejected conditions for peace laid down by South Vietnamese president Nguyen Van Thieu. They charged Thieu wanted the war to go on and called the United States to dismiss him. Hanoi also accused the Nixon administration of a "deceitful attitude" in failing to sign a peace agreement.

Roman Catholic leaders in Belfast called for tighter security around Catholic neighborhoods by British soldiers in bitter reaction to the bombing in Belfast that killed two small girls playing around a Halloween bonfire. They were killed when a bomb exploded in a car outside a bar.

Western diplomatic sources in Paris said the United States is pressuring Hanoi to pull its 14 army divisions out of South Vietnam.

The State

There is no evidence of malfunctioning brakes on the Illinois Central Gulf commuter train which was rammed, killing 44 persons, the chairman of the National Transportation Safety Board said, John H. Reed also said investigators were looking for James A. Watts, 51, engineer of the lead train in Monday's crash. Watts' train had overshot the 27th Street station and was backing up when the crash occurred.

Republicans on a special legislative subcommittee have proposed a statewide board of elections as part of a 10-point reform program to eliminate vote fraud.

Bernard Carey, Republican candidate for Cook County state's attorney, has filed suit in circuit court to force State's Atty. Edward V. Hanrahan to reveal how he spent more than $300,000 in contingency funds since taking office.

The War

A giant U.S. Army helicopter crashed in the Mekong Delta, killing 27 persons, including at least nine Americans, the U.S. Command said. Military sources said most of the remaining victims were believed to be Americans. Meanwhile, President Nguyen Van Thieu made a series of public appearances calling the proposed Vietnam cease-fire "a peace solution that offers South Vietnam on a plate to the Communists."

The Weather

The Market

The stock market scored a large gain in active trading. There was no news to spur the market on, but one broker said there were "just a lot of good signs." The Dow Jones Average gained 13.02 to 968.54. The overall list on the New York Stock Exchange showed advances leading declines, 1,048 to 431. Volume was 21,360,000 up from 15,450,000. Prices also were higher on the American Stock Exchange in active trading.

An Organization Grows Up

deal with reality, the community would not fund a wild-eyed idea."

With Community Service's development period behind the organization, the agency is now moving into new areas of responsibility.

A recent grant from the state department of mental health will enable Community Service to expand its operations and supply mental health care to all of Elk Grove and Schaumburg townships.

"There is a basic change in organization from a municipal to a township planning area," said Rev. Goodrich.

The two major problems Community Service now faces, according to Rev. Goodrich, are representation on the board of directors and securing sources of funding.

ALL BOARD MEMBERS are now appointed by Elk Grove Village trustees. But with the expansion of service, representation from other areas must be obtained.

Members of Schaumburg Township

mental health board are now on the counseling committee of Community Service. This committee serves as an advisory group to the board of directors.

Funding for Community Service, until the state authorized a $52,000 grant, was primarily through the village. A small portion of the funds was obtained from the United Fund through Lutheran Services.

The board is now working on a plan to obtain and use funding from the state, Schaumburg, and other charities in addition to the funding received from Elk Grove Village.

"The mental health problems are not overwhelming at this point. It is a manageable problem. We are not hard pressed to meet the need," said Rev. Goodrich.

As more people become aware of and are eligible for Community Service help, the number of clients should "mushroom rather rapidly," said Rev. Goodrich.

"If we can do a good job on mental health I would feel very satisfied."

Steering Panel Hopes To Form Youth Agency

A steering committee was formed Tuesday at a meeting of Northwest suburban youth workers to develop specific proposals for forming a central service agency tentatively titled the Youth Service Forum.

Several functions for a central agency were discussed at the meeting. These included:

—Improving communications among agencies in the Northwest suburbs on new and existing programs.

—Establishing an effective referral system among agencies.

—Developing inter-agency programs to provide unmet service needs.

—Sponsoring speakers, seminars, panel discussions, etc. for all community youth agencies.

—Disseminating new information on youth services to the community agencies.

—Developing an evaluation system for existing services.

Tentative plans call for the Youth Service Forum to be composed of members from various youth agencies in the area. A chairman and a secretary would be appointed for the forum.

The next meeting of the youth workers was scheduled for 12:30 p.m. Nov. 14, at Alexian Brothers Medical Center.

Flag Program At Junior High

Two sergeants from the 126th Air Refueling Wing, Air National Guard, stationed at O'Hare International Airport, will give a special presentation, "Our Flag and Country," Monday at Grove Junior High School, Ridge Avenue and Elk Grove Boulevard.

T/Sgt. Boyd Clemens and M/Sgt. William Luzinski will conduct the program, part of the Americanism Program, sponsored by the Elk Grove Village auxiliary of VFW Post 9284.

The program, which will be presented an individual classes throughout the day, will consist of a 30-minute film, "History of the Flag and our Country," followed by a question-and-answer session.

The eighth grade students will receive literature on the flag and students will receive a lapel flag pin. The pins will be distributed by Mrs. Howard Lundgren, Americanism chairman for the auxiliary.

Extinguish Bonfire

Elk Grove Village firemen used hand pumps to extinguish a small bonfire Tuesday on Wellington Avenue near Admiral Byrd Elementary School.

Officials said the fire probably was started by some youths.

From The Library

The spirit of Halloween filled the Elk Grove Village Public Library in two days of activities.

In the library's pumpkin decorating contest nine winners in six categories were awarded copies of recently published science fiction or historical books Monday. The winners and their categories are: Roberta Brown, 270 Pleasant Dr., "Best Use of Book Theme" for her pumpkin "Raggedy Ann"; Susie Ricci, 99 Clearmont, "Scariest," for her pumpkin head with a knife in its forehead; Brett Foster, 1315 Carlisle, "Funniest," for a shaggy-haired, pop-eyed head.

Three of the categories had tie awards: "Most Original" went to Greg Gorham, for his mechanical man, and to Mike Zak, 660 Fairfield Cir., for his

"Around the World in 80 Days" — style balloon and basket. Winners in the "Smallest" category were Wayne Johnson, 153 Kenilworth, and Brett Foster, for their tiny pumpkin heads. Winners of the "Biggest" awards were Terry Danca and Phil Danca of 309 Charing Cross, for their antlered head, and Scott Curtin, 1006 Bosworth, and David Luczak, 951 Hartford Ln. for their whitewashed pumpkin-snowman.

More than 100 preschoolers attended the ghost story hour in their Halloween costumes and were treated to refreshments by the library. Fifteen grade-schoolers won prizes for best costumes in the evening ghost-story and costume-judging party, where costumed librarians served treats.

They Hope He Will Help Them Quit Smoking Habit

— no, do to them — than it was about Schiavo's statistics.

"What makes you qualified to hypnotize me?" someone asked through the smoky haze that hung in the room.

"Experience," Schiavo replied.

But that wasn't enough for the man. He didn't want some "quick" playing with his mind.

Schiavo went through his background. He said he picked up hypnosis to use in an act when he was in the army 27 years ago. Since then, he has realized it is serious than a good party game.

HE TALKED ABOUT his organization, formed a year and a half ago to explore hypnosis and dispel myths about it.

Hypnosis can't make you do anything you don't want to do, he said. And it's not dangerous.

Schiavo then told the people in the audience to clasp their hands, and no matter how hard they try, they wouldn't be able to pull them apart. The idea of this exercise was to find some particularly good subjects, subjects who follow suggestion easily.

He called the ones with their hands still clasped up front. All 10 of them were smokers. Schiavo would demonstrate how hypnosis would help these people. He wouldn't even put them in a trance.

"Are any of you hypnotized?" Schiavo asked.

"NO, BUT I wish I was," one nervous woman answered.

Schiavo tried to get the woman to believe her next cigarette would taste terrible. He used a good deal of suggestion on the woman before he allowed her to take a puff.

"Tastes good," she said in wonder. The crowd broke up. But Schiavo was undaunted. He went on to the next fellow.

He was tall, with dark curly hair. Schiavo had a hard time convincing him his cigarette would taste like castor oil, but he finally succeeded.

The first cigarette tasted okay, the man said. Schiavo got him another brand, saying the man couldn't possibly believe his own brand would taste bad.

THIS TIME the man gagged, coughed and turned red. Schiavo had done it.

About this time, one fellow had really gotten into the spirit of things. All eyes shot toward him as he fell off his chair with a crash. He had fallen asleep. Schiavo had seen his type before.

But the big moment had arrived. The crowd broke up into groups of four or five. Some 20 hypnotists would do their work on them. This is what the people had paid their three dollars to get.

The lights were dimmed, the room filled with a kind of rumbling as each hypnotist attempted to put his or her subjects into a trance.

THEY WEREN'T always successful, primarily because most of the subjects didn't know what to expect. When in a trance, a subject is still highly aware of what's going on around him. He is not really asleep, and it's not a weird feeling. It's just a very relaxed feeling.

After convincing the subjects that cigarettes would taste like castor oil, gasoline or whatever else tastes bad, the hypnotists taught them to hypnotize themselves, to reinforce the suggestion implanted in their subconsciousness.

SMOKER'S dilemma: how to quit the habit.

Not everyone was convinced, but all thought it was worth a try. And there were a lot of half-full cigarette packs crumpled on the floor when the crowd was gone.

Re-elect OGILVIE

"A GOVERNOR WITH GUTS"

We urge our neighbors to join us in voting for the re-election of Dick Ogilvie. We believe he has been one of the best governors Illinois has ever had. Just look at the record . . .

For example, did you know that in fiscal year 1971 $157,002.86 of income tax money were returned to the Village of Elk Grove Village with no strings attached?

In fiscal year 1972 our portion of revenue sharing in Elk Grove Village was $186,054.94. This resulted in holding down our real estate tax and helped provide services for our community.

In fiscal year 1972 the Elk Grove Community Service Board received $52,000 in funds from the State for its mental health program, half of which will be used to serve our Village as part of its newly formed mental health district.

He gave senior citizens their first tax break . . . a $1,500 homestead exemption, and laws providing cash rebates of up to $500 to reduce excessive property taxes.

He acquired 56,000 acres of park land, much of which is located near the suburbs.

He gave Illinois the finest anti-pollution laws in the nation.

He removed the personal property tax on household furnishings and the family car.

He improved more roads than any other governor in our history, lowering the highway death rate for the first time in 50 years.

He provided the finest program for mentally retarded children in America.

He risked his political life to save the state from bankruptcy

"Governor Ogilvie is a knowledgeable, hard-working, no-nonsense public official who's on top of his job."

Area Taxing Rates Are Far From Easy To Figure Out

by NANCY COWGER

All residents of the Village of Schaumburg do not pay property taxes at the same rate. Neither do those of Hoffman Estates or unincorporated areas.

The tax map of Schaumburg Township looks like a giant jig-saw puzzle, with the color of each piece signifying the total tax rate paid by residents within its bounds. The same color pieces might be scattered in many sections of the puzzle, but there are 34 different colors, for 34 different total tax rates.

Naturally, land owners in unincorporated Schaumburg Township pay a different tax rate than those in villages. But it is not necessarily the village lines that make the difference. The Village of Schaumburg does not levy a property tax, but its residents pay a tax anyway, in some cases to 12 other governmental units, and in other locations to 13 units. And the puzzle pieces in the Village of Schaumburg are seven different colors.

THE DIFFERENCES stem from special district boundaries — those which separate districts for junior colleges, parks, fire service, high schools, or elementary schools. Or they may result from a combination of these varying boundaries, none of which coincide with village lines, or the limits of any other districts. They lace through the township along their own paths, creating divisions in the tax structure.

In Hoffman Estates, four different total tax rates are applied to property owners, varying from a maximum of 8.778-cents per $100 of assessed property value to a minimum of 8.236-cents.

Seven different rates are levied in the Village of Schaumburg, ranging from 7.650-cents to 7.216-cents. And the village does not even levy a property tax of its own.

Those who live in unincorporated Schaumburg Township encompass 11 different taxing groups. The maximum for them is 8.064-cents, while the minimum is 7.208-cents.

THEN THERE are residents of other municipalities, communities whose city or village limits extend into Schaumburg Township although their main jurisdictional area is in another township and may even be in another county. These are the villages of Roselle, Streamwood, Elk Grove and Hanover Park, and the City of Rolling Meadows.

Even within these small Schaumburg Township pieces of villages or cities, there is no uniform rate applied. Roselle residents who also live in the township pay their taxes at one of three different rates. Hanover Park and Elk Grove villages each have two groups paying taxes at unique rates. Only the City of Rolling Meadows and Village of Streamwood contribute just one group each to the tax rate puzzle.

For these nine incorporated taxpaying divisions, the rates vary from 8.548-cents to 8.092-cents.

Municipalities really have little control over total tax rates levied on homeowners.

THAT SCHAUMBURG Village does not levy a property tax has no bearing on the fact that they pay land taxes.

By way of a sample, everybody in the Village of Schaumburg pays property taxes to the Cook County Hospital Governing Commission, Cook County Forest Preserve District, Suburban Tuberculosis Sanitarium, Schaumburg Township, Township Road and Bridge Fund, Township General Assistance Fund, Metropolitan Sanitary District of Greater Chicago and Northwest Mosquito Abatement District.

Six of the seven groupings also pay taxes to High School Dist. 211 and Schaumburg Township School Dist. 54, while the seventh pays to Unit Dist. 46 (Elgin) instead. Four pay to Harper Junior College, while three pay for Elgin Community College.

THREE OF THE seven Schaumburg Village groups pay to the Hoffman Estates Park District, three to the Schaumburg Park District, and one pays no park district tax at all. Six are still paying off bonds issued by Hoffman Estates Fire Protection District between 1959 and 1967, when the village started a municipal fire department, and one is not paying for fire protection, although it receives it, as do all, from the village.

In Hoffman Estates the situation is similar, although the village levies a property tax. Residents may pay to Dist. 211, or to High School Dist. 224; to either Hoffman Estates or Schaumburg park districts; to either Hoffman Estates or Palatine rural fire protection districts.

Seek New 'Poppets' To Handle Puppets

The Elk Grove Park District is looking for junior high and high school students to become members of the "Poppets" traveling puppet troupe.

Members of the troupe will construct hand puppets, work on skits and present puppet shows. The troupe's repertoire includes a variety of shows, among them: "The Lion and the Mouse," "The Emperor's Nightingale" and "The Tortoise and the Hare."

Students interested in working with the troupe should contact Richard Ludovissy, park superintendent of recreation, at the park district office, 499 Biesterfeld Rd., telephone number, 437-8780.

Weaver Trial Delayed To First Of The Year

The trial of indicted Schaumburg State Bank Pres. Ward Weaver will not start until after the first of the year according to an assistant U.S. attorney handling the case.

A date for the trial was to have been set last week, but other court matters forced the government's attorney Frank Murtha to request a continuance. He said he is involved in another trial which may take several months to complete.

Weaver, who has taken a leave of absence from the bank and Erwin D. Oosting were indicted in May by a federal grand jury. They have been accused of altering bank records concerning loans allegedly made to a Kankakee firm.

Both men have pleaded innocent to the charges.
